'14 Senior Player Biographies

35 BRANDAN BRISCO, DB

5-9, 170, Sr., 1L, Oakland, Calif. (Bishop O'Dowd)

AT COLORADO: Note—He decided to forego his senior of eligibility and graduate on schedule.

2014 (Jr.)—He saw action in the last three games of the year (special teams); he was a reserve cornerback but did not see time on the defense. He had 12 tackles, 10 solo, in the four main spring scrimmages, seven of which came in the spring game (six of which were unassisted).

2013 (Soph.)—A reserve cornerback, he did not see any action, but dressed for the final 11 games of the season. He had five tackles (three solo, including a third down stop) and a pass broken up in the four main spring scrimmages.

2012 (Fr.-RS)—He did not see any action; he did dress for the last two games of the season. He had five tackles (four solo) in the main spring scrimmages.

2011 (Fr.)—Redshirted; practiced at defensive back in the fall. He joined the team as a walk-on after the season opener.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he earned first-team All-Hayward Area League honors at cornerback, where he also lettered as a junior. He recorded 43 tackles (24 solo) his senior season, when he also had six passes broken up and an interception. One of his top prep games came his senior year in a 35-20 win over San Leandro, when he had five tackles (four solo), two pass deflections and an interception. Under coach Hardy Nickerson (a former NFL player who was assisted by another, Donovan Darius), Bishop O'Dowd was 10-2 his senior year (league champions for the first time in a decade), and was 4-6-1 his junior year under coach Paul Perenon. He also lettered two times in track under coach Toney Green, where he ran sprints (100-, 200-, 400-meters) and relays (4x100, 4x400). His personal bests included a 10.9 time in the 100 and a 22.4 clocking in the 200.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Political Science at Colorado. He is scheduled to graduate in May 2015.

PERSONAL—He was born September 21, 1992 in Oakland, Calif. He lists playing most sports and spending time with friends among his hobbies. After college, he has interest in becoming a sports agent.

83 WESLEY CHRISTENSEN, WR

5-10, 185, Sr., 2L, Chico, Calif. (Pleasant Valley/Butte)

AT COLORADO: 2014 (Sr.)—He appeared in all 12 games on special teams, and in several on offense though he didn't make any receptions. He had 11 special team points on the strength of 10 knockdown blocks and a play where he snuffed out a potential fake punt. He was presented with the Derek Singleton Award after the season by the coaches, as the recipient displays great spirit, dedication and enthusiasm. In the four main spring scrimmages, he caught seven passes for 111 yards and two touchdowns, averaging 15.9 yards per with a long of 48. The coaches selected him as the recipient of the inaugural Sal Aunese Award for the spring, presented to the player in their estimation who was the most "uncommon."

2013 (Jr.)—He saw limited action in 11 games, primarily on special teams (he did not play at UCLA). He caught four passes for 30 yards in the four main spring scrimmages. He transferred to CU from Butte College for the spring semester and joined the team as a walk-on; he had three years to play two in eligibility.

AT BUTTE (2011/2012, Fr./Soph.)—He earned two letters at wide receiver and long snapper for Butte College in Oroville, Calif., helping his team to a 10-1 record both seasons and the 2012 NorCal Championship. Butte, under coach Jeff Jordan, was the second ranked team in the nation his sophomore year, when he caught 11 passes for 148 yards (13.4 per) and a touchdown. He also threw one pass, completing it for 28 yards and a TD. As a freshman, he hauled in nine passes for 150 yards (16.7) and a score.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he had 16 receptions for 344 yards (21.5 average), with three rushes for 65 yards (21.7 per) and a touchdown; he had 18 receptions for 238 yards (13.2) and a touchdown as a junior. His top games as a senior came against Enterprise, catching four passes for 96 yards in a 28-21 loss, and then three for 95 yards in the rematch, a 28-7 setback. PVHS was 8-4 his senior year under coach Sterling Jackson and was 5-5 his junior season under coach Bill Haley. He also lettered once in track (sprints), with prep bests of 11.42 in the 100-meter run and 23.4 in the 200.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Geology (Geophysics track) at Colorado; he is scheduled to graduate in May 2015. A member of the Honor Roll his junior and senior years in high school.

PERSONAL—He was born March 23, 1992 in Chico, Calif. He has earned his pilot's license and flies regularly when he has the chance, and other hobbies include hunting, fishing and four-wheeling in his jeep.

64 BRAD COTNER, OL

6-3, 275, Sr., 3L, Thousand Oaks, Calif. (Westlake/College of the Canyons)

AT COLORADO: Note—He decided to forego his senior of eligibility and graduate on schedule.

2014 (Jr.)—He did not see any action; he was listed second at right offensive guard and third at center but was never called upon for game action.

