MARK WETMORE
Head Coach, 18th Season

Colorado head coach Mark Wetmore enters his 21st season at Colorado, his 18th as the head coach, as the only Division I cross country coach to win all four NCAA titles – men's and women's team and men's and women's individual – at the same school.

His women's team won the team championship at Iowa State in 2000, while his men's team won the following year at Furman. He has coached Adam Goucher (1998), Jorge Torres (2002) and Dathan Ritzenhein (2003) to men's individual titles, while Kara Grgas-Wheeler won the 2000 women's crown. His men's and women's teams became just the fourth in championship history to sweep the team titles, doing so in 2004. In 2006, his men's team came through again in muddy conditions to win his fifth team championship. He has earned the honor of being the NCAA Women's Coach of the Year twice ('00 and '04) and the NCAA Men's Coach of the Year once ('06).

Wetmore's coaching career began immediately after high school, with a municipal junior track club called the Mine Mountain Road Department. From there, he coached a TAC team while simultaneously coaching distance runners at his prep alma mater, Bernards. Wetmore served a four-year stint at Seton Hall from 1988-1991 where he was an assistant coach for the men's and women's distance programs and as a member of the academic support staff. In August of 1991 he moved to Boulder and took a volunteer position in '92.

He was promoted from volunteer to part-time assistant in 1994, and assumed head coaching responsibilities two weeks prior to the 1995 NCAA Cross Country Championships in Ames, Iowa, where the CU men finished just off the podium in fourth, the women fifth with both combining for eight All-American performances.

All told 11 of Wetmore's athletes — Adam Goucher, Alan Culppepper, Sara (Gorton) Slattery, Kara Grgas-Wheeler, Jodie Hughes, Jorge Torres, Dathan Ritzenhein, Renee Metivier, Jenny Barringer, Emma Coburn and Shalaya Kipp — have combined for 20 NCAA individual cross country, indoor and outdoor championships. Barringer was the first CU collegian to win a USA Track and Field crown in 2007 in the 3,000-meter steeplechase and she did so again in 2009. Barringer placed fifth at the IAAF World Championships in 2009 while setting the American record in the steeplechase at 9:12.50, breaking her former record by almost 10 seconds. Coburn won the 2011 USATF steeplechase crown as well as the 2012 U.S. Olympic Team Trials title and represented the U.S. at the world championships in 2011 (placing 12th) and at the Olympic Games (ninth). Coburn's teammate Shalaya Kipp placed third at the 2012 trials and participated in the Olympic Games.

Wetmore coached his teams to the inaugural Pac-12 men's and women's team titles in 2011; the first conference championships in any sport. His men's teams won 12 Big 12 Conference titles, while his women's teams won 11 titles. Wetmore earned the Big 12 Conference Coach of the Year honor 19 times in cross country, as well as 13 region coach of the year honors. Wetmore was the winningest head coach amongst his Big 12 colleagues, winning 24 total (including the 2008 men's outdoor track & field title) before CU left the conference in 2011.

He has tutored 16 individual conference cross country champions, 14 regional title winners and 91 All-Americans while six CU runners have been crowned USA Cross Country Champions, including Billy Nelson in 2003, Pete Janson in '04 and Liza Pasciuto in '05. Three former student-athletes, Adam Goucher, Shayne (Wille) Culppepper and Culppepper, represented the United States at the 2000 Olympic Games while Ritzenhein joined the Culppeppers in '04. In 2008, three more former athletes made the Olympic team, Kara Goucher, Nelson and Torres. Then-current CU harrier Barringer also made the team and was one of six U.S. track team members to come back to college the following fall. In 2012, Ritzenhein once again made the team and was joined by Kara Goucher, Barringer (Simpson) and current CU student-athletes Coburn and Kipp. Over two dozen Buff distance alumni have signed professional running contracts; 14 are still competing.

Wetmore has had 18 current and former athletes earn a combined 33 spots on U.S. world championship teams in the past 15 years. USA Track & Field named Wetmore to the coaching staff for the USA National Team that competed at the 2004 Championships in Brussels, Belgium where he coached the junior men's team to a seventh-place finish.

A native of Bernardsville, N.J., Charles Mark Wetmore graduated with a bachelor's degree in English Education from Rutgers in 1978 before receiving his master's in movement sciences from Columbia in 1988. He lives in the mountains west of Boulder.

COACHING STAFF

HEATHER BURROUGHS
Associate Head Coach,
Ninth Season

Colorado's first female three-time All-American, Heather Burroughs begins her ninth season on the staff of her alma mater assisting coach Mark Wetmore with the men's and women's teams. Since joining the staff, she has coach 10 conference championship teams, three NCAA championships teams and 35 All-Americans. Burroughs was promoted to associate head coach following the 2011 season where the Buffs swept the inaugural Pac-12 Championships to win the conference's first two team championships.

In Burroughs' eight track seasons assisting the men's and women's middle and long distance runners, her athletes have had an impact at the conference, NCAA, American and world levels. To date, 32 have captured individual conference titles and 44 have earned All-American accolades. Her women have won eight individual NCAA titles and have broken six collegiate records. Since 2007, CU runners have won four U.S. outdoor titles. They have earned three individual berths on U.S. outdoor world championship teams as well as three individual berths on the U.S. Olympic team.

During Burroughs' CU cross country career, she was a top-five and all-conference finisher in 1994, 95, 97 and 98 with a runner-up finish in 98. She claimed all-district honors those same seasons and was an All-American in 1994, 95 and 98. The Buffs finished in the top four of the NCAA in three of those seasons which include a runner-up finish in 1995.

On the track, she was the Big 8 Conference Women's Indoor Track Newcomer of the Year in 1995. She won one conference individual title, scored in 15 conference races and was an indoor 5,000-meter run All-American in 1998. Burroughs qualified for six NCAA indoor and outdoor races during her career.

Burroughs was born in Kansas City, Kan. and attended Pembroke Hill High School. She graduated from CU in 1999 with a Bachelor of Arts in biology.

BILLY NELSON
Assistant Coach/Recruiting
Coordinator,
Third Season

Olympian, All-American and CU alum Billy Nelson rejoined his alma mater during the summer of 2010 as an assistant coach and recruiting coordinator.

Nelson won the 2011 USATF Steeplechase crown after signing a running contract with New Balance. He had a great 2008 to kick-off his professional career. He placed second at the U.S. Olympic Trials to earn a spot on the U.S. Olympic roster. Nelson placed 11th in the second prelims at the Beijing games.

He was a decorated distance runner while at CU, earning All-American honors six times. He won three Big 12 individual titles while at CU, winning the indoor 5,000-meter run in 2006 and the steeplechase in 2007 and '08. Nelson was a part of the men's track and field team that won the first Big 12 outdoor title for CU in 2008, the first conference outdoor track title for the men since 1947.

During Nelson's final season with the Buffs, he won the steeplechase at the conference and regional meet and capped off his collegiate career with a runner-up finish at the NCAA Championship.

As a member of the cross country team, he was a four-time All-Big 12 and three-time all-region honoree. Nelson was named the Big 12 Newcomer of the Year in 2002 when he was the fifth racer to cross the finish (fourth Buff). He won the 2005 NCAA Mountain Region title, leading CU to its 12th consecutive region title (at that point).

Nelson also shone on the junior national stage. He was the USA Junior Cross Country Champion and junior 5k champion in 2003. Nelson was the top American finisher at the world cross country junior championship.

The Taft, Calif. native graduated from CU in 2008 with a degree in ethnic studies. He ranks second on the all-time performers' list in the steeplechase at CU (8:28.85) and has the third and fourth fastest times in school history. Nelson also ranks fifth on the outdoor 5k performers' list (13:46.80).

Nelson is married to the former Alisa Crane. They have a daughter, Arabella (5), and a son, Noah (2). They reside in Longmont, Colo.

A TRADITION OF EXCELLENCE

Colorado Cross Country

93 All-Americans...

27 Conference Championships...

5 NCAA Team Championships...

4 NCAA Individual Champions...

all since just 1993...one combined program, using only U.S. athletes.

CU is one of four programs to have an American Men's NCAA Champion in the last 20 years. CU has had three. CU is one of only two public universities to win the NCAA Women's Title since 1988. CU has won twice. Mark Wetmore is the only coach to win all four NCAA titles at one school: Men's and Women's Teams, Men's and Women's Individuals. CU is one of only three schools that has won both men's and women's team titles on the same day. CU has had 22 athletes qualify for the IAAF World Cross Country Championships in venues as far reaching as Ireland, Morocco, Switzerland, Japan and Kenya.

Accomplishments which other schools celebrate occasionally (some still 30 years later), at CU have become an annual matter of course, a matter of tradition.

A tradition of excellence.

2012 SEASON OUTLOOK

The 2012 University of Colorado cross country season officially starts on Saturday, Sept. 1 as the Buffs will host the CU Alumni/Open/Time Trial at the Buffalo Ranch Cross Country Course on CU's South Campus.

The women's 5.8-kilometer race will start at 8:30 a.m. and the men's 8k will follow at 9 a.m. Parking and admission are free.

Both of CU's cross country programs are ranked in the USTFCCCA's Coaches' Preseason Poll. The men are ranked fifth, while the women are 13th overall.

Each team has some rebuilding to do as the women lost two postseason scorers and the men lost three. The men lost a pair of All-Americans in Richard Medina and Andy Wacker, as well as all-region honoree Christian Thompson, but senior Joe Bosshard, a two-time All-American, is questionable for the year.

"The top returning male is Joe Bosshard, but he had major surgery on his hip in May, a torn labrum, which is often up to a year of recovery time," coach Mark Wetmore said. "His rehab is going well, but it will be a bit of a miracle if he's at a level that will make it sensible to use him this fall.

"Then we go to the next returning top guy from the fall which was a freshman named Ammar Moussa who is very talented and has a great work ethic. But even as a sophomore that is young. He arrived here at 17 and so he is a little young to have the mantle of the top man on his shoulders. And then we are going to our developmental guys. Aric Van Halen took a big step last spring in the steeplechase for those of you who followed our outdoor track season. He was not in our scoring varsity a year ago, but he could be this year. We've had a couple of interesting transfers come in, so it will be a new looking team on the men's side."

The transfers who Wetmore was referring to are Jake Hurysz and Morgan Pearson. Hurysz became the first UNC Tar Heel to qualify for the NCAA Cross Country Championships since 1997 and placed 62nd overall in 2011. He led UNC at the Atlantic Coast Conference Championships and Southeast regionals, placing sixth and seventh, respectively. Pearson transferred to CU from Duke and placed 36th at the ACC Championships and was 50th at the Southeast regional. Van Halen, who will be a senior this season, was an all-region and All-Big 12 honoree in 2010.

The women return All-American Shalaya Kipp but lost All-American Emma Coburn and Katie Cumming. They do return some significant talent in sophomore Rachel Baptista. Redshirt sophomore Jana Stolting sat out last season after she transferred from San Francisco. She placed 15th at the 2010 NCAA West Region Championship and will look to score for the Buffs this season.

"On the women side the top returner is Shalaya Kipp, who just came back from London after a wonderful outdoor track season," Wetmore said. "She is in the same situation as Emma Coburn was a year ago when Emma ran at the world championships in Korea. So Shalaya will disappear for a while and then go back into training. Coach (Heather) Burroughs and I will take a look at her around midseason and see if she is ready to go. After Shalaya, the youngster I'm most excited about is Rachel Baptista; she was a scorer for us as a freshman. She has had an excellent summer and could be an important runner for us."

The Buffs will look to defend their 2011 Pac-12 team championship titles which they won last October at the inaugural championships. The Pac-12 is perennially one to the top distance conferences in the country and this year is no different. CU's men are the top conference school at fifth, but the women's side has the top two in the country with Oregon and Washington ranked first and second, respectively.

"While we are diminished, no one in the Pac-12 returns a monster team," Wetmore said. "It's always an extremely competitive conference. I can't think of a team that returns all five of its starters or a good percentage. In our sport it's possible to recruit a completely different team in one year. Stanford, Oregon, Washington, Arizona; they will all be good. It will be one of the best conferences in the country."

For the last eight consecutive years, the NCAA Cross Country Championships have been contested in Terre Haute, Ind, but this year the championship will be held in Louisville, Ky.