2013 (Soph.)—He saw action in seven games (no starts), dressing for all except for the Arizona game, when he was held out due to precautionary reasons with an ankle sprain. He was in for 63 snaps from scrimmage, with 35 plus plays for a plus percentage of 55.6 (actual grade was higher as it took into account neutral results). He had four knockdown blocks and two touchdown blocks, while not allowing a quarterback sack or pressure and was not called for any penalties.

2012 (Fr.-RS): He saw action in eight games, including a start against Fresno State. He was in for a total of 74 snaps, grading out to 67.6 percent for the season; his best game grade came against Arizona State (75.0). He played the most in his start, lining up for 32 plays against the Bulldogs. He had one will-breaker block and allowed one quarterback sack with no pressures allowed while also not being flagged for a penalty.

2011 (Fr.)—Redshirted; he practiced the entire fall on the offensive line but was ineligible to play after transferring to Colorado from College of the Canyons via Ventura Community College. He signed his letter-of-intent in the summer and counted as a member of the 2011 recruiting class; he was the rare exception of his NCAA clock not starting because he attended junior college on a part-time basis, thus he had to sit out a year in residence but still would have four years of eligibility remaining.

AT COLLEGE OF THE CANYONS (2010, Fr.)—Redshirted; he practiced on the offensive line on football team but did not play in any games. He then attended Ventura Community College, also on a part-time basis, in the spring.

HIGH SCHOOL—He earned second-team All-Ventura County and first-team All-Marmonte League honors at center as a senior, helping to lead Westlake to the Division Northern 3 CIF Championship. In starting all 14 games, he did not allow a quarterback sack or get flagged for any penalties, and allowed his man to pressure the QB on just two occasions. Westlake was an offensive juggernaut, averaging 408 yards of offense (218 rushing) and outscoring the opponent 580-219, including nine games with 40-plus points; the team boasted a 2,000-yard passer, a 1,000-yard rusher and a 1,000-yard receiver, the latter being fellow CU recruit Nelson Spruce. As a junior playing right tackle, he earned honorable mention All-League accolades, allowing just two sacks and three pressures with just one penalty. His biggest high school moment came in the CIF title game, when Westlake scored with under two minutes remaining to defeat Moorpark, 14-10; he helped his Warrior team rush for 151 yards and amass 371 yards of total offense in the win. WHS was 14-0 his senior year (also the Marmonte League champs) and 7-5 his junior season under coach Jim Benkert. He started all 26 games on the varsity between his junior and senior years, as he played on the junior varsity, on both the offensive and defensive lines, as a freshman and sophomore. He also played basketball on the junior varsity team as a freshman.

ACADEMICS—He graduated from Colorado with a degree in Political Science in December 2014. He earned second-team Pac-12 All-Academic Team honors as a redshirt freshman and honorable mention status as a sophomore; the NFF also honored him as a 2015 Hampshire Society team member. He was a member of Westlake's Academic Honor Roll his junior and senior years.

PERSONAL—He was born May 9, 1992 in Thousand Oaks, Calif. His hobbies include reading, writing, going to the movies and playing basketball. His father (Steven) played college basketball at Cal-Lutheran.

54 KAIWI CRABB, OL

6-3, 300, Sr., 3L, Honolulu, Hawai'i (Punahou)

AT COLORADO: 2014 (Sr.)—He started all 11 games he appeared in, missing the UCLA game with a concussion he suffered late in the USC game the week prior. He played 853 snaps from scrimmage, with 499 plus plays for a 58.5 plus play percentage; with another 243 plays considered even, he graded out to 87.0 percent for the year. He had 19 knockdown blocks and seven touchdown blocks, while allowing just one-and-a-half quarterback sacks and six pressures; he was called for just two penalties. Top plus-percentage grade came against Oregon State (77.3). He shared the Offensive Trench Award after the season with Stephane Nembot, and in the preseason, he won the Iron Buffalo Award for the offensive linemen for his spring work in the weight room.

2013 (Jr.)—He started all 12 games at left offensive guard, emerging as a consistent performer in the trenches after missing a year with back problems but was finally 100 percent healthy. He was in for 779 snaps from scrimmage, with 487 plus plays for a plus percentage of 62.5 (game grades were higher, as those took neutral results into account); he played every down in five games and over 90 percent of them in five others. He had 30 knockdown blocks and two touchdown blocks, while allowing just two quarterback sacks; he was not called for a penalty all season. He also played an additional eight snaps on the FG/PAT unit on special teams.

2012 (Soph.)—He did not see any action as a nagging back injury bothered him throughout much of the year; he first strained it in winter conditioning drills on February 27.

2011 (Fr.-RS)—He saw action in all 13 games (no starts), playing the last eight games on offense in varying amounts from one to 24 snaps (the latter against Oregon). He played a total of 77 snaps on the season, and graded out to 67.5 percent, with one great effort block while being called for two penalties. He played an additional 47 snaps (out of 48) as a member of the Field Goal/PAT unit on special teams.