"I don't like it being at the same place year after year and it had been in Terre Haute, Ind. nine of the last 10 years," Wetmore said. "The problem is that the race has been expanded to be so big that few of the old hosts could bid for it. There are really only two places that I'm aware of that can safely, fairly and comfortably host it, and that's Ames, Iowa and Terre Haute. Louisville is sure that they can and have convinced the NCAA that they can. I'm sure they are working hard to accommodate the 255 or so runners. I've never been there so it will be new to us."

After the time trial on Saturday, the Buffs will have four weeks before their next meet, the 27th Annual Rocky Mountain Shootout on September 29. NCAA Pre-Nationals will take place on Oct. 13 in Louisville, Ky., the site of the national championships Nov. 17. The Pac-12 Championships are set for Oct. 27 in Santa Clarita, Calif. and the NCAA Mountain Region Championships are on Nov. 9 in Fort Collins, Colo.

COLORADO'S NATIONAL CHAMPIONS

Mary Decker
1978 (AIAW)

Tenth months after she bettered her own world record in the 1,000-meter run, Mary Decker won Colorado's first national cross country title in her last race, on CU's then-home course, Kent Denver Country Day.

Her course record 16:59.4 bettered the course record she had set earlier that year by a minute.

At the national championships she grabbed the lead from NC State's Julie Shea and defending national champion Kathy Mills of Penn State (who had led the race by as much as 20 yards going into the final loop). Shea passed Mills, and Decker passed Mills and kicked by Shea to win the race by 10 yards.

Mark Scrutton

Mark Scrutton took the lead 300 yards from the finish and beat Zakarie Barie of UTEP by two seconds for the NCAA men's title in Bloomington, Ind.

His first goal when he came to CU in 1980 was to dominate the Big Eight Conference. He did that to the tune of 14 conference titles, surpassing Kansas great Billy Cunningham's record 13 in the early 1930s.

He lost just one Big Eight race, the indoor two-mile run his freshman season. By his senior year he turned in the best two-mile indoor time in the NCAA in winning his second national title.

Shortly after winning that title, he set an unofficial world record in the Newport Beach Back Bay Run with a time of 22:25.8 over the 8k course.

Adam Goucher

The sign of things to come was on Nov. 21, 1994 when then-freshman Adam Goucher crossed the finish line of the NCAA Cross Country Championships in Fayetteville, Ark. as the national runner-up.

His sophomore year he finished sixth.

He redshirted the '96 season and improved to third in the national race as a junior in Greenville, S.C., a race he was predicted to win.

In the last race of his collegiate career, Goucher took the title that had eluded him for five seasons.

Goucher, buoyed by what he called an unbelievable crowd, bettered the Rim Rock Course Record in 29:26.9, 23 seconds ahead of Arizona's Abdi Abdiraham, who had kept pace with Goucher until the last mile when he pulled away from the field.

With the win, Goucher would become the first American to win the fall classic since Bob Kennedy won in 1992, and the first CU runner to complete the distance trifecta of winning national titles in cross country, the indoor and outdoor track seasons.

COLORADO'S NATIONAL CHAMPIONS

Kara Grgas-Wheeler
2000

In the women's championship sweep, fifth-year senior Kara Grgas-Wheeler won CU's first individual title sans AIAW to complete the nation's only individual undefeated campaign. With the title, Grgas-Wheeler capped of a 1,035-0 season beating the next opponent by a total margin of 2:07.

She ran to a dominant finish on the Iowa State Cross Country Course in 20:30.5, 7.3 seconds ahead of the individual runner up in harsh conditions that included a temperature of 17 degrees with a wind chill of minus-19 at the start.

In textbook Colorado fashion, she trailed the lead pack by four seconds after the 1k mark. She had closed in by the 2-mile mark, never losing site of the defending national champion, Wisconsin's Erica Palmer, who was in the lead, but succumbing to the cold. Soon after Grgas-Wheeler bridged the gap, took the lead, and never looked back... until the final crest of the course where she glanced over her shoulder for the first time of the season and began to savor the sprint to the tape.

The title was her third, first in the fall. Her win marked the first time since 1994 that the individual national champion represented on the NCAA Championship Team.

Jorge Torres

With three NCAA runner-up finishes as a junior resting on his shoulders, Jorge Torres held off Arkansas' Allister Cragg in the final meters to cover the Wabash Valley Sports Center 10k challenge in a then-course record 29:04.7 and win his first national title.

In one of the best men's contests in recent memory, Cragg took the race's initial lead, but before the race reached the halfway point, it was a four-man battle between Torres, Cragg, Alabama's David Kimani and Eastern Michigan's Boaz Cheboiywo.

Torres took the lead from '01 champion Cheboiywo at the 7k mark with Cragg and Kimani hanging on, and at the 8k mark it was Torres and Cragg running shoulder to shoulder for the remainder of the race. With the pro-Torres crowd chanting "Torres, Torres", the two took the final turn into the straightaway and Torres made an unanswered surge to build a 10-meter lead at the finish line to close out the nation's only undefeated season and turn in his fifth course record in as many races.

With brother Ed just nine places behind him, the 1-10 punch was the best by a set of twins in the history of the championships.

Dathan Ritzenheim

Twenty-four months after finishing fourth in the 2001 NCAA Championships as a freshman, Dathan Ritzenheim crossed the finish line in Waterloo, Iowa as CU's fourth national champion in six seasons as a redshirt sophomore.

In temperatures that hovered below zero with the windchill factor. Ritzenheim outdistanced a heavily favored Stanford pack led by Ryan Hall in the closing meters to win his first NCAA crown in 29 minutes, 14 seconds, just 1.3 ahead of Hall for the crescendo in the nation's only unbeaten season.

The win marked just the fourth time and first since the 1989 and '90 seasons that two different runners from the same school took back-to-back titles, as Jorge Torres won the race in '02 in Terre Haute, Ind. It was also the first time since 1987 and '88 that Americans had won two straight individual titles and likely the first time that both scenarios have played out simultaneously.

Ritzenheim's rise as the best runner in the nation was even more impressive when considering he had resumed training 10 weeks earlier following femoral stress fractures suffered the previous cross and track seasons.

The 2000 women's cross country team upended the defending national champion to claim the program's first national title, the 18th overall at CU.

Coming off back-to-back team titles at the Big 12 and NCAA Mountain Region Championships, Colorado was the top-ranked team in the country entering the biggest race of the year. As is its goal each year, Colorado wanted to better its ranking, which would now be the biggest challenge in the program's history.