2010 (Fr.)—Redshirted; practiced on the offensive line (interior, guard and center) and was on the scout team.

HIGH SCHOOL—He earned All-Region honors from PrepStar and SuperPrep where was ranked the No. 133 player from the states of California, Hawai'i and Nevada and was both the No. 14 player from Hawai'i and the No. 14 offensive linemen. He is a three-star prospect as ranked by ESPN, Rivals.com and Scout.com. He is ranked as the No. 42 offensive tackle in the nation by Rivals.com, where he is also rated the No. 10 player from Hawai'i; the No. 64 offensive tackle by Scout.com and No. 76 offensive tackle by ESPN. He was a member of the 100th annual Interscholastic League of Honolulu All-Star first team, as selected by the league's coaches. He was named to the Honolulu Advertiser Hot 11 list. He participated in an All Star game featuring Hawaiian players against players from the mainland. As a senior, he earned first-team All-ILH honors and was second-team All-State. He estimates he had about 30 pancake blocks and 10 touchdown blocks and allowed just two sacks all season. Punahou averaged 225 yards per game passing and over 100 yards per game rushing during the season. He lists his best games that season against St. Louis, when they defeated their rival twice. As a junior, he was named first-team All-State by the Honolulu Advertiser and first-team All-ILH, helping Punahou to a 10-1 season and a state championship. After losing to St. Louis in the regular season match-up, he lists a top game that season as the second match-up when they defeated St. Louis 41-28 for the first time since 2005. That win advanced them to the state championship final, where they defeated Lahaina to win the school's first state championship. The offensive line in that game earned players of the game honors. As a sophomore, he earned honorable mention All-ILH helping Punahou to a 9-2 record. He also lettered in basketball for two years and averaged 8.5 points and 7.5 rebounds per game. He also lettered in volleyball his sophomore year and track & field his junior year (he won state in the discus with a throw of 152 feet).

ACADEMICS—He is graduated with a degree in Communication (with a minor in Geography) from Colorado in December 2014.

PERSONAL—He was born June 14, 1991 in Honolulu. His hobbies include going to the beach, body surfing, photography, playing the ukulele and volleyball (he played in the Junior Olympics as a prep). An older brother, Kaione, is on the track & field team at UCLA (throws), and he also has two cousins who play volleyball at Long Beach State, Trevor and Taylor Crabb. He is active in the community and has helped with a local head start program for families that couldn't afford to send their kids to pre-school and kindergarten, where he assisted teachers serving breakfast and was another set of eyes and ears when the kids were playing. First name is Anthony. (Name is pronounced kuh-E-vee.)

10 MALCOLM CREER, TB

5-10, 205, Sr., 4L, Los Angeles, Calif. (Palisades)

AT COLORADO: 2014 (Sr.)—He saw action in seven games, mainly on special teams; he had four carries for eight yards and two catches for seven yards on offense; on special teams, he recorded six knockdown blocks on kickoff return coverage duty. In the spring, he had 19 rushes for 104 yards in the four main scrimmages, 39 of which came in the spring game; included in that total was a 6-yard touchdown run with 1:43 left in the game to lift the Black to a 21-17 win over the Gold.

2013 (Jr.)—He saw action in six games (no starts, the final six of the season); he saw the bulk of his action on special teams, posting three knockdown blocks on return unit duty. He did not record an offensive statistic on the year. Though ending the spring listed fifth at tailback, he did see plenty of reps once fully back from a nasty knee injury he suffered as a true freshman.

2012 (Soph.)—He played in six games (no starts), seeing limited action as he was still recovering from major knee surgery. He had seven rushing attempts on the season for 22 yards, the bulk of his action coming in the opener against Colorado State (four carries for 17 yards, with his season-long run of 10 yards). He also caught a pass for a 1-yard loss. He missed all of spring practice while undergoing rehabilitation following the surgery; the knee was still a bit sore at the start of August camp so his return to practice was delayed.

2011 (Fr.)—Plans likely called for him to redshirt, but injuries changed things as he saw his first action in the eighth game of the season against Oregon. But a week later, he suffered torn ligaments at Arizona State and underwent November surgery. In limited action, he showed explosiveness as a kickoff return man (22.0 average on five runbacks) and he had 11 carries for 37 yards against the Sun Devils before leaving the game with the knee injury. He had 43 yards on 15 carries in the two games he saw action, along with two receptions (for a net zero yards).