Up for the challenge in wind-chill conditions that brought the late Midwest November temperature to 19-degrees below zero, Colorado methodically worked its way from the back of the pack to the front for the title. With a program-best 117 points, the Buffs finished 50 ahead of defending national champion Brigham Young.

Kara Grgas-Wheeler won the program's first individual crown while freshman Sara Gorton became the second-highest finishing freshman in the race and highest in program history with an eighth place effort. Jodie Hughes locked up All-American honors with a 30th-place effort while Lesley Higgins (52nd) and Tera Moody (71st) rounded out the CU scoring.

In the championship sweep, Grgas-Wheeler won CU's first individual title sans AIAW to complete the nation's only undefeated campaign. With the title, Grgas-Wheeler capped off a 1,035-0 season repeating her Big 12 Conference and Mountain Region titles before capturing her third national title, first in the fall. Her win marked the first time since 1994 that the individual national champion was represented on the NCAA Championship team.

The No. 1 ranked team in the country from the preseason polls to the national championship podium, the 2001 men's season came to a crescendo with a one-point national championship victory over nemesis Stanford in Greenville, S.C. to bring home to the University its 19th national championship, the last remaining title that had previously eluded Colorado's storied distance program.

The Buffs' successful run at the national title capped off the program's first undefeated season in which they were uncontested at the Rocky Mountain Shootout in Boulder, won their sixth straight Big 12 Conference title in Norman, Okla., claimed their ninth national qualifying race in 10 seasons and improved from their runner-up finish in 2000 at the national championships.

The one-point difference, 90-91, in the final score was the tightest in race history, tying the Villanova men's 1970 85-86 win over Oregon.

The Buffs were paced by a pair of top-10 individual performances in the run to the title. Among the favorites to win the individual national title, junior Jorge Torres made no secret about his intentions to sacrifice an individual crown for the team title, and finished as the individual runner-up in his quest. Big 12 Conference Newcomer of the Year Dathan Ritzenheim finished fourth and was the highest finishing freshman in a national championship race since Adam Goucher's second-place finish in 1994.

Junior Ed Torres improved 12 places from the previous year's national runner-up race to finish 15th for his second All-American certificate. Steve Slattery battled back from a mid-season injury before going on to score as the Buffs' fourth runner, 28th overall. Senior captain Sean Smith, was the final factor in clinching the title as CU's No. 5 runner, 56th overall.

Fifth-year senior Aaron Blondeau who had competed in four NCAA Championship races since his 1997 freshman year, sat out the first two meets of the season due to injury before marking his return five weeks before the NCAA Championships where he came in as CU's sixth runner in the national championship win.

Redshirt freshman Jon Severy reaped the benefits of his redshirt season in 2000 solidifying his role on the NCAA Championship travel squad where he came in as the Buffs' final runner.

With his fourth NCAA cross country title since becoming head coach in 1995, head coach Mark Wetmore became the first coach in the history of the championship to win a men's individual title (Adam Goucher, 1997), women's individual title (Kara Grgas-Wheeler in 2000), women's team title (2000) and men's team crown at one school.

In a championship where the a team needed to run a perfect race, the Colorado women got the ball rolling when the then third-ranked Buffs did just that to claim the first of two titles on the day, their first since the 2000 season.

The women, paced by Renee Metivier's second career national runner-up finish, placed all five runners in the top-30, to score a program best 63 points (it took 117 to win in '00), 81 points ahead of runner-up Duke (144), Providence (164), Notre Dame (170) and pre-race favorite Stanford (175). The margin was the fourth largest in championship history.

An already damp and slightly heavy course on Sunday was worsened by overnight and early morning rains that subsided by the start of the women's race and the skies were clear for the start of the men's, conditions that obviously played in favor of the Buffs.

With Kim Smith (Providence) in control of the individual title, the team title was up for grabs as early as the halfway mark. Smith was running a 9:52.7 pace at the 3k mark, followed by Metivier (10:05) and BYU's Laura Turner (10:14), with just four points separating the Buffs and Stanford at that mark, with Slattery in 16th and Bolf in 18th, followed by Duke and Providence.

The pleasant surprise for the day on the women's team was that of freshman Liza Pasciuto. Pasciuto finished as CU's No. 2 runner for the first time in her career, and her 13th place finish is the second best by a CU freshman in program history, second only to Sara (Gorton) Slattery's eighth place freshman effort in '00.

"Coming in I was trying my best to try and score and help the team achieve the goals that we set at the beginning of the season," said Pasciuto. "But I'm definitely thrilled with my finish. I couldn't have asked for more. I hope to come back next year and do it again."

Christine Bolf (20:48.1) ran to her first All-American title in the fall with a 14th place finish, a career best for the junior that finished 63rd a year ago. In the final race of her collegiate career, fifth-year senior Sara Slattery finished 28th and came away as an All-American for the third time in her career, just the second CU harrier to do so, following current assistant coach Heather Burroughs (1994, 95, 98). She is also now the only runner in the program's storied history to be a member of two national championship teams, as she was a freshman on that 2000 squad.

Natalie Florence (21:07.2) rounded out CU's scoring, finishing 30th overall for her second All-American title. In her first national championship, freshman Amber Smith (21:44.3) finished 78th overall. Laura Zeigle (23:18.1) finished 224th.

"Our race plan was to try and be patient and not fight the conditions (which changed dramatically overnight). By the 600-m mark they had over-ruled my plan and my hope was that they held on. They kept going, so I'm glad that they overlooked my instructions," said Wetmore.

2004 Colorado Men

Not to be outdone by their counterparts, the Colorado men capped what would be the best day in the program's storied history with their second title in four years.

The men's race was a battle for both the individual and team titles from the start of the race. At the halfway mark, a lead pack of 10-plus runners were separated by one second with Arkansas' Josphat Boit in the lead at 15:16.1 and the 10th place runner at 15:17.1, with Vaughn (15:25) in 15th and Schoolmeester (15:26) in 19th. Vaughn had taken sole possession of fourth place at the 8k turn, having caught 13 runners in a 3k span, while Schoolmeester chased down 12. At that point, Wisconsin had control of the team race with 80 points to Arkansas' 160, followed by Colorado.

Senior Jon Severy became the first men's runner in the program's history to have run on two national title teams. Classmate Jared Scott was on the team that season, but did not run at nationals. He was also a freshman in '01 and ran the final cross country race of his career here this afternoon. It happen to be the best of his career, covering the 10k loop in 31:26.9 to finish 21st.

Severy made up as much ground as anyone Monday, as he was 39th at the halfway mark, and 25th at 8k, running down 18 in his final race.

"It was an incredible note to start on," said Severy. "I was carried through a little bit on that 2001 team and it gave me a false sense of what it meant to be on a good team. Since then, I've sunk pretty low and learned an incredible amount of what is necessary to sacrifice for your team and carry it out. Today was just so perfect that I can't describe it."

Newcomers Stephen Pifer and James Strang rounded out the scoring for the CU men, with Pifer running 31:56.8 to finish 44th while Strang ran 31:59.9 to finish 49th. Jared Scott, also running in the last cross country race of his career, was off his junior year pace, but finished 80th in 32:25.0. Freshman Bradley Harkrader, who had scored during the season as CU's third, fourth and fifth runner, finished 121st in 32:50.7 in his first national championship event. While five native Coloradoans ran in the men's race, three scored.

"The front two ran as well as I thought they possibly could and Jon ran way better than I would have expected. All of the five scorers ran better than my most optimistic aspirations. And with Stephen, James and Bradley, all freshmen, the sky is the limit," said Wetmore.

2006 NCAA CHAMPIONS

The second-ranked Colorado men headed into the 2006 championship knowing the race was theirs to lose. The muddy conditions were just like those two years before when the Buffs captured their second national title and gave Colorado extra confidence as the race approached.

The field got out to a quicker start than CU normally likes and was led most of the way by Brent Vaughn. Vaughn finished 12th overall (31:13.0), earning his second straight top-15 finish at nationals and the second straight time he was CU's first harrier across the finish.

While Vaughn ran a steady race, the men's win can be traced to Pifer's performance over the second 5,000-meters. At the 5k split, he had 52 runners ahead of him, but streaked past 32 of them to nab the 20th spot overall (31:24.2) in the individual standings and his second All-American title.

"I knew in the second half I had to come back and catch a lot of guys," Pifer said. "So I paid attention to sensory data, which is something that Mark Wetmore has been preaching to us all year, checking your heart rate and breathing and things like that to make sure you are comfortable. The race doesn't really start until the last 3k, so you really have to get going."

Erik Heinonen had a story book year after receiving a sixth-year of eligibility from the NCAA for the season. He was the third Buff to cross the line, placing a personal best 28th overall (31:34.7), and earning his first All-American honor.

James Strang took 47th (31:54.5) and Billy Nelson, who passed over 15 in the last 1,000-meters, took 56th (32:02.7). Bradley Harkrader came in at 152nd (33:05.3) and Pete Janson was 213th (33:56.5) as Colorado's non-scorers.

CU's five scorers all finished in the top 56 overall, and in the top 34 of those attached to full teams. CU and Wisconsin were the only schools to have three place in the top 15 in the scoring column.

The Buffaloes recorded 94 points, soundly defeating defending champion and overwhelming favorite Wisconsin by 48 points. Iona (172), Stanford (195) and Oregon (196) rounded out the top five.

"I think the race was very fast for us," head coach Mark Wetmore said. "Every coach has to know their team and how fast they can go. If other teams ran our way, it would certainly hurt them, like if would if we ran another team's plan. We don't talk a lot about expectations, its aspirations for us. We equaled our aspirations today."

"We did well here a couple of years ago too and everyone was telling me that the mud was perfect for us, but Boulder is like a desert and isn't very muddy."

Vaughn, Harkrader, Pifer and Strang joined Jon Severy as the only Buffs to win two national titles.

FROM WALK-ON TO ALL-AMERICAN

There's something magical in the air at 5,345 feet above sea level. It's something that contributes to developing blue collar, walk-on athletes into All-Americans at Colorado. Combining its reputation of academics and athletics, the coaching staff at CU has had incredible success with non-recruited athletes that have had the drive, determination and work ethic to become All-Americans.

JAY CLECKLER • 1991 Walk-on- 1994 Cross Country All-American

Jay Cleckler, was conceivably one of the hardest working guys on the '94 squad. He had begun his collegiate career as walk-on competing in only one meet, which progressed to four meets as a sophomore, which he matched his junior season. He came into his own during his senior campaign when he scored in all six varsity races, including the Big Eight Championships, the NCAA District VII qualifier and the NCAA Championships where he ran his first All-American race.

JON COOPER • 1993 Walk-on- 1994, 1995 Cross Country All-American

Cooper made an immediate impact on the Colorado men's cross country squad when he walked on after transferring from Rice. In his first season he traveled to the NCAA Championships as an alternate, but did not compete. A year later he finished 33rd of 178 runners for his first all-American honor. In 1995's national championship race, he was Colorado's fourth finisher, 48th overall to repeat his All-American title.

MIKE FRIEDBERG • 1996 Walk-on- 1998, 1999 Cross Country All-American

In 1996 Mike Friedberg ran in three races. He redshirted the 1997 season and a year later he was one of only three runners to compete in all six races, he finished eighth in the season opener at Colorado State, third at the Rocky Mountain Shootout, 32nd at the loaded Bob Timmons Invite, third at the Big 12 Championships, fifth at the Mountain Region Championships and ran to his first All-American title with a 34th place effort at the national championships. In 1999 he was CU's No. 3 runner during the season, but experienced prevailed and was CU's No. 1 guy at the NCAA Championships in Bloomington and was No. 2 a year later.

MATT NAPIER • 1995 Walk-on— 1997 Cross Country All-American

In his first collegiate season Napier competed in the Shootout and at the Fort Hays State Invitational. As a sophomore, he scored in two of the three postseason races. Originally scheduled to redshirt his junior season, he was forced into action late in the season due to team injuries. In his first race, Oct. 18, he finished third overall at the Tiger Invitational. In the postseason he finished 11th in the league championships and was the individual runner-up, at the Mountain Region Championships. His third season culminated in his first all-America certificate at the NCAA Championships with a 39th-place finish.