HIGH SCHOOL—Ranked the No. 121 running back in the country by Scout.com and the No. 8 running back from California on that list. ESPN ranked him the No. 18 running back from California. He was named first-team All-CIF at running back his senior season when he was named first-team All-Western League (he was second-team as a junior). He was Palisades' Most Valuable Player both as a junior and senior. He finished his career with 224 rushes for 1,958 yards and 24 touchdowns (28 total scores including two kickoff and two interception returns). As a senior, he rushed 120 times for 1,270 yards and 19 touchdowns and caught four passes for 93 yards on offense, tallying six 100-yard rushing games and four games with multiple rushing touchdowns (three times in each of those games). On defense, he tallied 47 tackles and had three interceptions (one returned for a TD), five passes broken up and one forced fumble, and he returned two kickoffs for scores on special teams. His junior campaign, he rushed 98 times for 660 yards and four touchdowns while catching 18 passes for 239 yards. He returned an interception for a California state record 108 yards for a touchdown. His sophomore season was his first season playing football; he rushed for 28 yards on six carries with one score. His top games as a senior included seven rushes for 94 yards (13.4 average) and a touchdown in a 41-0 win over Lynwood, when he returned an interception 99 yards for another score. Against Venice, he had one rushing touchdown and had two interceptions and a forced fumble on defense. Against Granada Hills in a 10-0 win, he had 14 carries for 127 yards (9.1 per rush). He had 108 yards and three touchdowns on just seven carries (15.4 avg.) against University in a 44-7 win and followed that game up with another three touchdown performance against Hamilton in a 66-36 win when he rushed 13 times for 118 yards. He had his third straight 100-yard game against Fairfax with 10 rushes for 123 yards and a touchdown in a 44-34 victory. He tallied back-to-back 100 yard games again later his senior season with eight carries for 146 yards (18.3 per) and three touchdowns in a 43-28 win over Lincoln and followed that up with eight carries for 162 yards (20.3 avg.) and three scores including one from 81 yards against Poly in a 50-40 win. As his junior year progressed, he got stronger as a running back, rushing for 338 of his 660 yards in the last three games of the season. He had his first 100-yard rushing game against University in a 20-15 win with 12 carries for 108 yards and followed up that performance with 14 carries for 170 yards (long of 53) and a touchdown the next week against Hamilton. He finished the season with seven rushes for 60 yards and a touchdown against Fairfax. Palisades improved from 1-9 his junior season to 7-6 as a senior when the team advanced to the City Second Division II semifinals under coach Perry Jones. He also lettered three times in basketball (point guard), specializing in defense; he led the league in the charges including one game when he took four. As a senior, he did battle with Spencer Dinwiddie, the Los Angeles area player of the year who played three years with the Buffs and is now with the NBA's Detroit Pistons.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in SLHS (Speech, Language and Hearing Sciences) at Colorado, and is on schedule to graduate in May 2015. As a sophomore (April 2013), he was presented with the Clancy A. Herbst, Jr. Student-Athlete Achievement Award, which is given to athletes who overcome personal, academic or emotional difficulties to succeed both academically and athletically. He was a member of the Honor Roll in high school his junior and senior years.

PERSONAL—He was born December 30, 1992 in Bellflower, Calif. His hobbies include working out, yoga, playing video games and most recently, cycling (he rode 175 miles over two days). He enjoys yoga and has taken massage classes. He lived in the Crenshaw district of Los Angeles but commuted to Palisades for the better academic offerings. He also took two years of evening classes at Santa Monica College to learn sign language as he has become proficient in ASL. His nickname growing up, given to him by his mother, was "Toppie."

43 BRADY DAIGH, ILB

6-2, 255, Sr., 4L, Littleton, Colo. (Denver Mullen)

AT COLORADO: Career Note—He finished with 61 special team points, 10th all-time in Buff history.

2014 (Sr.)—He saw action in all 12 games on special teams and in 10 on defense, including two starts (Washington, Arizona). He was in for 309 total snaps and recorded 43 tackles (27 solo, seven for losses), with two others stops for zero gains. He tied for second on the team in third down stops with nine (which included two on fourth down). Against UCLA, when he played the most snaps of any game over the course of the season (74), he made a career-high 12 tackles (nine solo, one for a loss). He had eight tackles (five solo) against Washington, seven versus Utah (four unassisted), and recorded five stops in three other games (Hawai'i, Oregon State, Arizona). He finished sixth on the team in special team points with 17, on the strength of four solo tackles and 13 knockdown blocks on the kickoff return unit.

2013 (Jr.)—He played in 11 games (one start, versus Southern California) and in eight on defense, missing the finale at Utah with a sprained ankle he suffered against the Trojans. He saw action both inside and outside; in fact his start against USC was at outside 'backer; he was in for 113 plays from scrimmage, recording 16 tackles (13 solo) for the season. He had two tackles for zero, a third down stop and a forced fumble, the latter at Arizona State when he saw his most scrimmage action of the year (32 plays); he logged a season-high 10 tackles (eight solo) against the Sun Devils. The coaches named him the co-recipient of the Bill McCartney Award, given for special teams achievement, as he tied for second with 18 special team points on the strength of four tackles (two inside-the-20), 10 knockdown blocks on returns, a caused penalty and a first downfield credit that altered a return. He had missed the last portion of spring drills with a slight knee sprain, but the coaches still presented him with the Dick Anderson Award for outstanding toughness.

2012 (Soph.)—He played in 10 games, including one start (Stanford); he missed the USC and Oregon games after suffering a cervical spine strain against Arizona State. He was in for 250 snaps from scrimmage, recording 40 tackles, which included 31 solo, five for losses including a quarterback sack, three stops for zero gains and two third down stops. He also had a forced fumble (against Colorado State) and a pass broken up. He had a season-high nine tackles (seven solo) against Stanford, when he played 67 snaps and registered his sack and pass deflection. He had six tackles against Arizona State and five each against Fresno State and Washington. He won the Bill McCartney Award for special teams achievement; he finished second on the team in special team points with 21, as he was in on six tackles (one inside-the-20), recorded 12 knockdown blocks, caused one penalty and recovered a blocked kick.

2011 (Fr.)—He saw action in 12 games as a true freshman, nine on defense (no starts; he missed the Colorado State game with a hip contusion). He saw just 82 snaps from scrimmage, but recorded 18 tackles, or one for every 4.6 plays which led the team; 13 of the stops were solo. He had a season-high six tackles (four solo) at Washington, with five the very next week against Oregon (four solo). He also racked up six special team points on the strength of five tackles (one solo, with one of the assists coming inside-the-20).

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he was a PrepStar All-Region selection and SuperPrep All-Midlands team member, the latter ranking him as the No. 58 player in the region and the No. 6 linebacker and No. 8 overall player from Colorado. He was named on the prestigious Tacoma News-Tribune Western 100 list and was one of 12 linebackers on the squad. Scout.com listed him as the No. 32 middle linebacker and Rivals.com ranked him as the No. 35 inside linebacker; he was the top inside linebacker from Colorado by both publications. ESPN ranked him as the No. 65 inside linebacker nationally (the No. 13 player from Colorado). He earned first-team All-Colorado and All-State (5A) honors by the Denver Post and was also named first-team All-Big 6 Conference. He earned second-team All-Centennial League honors as a junior and made the honorable mention squad after his sophomore season as Mullen switched league affiliation prior to his senior season. His senior season he recorded 141 tackles (73 solo) including 11 for losses (five quarterback sacks) to go along with two interceptions, one pass break-up and two fumble recoveries, one of which he returned for a touchdown. As a junior, he totaled 127 tackles (72 solo) with one sack. Between his junior and senior seasons, he was a critical part of a defense that combined for 12 shut outs and 11 more games allowing seven or fewer points in 28 games during that span. Under former CU All-American Dave Logan, Mullen compiled a 40-2 record during his three varsity seasons, winning three Colorado State 5A Championships; that included back-to-back 14-0 seasons and a 33-game winning streak to end his career. He lists his top games as the state championship game from each season: he had nine tackles and a sack in a 37-6 win over Regis in the state final his senior year; that same season, he also had 15 tackles in a 35-0 win over Columbine and had 11 tackles, one sack and two fumble recoveries, returning one for a touchdown, in a 41-24 win over Cherry Creek. He had eight solo tackles and 13 overall in a 34-14 win over Bear Creek. Top games his junior season included a nine tackle effort in a 27-24 win over Pomona in the state title game, along with 11 tackles and a sack against Arapahoe (a 40-0 victory) and 13 tackles in a 37-15 win over Cherry Creek. He also had 10 tackles and a fumble recovery in a 44-0 win over Boulder.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in English at Colorado, and is on schedule to graduate in May 2015. He earned several academic honors as a prep at Mullen.

PERSONAL—He was born November 13, 1992 in Littleton, Colo. His hobbies include fly-fishing, playing basketball and video games. He volunteered through Mullen for a program called World Vision that collected and packed clothes and shoes and sent them abroad to those in need. He was the first player to commit to CU in the 2011 recruiting class (doing so the previous July 19). Last name is pronounced day.

46 THOR EATON, ILB

6-3, 210, Sr., 1L, Colorado Springs, Colo. (Pine Creek)

AT COLORADO: Note—He decided to forego his senior of eligibility and graduate on schedule.

2014 (Jr.)— He did not see any action, but did dress for five games.

2013 (Soph.)—He did not see any action. He moved from defensive end to inside linebacker for spring practice.

2012 (Fr.-RS)—He did not see any action, but did dress for three games. He joined the team as a walk-on for spring practices. He practiced at defensive end in the spring, marking the first time he played defense in his football career (he was only on offense in high school).

2011 (Fr.)—He attended Colorado as a student, but was not a member of the football team; however, his NCAA “clock” started once he enrolled and started taking classes.