PATTY ROBERTS • 1992 Walk-on- 1995 Indoor 5,000-m All-American/1994, 1995 Cross Country All-American

Roberts didn't compete in cross until her second season. A year later she was the individual runner-up at the Big Eight Championships and an All-American with a 13th-place finish at the NCAA championships. She took the individual conference title in '96 and followed up with a 32nd-place effort at the NCAAs for her second all-America cross country honor. 1995 continued to be a success on the track where she was an indoor 5k and outdoor 10k All-American.

SHAYNE WILLE • 1995 Walk-on-1996 Indoor 3,000-m All-American/1997 Outdoor 3,000-m All-American

A transfer from Vermont in 1995, Wille failed to make the Buffs' seven-person roster that would compete at the NCAA Cross Country Championships. Three months later she was an all-American in the indoor 3k. During the 1996 fall season, she was Colorado's No. 2 runner, and although she competed in all three postseason race, just missed all-American status at the national championships with a 45th place effort. She set her sights again on the track where she was the Big 12 indoor champion in both the mile and 3,000-m distances and an all-American in the latter. The outdoor season would prove even better where she repeated her conference titles, and she earned her second all-American honor in the outdoor 3,000-m with a third place, school-record finish of 9:06.86.

SEAN SMITH • 1998 Walk-on, 2000 All-American

Smith ran in three non-varsity races in 1998 with a pair of top 20 finishes at the Fort Hays Tiger Invitational and NIKE 3 Series race. In 1999 he went into the national championships with five races under his belt. He earned all-conference and all-region honors before finishing in the top half of the NCAA Championship field. On All-American pace from the first race of the 2000 season, he would score in all five varsity contests, repeat his all-conference and all-region honors with career-best efforts before finishing 44th for the last All-American certificate doled out in Ames, Iowa.

2012 COLORADO CROSS COUNTRY

POST COLLEGIATE SUCCESS

Here at CU we are no more proud of the successes of present Buffs than we are of those who went on to the next level. Frankly, we don't believe there is another college program in the country that can boast as many national level professionals.

During the tenure of Coach Wetmore, numerous graduates of the Buff distance program have gone on to professional contracts. Eleven are currently active. Ten have been Olympians. Twenty-five have made World Championship Track or Cross Country teams. Sixteen made World teams while still running for CU.

RUNNING TOWN, USA

The CU men's track and field team won the 2008 Big 12 Outdoor Championship while the Buffs hosted the meet in May of 2008.

For 30 years, world class athletes and running enthusiasts have known what the media recently discovered: Boulder is the best running town in the United States. Runner's World has dubbed Boulder, "America's Best Running City" and an "Ideal Location for Runners", while Outside Magazine proclaims it, "The Best Sports Town in America".

These accolades come as no surprise to the host of national and international athletes who have made Boulder their training base. During the 1970's and 1980's, Boulder was home to world record holders such as Steve Jones, Ingrid Kristiansen, Rob de Castella, and Arturo Barrios, as well as Olympic Champions Frank Shorter and Rosa Mota.

The list of contemporary runners who live and train in Boulder is equally impressive: 2000 Olympic Marathon Champion Naoko Takahashi, 2008 Olympic Marathon Champion Constantina Dita-Tomescu, multiple Japanese corporate teams and U.S.-based Kenyan road racers. Numerous CU national and world level alumni have trained in the Boulder area during the last four Olympiads. They include Olympians Jenny Barringer, Alan Culpepper, Shayne Culpepper, Billy Nelson, Jorge Torres and Dathan Ritzenhein, 2006 Boulder Boulder champion Sara Slattery, and World Championship team members Ed Torres, Steve Slattery and Renee Baillie.

These athletes are drawn to Boulder by the unparalleled variety of training venues, temperate year-round climate, opportunity to train at elevation, and support of a running-friendly community that enters 54,000-plus in its Memorial Day road race. Boulder has over 200 miles of running and biking trails and more than 30,000 acres of open space. The vast availability of trails is matched only by the variability of their terrain. All are within a 20 minute drive of CU's campus. In the mountains and foothills west of town are venues such as the Mesa Trail, Switzerland Trail, Magnolia Road, Gold Hill, and Flagstaff Mountain. Adjacent to campus is the 12-mile Boulder Creek Path which connects to Sanitas Mountain, the Bobolink trail, and the Wonderland Lake trailheads. East of town are Teller Farm and the Boulder Reservoir ("The Res") which connect to dozens of miles of dirt roads and trails.

RUNNING TOWN, USA

The University of Colorado's outdoor track, Potts Field, is one of the best competition venues in the country. It features NCAA/IAAF specification parallel approaches for the long jump, triple jump, pole vault and high jump as well as a world-class remote hammer and discus venue. Potts Field has the highest Mondo Super-X installation in the country, thus making it potentially the fastest sprint track in the U.S.

Boulder's climate makes it an ideal year-round training base. The average high temperature during winter months is 49 degrees, while summer months average a high of 83 degrees with negligible humidity. Boulder residents enjoy over 300 sunny days a year—more than residents of San Diego or Miami.

Besides the aforementioned Boulder Boulder, there are well-organized races virtually every weekend: the Boulder Backroads Marathon and Half Marathon, 5K Kickoff Classic, West End 3K, Pearl Street Mile, Rocky Mountain Shootout, Uni-Hill Downtown 1K, Sunrise Stampede 10K, and Boulder Roadrunners All-Comers Track Series.

In February of 2007, Boulder hosted the USA Cross Country Championships which selected our national teams for the IAAF World Championships in Mombasa, Kenya. The crowd of 10,000 spectators was estimated to exceed the combined attendance of the previous five national championships. Former USA Track and Field President Bill Roe remarked, "As usual, every time I come to Boulder I'm blown away." Deena Kastor, 19-time U.S. champion, captured her eighth cross country title and said, "This was, hands down, the most amazing national championship I've been a part of." Beyond the attendance, the most compelling story of the day was arguably the success of CU's alumni: former Buffaloes swept the top four places in the men's senior race while two former NCAA champion Buffaloes qualified for the senior women's team.

In May of 2008, the University of Colorado hosted the Big 12 Conference Track and Field Championships. This three-day competition was one of the most prestigious and competitive meets in the country and featured NCAA champions, World Championship Team members and 2008 Olympians. During the competition, ten Big 12 meet records were broken and two world-leading marks were established. The three-day attendance of over 5,000 cheered the Colorado men to the team title in a victory over No. 1 ranked Texas A&M.

Summer or winter, cross country or track season, workout day or racing day, for the weekend warrior or the Olympian, Boulder presents the ideal environment. While other cities may claim occasional weekends of running enthusiasm, Boulder is inarguably the year-round "Running Town, USA".

"The University of Colorado, and Boulder, is a town which stops where the Rocky Mountains begin. Normally in America such a superb site would be occupied by a golf course, but somebody goofed and instead they built what may be the most beautifully situated campus in the world... if anyone asks you to Boulder, I have one word of advice: 'Go.'"

THE PAC-12 CONFERENCE

Conference History

The roots of the Pac-12 Conference date back 97 years to December 2, 1915, when the Pacific Coast Conference (PCC) was founded at a meeting at the Oregon Hotel in Portland, Ore. The original membership consisted of four schools - the University of California at Berkeley, the University of Washington, the University of Oregon, and Oregon State College (now Oregon State University). All still are charter members of the Conference.

Pacific Coast Conference play began in 1916 and, one year later, Washington State College (now Washington State University) was accepted into the league, with Stanford University following in 1918.

In 1922, the PCC expanded to eight teams with the admission of the University of Southern California (USC) and the University of Idaho. In 1924, the University of Montana joined the league roster, and in 1928, the PCC grew to 10 members with the addition of UCLA.

The Pacific Coast Conference competed as a 10-member league until 1950, with the exception of 1943-45 when World War II curtailed intercollegiate athletic competition to a minimum. During that time, the league's first commissioner was named. Edwin N. Atherton was Commissioner in 1940 and was succeeded by Victor O. Schmidt in 1944. In 1950, Montana resigned from the Conference and joined the Mountain States Conference. The PCC continued as a nine-team Conference through 1958.

In 1959, the PCC was dissolved and the Athletic Association of Western Universities was formed and Thomas J. Hamilton was appointed Commissioner of the new league. The original AAUW membership included California, Stanford, Southern California, UCLA and Washington. Washington State joined the membership in 1962, while Oregon and Oregon State joined in 1964. Under Hamilton's watch, the name Pacific-8 Conference was adopted in 1968. In 1971, Wiles Hallock took over as Commissioner of the Pac-8.

Ten years later, on July 1, 1978, the University of Arizona and Arizona State University were admitted to the league and the Pacific-10 Conference became a reality. In 1986-87, the league took on a new look, expanding to include 10 women's sports. Since then, the Conference has been considered the premiere league in women's athletics, securing the most NCAA titles in women's sports of any conference nearly every year.

Thomas C. Hansen was named the Commissioner of the Pac-10 in 1983, a role he would hold for 26 years until 2009. Hansen was succeeded by current Commissioner Larry Scott, who took on the new role in July 2009.

During the 2010-11 academic year, Scott helped deliver monumental changes that transformed the Conference into a modern 12-team league. The Conference expanded to add two more teams, agreed to equal revenue sharing for the first time in Conference history, created two divisions - the North and the South, for football only, established a Football Championship Game for the first time ever, secured a landmark media rights deal that dramatically increased national exposure and revenue for each school and established the Pac-12 Network and Pac-12 Digital Network that guaranteed enhanced exposure across all sports.

Colorado accepted its invitation to join the Pac-12 on June 11, 2010, and on June 17, 2010, Utah agreed to join the Conference. The Buffaloes and Utes officially became the 11th and 12th members of the Conference July 1, 2011, the first additions to the league since 1978. During the 33 years between expansions, Conference teams claimed 258 NCAA titles, including 130 women's and 128 men's.

Currently, the Pac-12 sponsors 11 men's sports and 11 women's sports. Additionally, the Conference is a member of the Mountain Pacific Sports Federation (MPSF) in four other men's sports and three women's sports.

The Pac-12 Conference offices are located 25 miles east of San Francisco in Walnut Creek, Calif.

Conference of Champions

Built on a firm foundation of academic excellence and superior athletic performance, the Conference ushered in a new era on July 1, 2011, officially becoming the Pac-12 Conference with the additions of the University of Colorado and University of Utah.

Just 27 days after the Conference officially changed its name, Commissioner Larry Scott announced the creation of the Pac-12 Networks on July 27, 2011, solidifying a landmark television deal and putting the Conference on the forefront. The Networks, including one national network and six regional networks, in conjunction with four of the nation's largest cable operators, marked the first time a U.S. collegiate conference or any other programmer has launched a collection of networks across a variety of platforms, rather than a sole network. In addition, the "TV everywhere" rights will allow fans to access coverage outside the home on any digital device, including smartphones and tablet computers.

On the field, the Pac-12 rises above the rest, upholding its tradition as the "Conference of Champions", claiming an incredible 119 NCAA team titles since 1999-2000, including nine in 2012-13. That is an average of over nine championships per academic year. Even more impressive has been the breadth of the Pac-12's success, with championships coming in 28 different men's and women's sports. The Pac-12 has led or tied the nation in NCAA Championships in 46 of the last 52 years. The only exceptions being in 1980-81, 1988-89, 1990-91 and 1995-96 when the Conference finished second, and only twice finished third (1998-99 and 2004-05).

Spanning nearly a century of outstanding athletics achievements, the Pac-12 was the first conference to reach 400 championships in 2010-11. With the inclusion of Colorado and Utah, the Conference surpassed another major milestone, with league teams capturing 450 titles, outdistancing the next conference by nearly 200. In all, Conference teams have won 451 NCAA Championships (306 men's, 145 women's).

Pac-12 members have won 306 NCAA team championships on the men's side, 89 more than the next closest conference. Men's NCAA crowns have come at a phenomenal rate for the Pac-12 - 16 basketball titles by six schools (more than any other conference), 53 tennis titles, 45 outdoor track & field crowns, and 27 baseball titles. Pac-12 members have won 25 of 43 NCAA titles in volleyball, 38 of 42 in water polo, 27 in skiing, and 23 in swimming & diving national championships.

Individually, the Conference has produced an impressive number of NCAA men's individual champions, as well, boasting 2,073 individual crowns.

On the women's side, the story is much the same. Since the NCAA began conducting women's championships 31 years ago, Pac-12 members have claimed at least four national titles in a single season on 22 occasions, including the last 12 consecutive years. Overall, the Pac-12 has captured 145 NCAA women's titles, easily outdistancing the SEC, which is second, with 88. Pac-12 members have dominated a number of sports, winning 23 softball titles, 19 tennis crowns, 14 volleyball titles, 14 of the last 23 trophies in golf, and 13 in swimming & diving.