HIGH SCHOOL—He earned two letters in football playing quarterback, receiver and special teams; he was the team’s holder his sophomore through senior seasons. He started at receiver as a senior, making eight touchdown receptions, and also saw spot duty at quarterback, as he threw for about 200 yards which included a 58-yard touchdown pass. Under coach Todd Miller, Pine Creek was 10-2 his senior year, 11-1 his junior season and 12-1 his sophomore campaign, winning the Pikes Peak League and District 20 titles all three years. PCHS advanced to the state semifinals his sophomore season and the quarterfinals his junior year, losing a heartbreaker in the latter to Longmont, 42-41; that team was the first undefeated regular season team in school history, which he lists as his biggest moment in high school. He also lettered once in basketball (forward).

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Political Science at Colorado. He was a first-team Academic All-State selection his junior and senior years at Pine Creek.

PERSONAL—He was born May 26, 1993 in Colorado Springs, Colo. His hobbies include playing most sports and watching movies; he lists his favorite book as the Bible. He earned his Eagle Scout Award by the time he was 13, several years earlier than most; he actually did it through a local church since there was no troop in his area.

3 D.D. GOODSON, WR

5-6, 175, Sr., 4L, Rosenberg, Texas (Lamar Consolidated)

AT COLORADO: Career Note—He finished his CU career with 60 receptions for 688 yards; those were good for 36th all-time on CU's receptions list and 44th on the receiving yards list.

2014 (Sr.)—He played in 11 games, including eight starts (he missed the Arizona game with a slight ankle sprain). He finished third on the team in receiving with 38 catches for 382 yards, averaging 10.1 per, with two touchdowns (scored at California and versus Washington). He had a career-high seven catches (for 70 yards) against UW, and he caught six balls against both Oregon State (for 43 yards) and at Cal (42 yards). He also had one rush for seven yards. He was one of 43 players on the initial watch list for the Earl Campbell Tyler Rose Award (presented to the most outstanding offensive player with ties to the state of Texas). He caught a 17-yard touchdown pass in the spring game (from Sefo Liufau), one of three receptions he had in the contest; he had nine for 93 yards and two TDs in the four main scrimmages. He won the Iron Buffalo Award for the wide receivers for his spring work in the weight room.

2013 (Jr.)—He played in all 12 games (three starts), as he finished third on the team in receiving; he had 22 catches for 306 yards and two touchdowns, averaging 13.9 yards per catch. He had 12 grabs of 10 yards or longer and three of 20 or more, including his season long of 75 yards for a TD that he hauled in from Paul Richardson on a little trickery against Oregon. He also rushed four times for 42 yards. He caught a career/season-high five passes in the opener against Colorado State, which were good for 44 yards, including an 18-yard TD. He caught at least one pass in 11 games and two or more in seven contests. He also caught 2-point conversion passes against both Colorado State and USC, becoming the sixth Buff to score two in the same season. He also had six special team points on the strength of two tackles, both inside-the-20, and two first downfield credits that altered returns. He lined up at wide receiver for spring practices, and despite it being the first time he had played receiver since high school, he established himself as a regular in the rotation. He led the team in receptions in the four main spring scrimmages with 13, which he caught for 169 yards and three touchdowns. He moved to receiver from tailback for the spring, and the switch was so successful that he was named the recipient of the Fred Casotti Award as the most improved offensive back.

2012 (Soph.)—He saw action in eight games (no starts), though on a limited basis as a reserve tailback. He gained 18 yards on five attempts on the season: he had one carry for 11 yards against Arizona State and two attempts for six yards at Oregon that accounted for the bulk of his stats. He had one punt return attempt, which he fumbled against CSU late in the first half. He moved back over to offense from the secondary for spring drills, and looked very good at times, rushing 13 times for 55 yards in the major scrimmages (long of 24).

2011 (Fr.)—He originally was intended to redshirt, but injuries forced him into action. He started his first game against Oregon in week eight, and would play in four games overall including two starts as the nickel back (the other was against USC). He was in for 98 snaps from scrimmage on the season, logging eight tackles (six solo); he had four tackles (three unassisted) against Oregon in 44 snaps on the field, and also returned kickoffs that game, averaging 19.4 yards for five runbacks. He had two solo stops in 25 plays versus the Trojans in his other start. He was the final high school recruit in Jon Embree's first class, signing with the Buffaloes on June 8. Designated as an "athlete" instead of at a specific position when he reported, the 4.4-speedster started out on offense but was shuttled over to defense due to all the injuries in the secondary.