Pac-12 women student-athletes shine nationally on an individual basis, as well, having captured an unmatched 642 NCAA individual crowns, an average of nearly 21 championships per season.

BIG 12 10TH ANNIVERSARY TEAM

The University of Colorado cross country program placed five of its former athletes on the Big 12 10th Anniversary Team. Jorge Torres, Adam Goucher and Dathan Ritzenhein made up the men's team and Sara (Gorton) Slattery and Kara Grgas-Wheeler were selected to the women's team. Colorado garnered five of the six selections on the team.

The teams of three were selected by the league's head coaches. In order to be eligible for consideration, former athletes must have had a top three finish at Big 12 Championships at least once in their careers. The Big 12 Conference formed in 1996. Amy Mortimer, Kansas State, was the third woman named to the team.

Torres won the Big 12 individual crown three times (2000-02) and was named the Big 12 Newcomer of the Year in 1999. Torres was the 2002 NCAA Champion as he finished the season undefeated. The three-time All-American was the NCAA runner-up in 2001 and placed third in 2000.

Goucher took top honors in the Big 12 on two occasions (1997-98) and won the NCAA crown in 1998. With the win, he set the Rim Rock Course record at 29:26.9. Goucher, a four-time All-American, was the national runner-up in 1994, took sixth in 96 and earned a third-place finish in 97. He was also the Big Eight Champion in 1995 before the Big 12 was formed.

Grgas-Wheeler, won two Big 12 title (1999, 2000) and was the 2000 Champion as she led the CU women to their first national championship. In that same season, she went undefeated and became the first individual national champion since 1994 to be on the national championship team. Grgas-Wheeler was a two-time All-American.

Ritzenhein won the Big 12 and NCAA Championships in 2003. A two-time All-American, he was named the Big 12 Newcomer of the Year in 2001 and was the highest finishing freshman in a national championship race since Adam Goucher's second-place finish in 1994.

Slattery was a three-time All-American (2000, 02, 04). She finished fifth at the 2002 NCAA's and led the Buffs to a fifth-place finish. At the 2000 NCAA Championships she was the highest finishing Colorado freshman in the program's history with an eighth-place effort. With the finish, she also became the Buffs first female freshman All-American.

Boulder and Denver are known for lots of things. But some things even surprise the lifelong resident, a recent transplant (nearly two-thirds of the state's residents were born outside of Colorado), or first-time visitor to the Mile High City.

- Denver is called the "Mile High City" because it is exactly 5,280 feet above sea level. In fact, there is a spot on the west steps of the State Capitol building that is exactly 5,280 feet above sea level and there is a row of seats at Coors Field with the same bragging rights.
- Denver is the most educated city in the U.S. It has the greatest percentage of high school and college graduates of any major metropolitan area in the U.S.
- While Boulder has 10 microbreweries, Denver brews more beer than any other American city. The state of Colorado boasts more microbrews per capita than any state in the U.S. The Coors Brewery, in Golden, is the world's largest single-site brewery.
- Golf courses remain open all year and have been played on as many as 30 days in January.
- The Denver/Boulder metropolitan area is the 20th largest in the United States. Boulder is not classified as a suburb of Denver; it's nestled in its own valley at the foothills of the Rocky Mountains. Contrary to popular belief, Denver is not in the mountains; it is near them. The "Foothills" start to rise 15 miles west of the city. Slightly beyond that is the Continental Divide and a series of peaks rising to 14,000 feet, known locally as the "Front Range".

- Denver is also the "thinnest" city in America while Boulder is the second "fittest" city in America according to Shape Magazine and the state of Colorado is tied as the "thinnest" state with Hawai'i. Health Magazine named Boulder one of America's 10 Fittest Cities. Self Magazine proclaimed Boulder one of the 10 healthiest places for women to live, with a perfect 100 in water quality.
- Boulder has 200 miles of public hiking and biking trails, approximately 30,000 acres of open space and a 16-mile Boulder Creek Path which runs through the middle of town. The city of Denver offers over 450 miles of paved, designated bike paths, over 70 public golf courses and 143 free tennis courts. Denver also has the largest city park system in the nation with 205 within the city limits.
- As the largest city in a 600-mile radius, Denver is the shopping capital of the Rocky Mountain West. It features the largest sporting goods store in the world and the largest independent book store in America with over 400,000 volumes. The 16th street mall is a mile-long pedestrian promenade, not to be outdone by its counterpart in Boulder, the Pearl Street Mall. Boulder is also known for having more used book stores per capita than any other city in the country according to a Money magazine count in 1998.
- In that same magazine's 1998 issue, Boulder topped the list for best medium-sized city in the western half of the U.S. to live.
- Among 14 comparable cities, Boulder ranks no. 1 in people who walk to work, work at home and drive with more than one person in the car. It ranks second among those who bike.
- Parts of the movie "Sleeper," with Woody Allen, were filmed at the National Center for Atmospheric Research.
- * Bicycling is so highly regarded in Boulder that sometimes the city plows the Boulder Creek bike path before it plows the streets.
- The exterior of the house located at 1619 Pine Street was used as the characters' home in the well-known "Mork & Mindy" television show. It is now a private residence.

BOULDER/DENVER TRIVIA AND FACTS

- Boulder's Third Flatiron towers 1,400 feet high, a few hundred feet higher than the Empire State Building, and has been climbed by people without using their hands, on roller skates, naked and in eight minutes (by separate climbers).
- A 1992 survey by the Centers for Disease Control found that Colorado had fewer overweight people per capita and more people who exercise than any other state.
- A Colorado Daily poll found that seven out of ten Boulderites own bicycles. Another guide book states that Boulder's bicycle count is approximately 93,000- almost equal to the total population.
- The Chatauqua Auditorium is an all-wood structure built in 1898. In the evening, when the Colorado Music Festival musicians stop playing, you can often hear the rafters-dwelling owls hoot capita than any other city in the country.
- Boulder is going to the dogs! Recent visitor counts to Boulder Mountain Parks found a ratio of 1 dog to every 5 visitors.
- Every year Boulder Mountain Parks core area receives 1.8 million visits. If that many people made a human chain, it would stretch from Boulder to New York City.