HIGH SCHOOL—He was selected as the District 23-4A Utility Player of the Year, also earning first-team All-Area and All-District honors at wide receiver. A four-year starter at wide receiver, he caught 30 passes for over 500 yards and two touchdowns as a senior, when he also rushed for 370 yards and nine scores out of the wildcat formation. He was explosive returning kickoffs, as he had around 30 returns with a 35.0-yard average and a touchdown. As a junior, when he was All-Area and All-District, he caught 40 balls for 700 yards and seven touchdowns, with 25 catches for 300 yards and four touchdowns as a sophomore and two receptions for 46 yards and a TD as a freshman. He played defense in spots, at safety as a senior (two forced fumbles and two recoveries) and at cornerback as a junior (one interception). One of his top games his senior year came in a wild 41-40 win over Angleton, when he rushed for over 100 yards and a touchdown while making three receptions for 75 yards and another score. Lamar was 4-6 his senior year under first-year head coach Ronald Patton; his coach his freshman through junior years was Lydell Wilson. Under Wilson, LCHS were the state champions his freshman year with a 13-2 record, defeating Copperas Cove, 20-14 in a game that Goodson said was one of his top prep highlights despite blocking for most of the game. They were district champions his freshman and sophomore (6-3) seasons; Lamar was 4-6 his junior year. He also lettered once in track, participating in the 4x100 and 4x200 relays his senior year; his 4x100 team advanced to the regional meet after placing second in the district.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Sociology at Colorado. He earned honorable mention Pac-12 All-Academic Team honors his sophomore through senior years, and earned honorable mention Academic All-Colorado honors from the state's chapter of the National Football Foundation as a senior (the group's inaugural team). A two-time District All-Academic Team member, the National Honor Society member boasted a 3.67 grade point average in high school.

PERSONAL—He was born May 30, 1993 in Pineville, La. His hobbies include spending time with his Rottweiler (Ace), working out, watching television, and does a good amount of community service, including as a volunteer with the Special Olympics. He is close to his family and loves nothing more than spending time with them. An older brother, Jeremy, played running back and wide receiver at Rice. He hails from the same high school that produced CU All-Big 12 safety and eight-year NFL veteran Michael Lewis. His first name is Joseph; he was given the nickname D.D. while growing up and it stuck.

37 WOODSON GREER III, OLB

6-3, 220, Sr., 3L, Carson, Calif. (Junipero Serra)

AT COLORADO: 2014 (Sr.)—He played in all 12 games on special teams and in seven on defense, including two starts (at Massachusetts, Utah) as his position wasn't usually in the lineup when CU went to a nickel defense. In 156 snaps from scrimmage, he recorded 15 tackles (eight solo), with a third down stop. He had a season-high five tackles in the season finale against Utah (three solo, one a tackle for zero). On special teams duty, he had a solo tackle and three knockdown blocks. He had 11 tackles, two for losses, with three third down stops in the four main spring scrimmages.

2013 (Jr.)—He saw action in eight games (four starts), as his position was the one that came out of the lineup when the Buffs were in the nickel defense. He missed the last four games of the year after suffering a nasty stinger in practice on Nov. 5, one that even prevented him from practicing other than on an extremely limited basis. In playing the most to date in his career, he was in for 268 snaps from scrimmage and recorded 34 tackles, 25 of which were solo including two for losses. He also had four tackles for zero gains, two quarterback hurries, a third down stop and a fumble recovery, the latter coming against Arizona when he was also in on seven tackles (five solo) and played a career-best 62 snaps. He posted a career-high eight tackles (six unassisted) against Charleston Southern. He had a good spring and was the recipient of the Greg Biekert Award as selected by the coaching staff as the most improved linebacker.

2012 (Soph.)—He saw action in nine games, including six on defense at outside linebacker (no starts), recording 12 tackles, seven of the solo variety, in 69 snaps from scrimmage. He saw his most playing time against Arizona State, when he was in for 25 plays and posted a season-high seven tackles (five solo), with his first career quarterback sack. He was third on the team in special team points with 19, on the strength of two solo tackles (one inside-the-20), seven knockdown blocks, three caused penalties, three forced fair catches, two first downfield credits that altered the return path, and a fumble recovery. He had entered the fall listed second at 'sam' (outside) linebacker and had six solo tackles, including a sack, in the main spring scrimmages.

2011 (Fr.)—He saw action in five games, including three on defense at outside linebacker (no starts), playing a total of 40 snaps from scrimmage. He had three tackles on the year, two solo, with a third down stop and a tackle for zero. He finished eighth on the team in special team points with 11, on the strength of eight knockdown blocks, a downed punt, one tackle and one assist.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he was named PrepStar All-Region and SuperPrep All-Far West team member, as the publication ranked him the No. 65 player in the region (the No. 10 linebacker on that list). Scout.com ranked him as the No. 48 outside linebacker in the nation, the seventh best from California. He also earned first-team All-CIF Southern Section Western Division, first-team All-Mission League and first-team All-South Bay Area honors. As a junior, he was first team All-Western League and All-South Bay after garnering second team All-Western League accolades as a sophomore. For his career, he racked up 281 total tackles, which included 113 solo stops and 12½ quarterback sacks. As a senior, he had 69 tackles (41 solo) and one fumble recovery, which followed a monster junior year, which saw him record 140 tackles (41 solo) and 11½ sacks that totaled 76 yards in losses. He also had one forced fumble and one recovery that season. As a sophomore, he had 72 tackles (31 solo), one sack and one interception. Under coach Scott Altenberg, Serra compiled a 42-2 record in his three years there, winning three consecutive Mission League titles and 29 straight games sandwiched between playoff losses that ended his sophomore and senior seasons. Serra was 14-1 his senior year, winning the CIF Southern Section before losing in the state title game, 15-0 his junior season (CIF Southern Section and California state champions) and 13-1 his sophomore year before falling in the CIF Southern Section title game.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Sociology at Colorado, scheduled to graduate in August 2015.

PERSONAL—He was born December 26, 1992 in Long Beach, Calif. Hobbies include playing the piano (he has since he was six) and other sports including basketball. He was very active in community service both through his high school and church, the majority of which included outreach to the homeless. His high school sends several players annually to Pac-12 schools as he had played with many in his prep career.

20 GREG HENDERSON, CB

5-11, 185, Sr., 4L, Corona, Calif. (Norco)

AT COLORADO: Career Notes—He had 45 career starts in 47 games, and in the process became just the 23rd player in school history to earn the honor of being listed as a four-year starter (and just the sixth defensive back to do it). He finished his career third in pass deflections (36), tied for 43rd in interceptions (5) and tied for 51st in total tackles (224; his 163 solo stops ranked 23rd).

2014 (Sr.)—He started all 12 games and earned honorable mention All-Pac-12 honors from the league coaches, and also gathered in the Buffalo Heart Award, a fan award coordinated by those who “sit behind the bench” and exhibit those qualities of being the consummate team player. He also earned second-team All-Colorado honors from the state’s chapter of the National Football Foundation and was selected to play in the East-West Shrine All-Star game (where he had a solo tackle and a pass deflection on a third down to force a field goal). He finished fifth on the team in tackles with 51 (42 of the solo variety), which included eight at or behind the line of scrimmage (four for losses, including a quarterback sack, and four tackles for zero). He had a team-high 14 passes broken up, the most at Colorado since 2009; he also added eight third down stops, a forced fumble and a recovery, two pressures and two touchdown saves. He was the Colorado NFF Chapter as well as CU’s Athlete-of-the-Week for his efforts in CU’s 21-12 win over Hawai’i, when he recorded a season-high eight tackles (six solo including a sack and a tackle for zero), with four passes broken up, a forced fumble and a recovery, two third down stops and a hurry. He also had seven tackles, six solo, against both Colorado State and UCLA. He was selected preseason fourth-team All-Pac-12 by Athlon Sports and Phil Steele’s College Football, the latter ranking him as the nation’s No. 29 cornerback. He again won the Iron Buffalo Award for the defensive backs for his spring work in the weight room.

2013 (Jr.)—He started all 12 games at right cornerback in earning first-team All-Colorado honors from the state’s chapter of the National Football Foundation. In playing the most snaps by a Buff on defense (897), he finished third on the team in tackles with 68 (46 solo, with two for losses and another pair for zero gain), and was second with 14 third down stops. He led the team in interceptions with four, returning those for 82 yards, which included a 46-yard return for a touchdown against Central Arkansas; it was the most picks by a CU player since Lorenzo Sims interception five back in 2004. He had a fumble recovery, which he turned into a big 53-yard return for a score against Colorado State that expanded CU’s lead to 33-24 early in the fourth quarter. He also led the team in passes broken up with 10, and along the way picked up six touchdown saves. He had four or more tackles in 11 games, including nine twice, against Oregon State and at Washington (when he had a season high eight solo). He had two interceptions against Oregon, with his other coming against Oregon State. He added two assisted tackles and a downed punt inside-the-5 on special teams duty. He won the Iron Buffalo Award for the defensive backs for spring conditioning in the weight room, and had a fine spring overall (he had two interceptions in the four main scrimmages).

2012 (Soph.)—He played in 10 games (nine starts) a year ago, missing time in the front third of the season with a knee sprain he suffered in the season opener against Colorado State; he still managed to evolve into a solid cornerback after being thrown into the fire as a true freshman in 2011. For the year, he was in for exactly 600 plays from scrimmage, racking up 47 tackles (31 solo, including three for losses and one tackle for zero). He also had two third down stops, three pass deflections and a forced fumble (the latter against Stanford). He had a season-high six tackles twice, in the last two games of the season (versus Washington, with five solo, and Utah, four being unassisted).

2011 (Fr.)—He played in all 13 games, starting 12 (all but the California game), all at right cornerback. In earning CU’s Lee Willard Award as the team’s most outstanding freshman, the league coaches voted him as an honorable mention All-Pac 12 team member, collegefootballnews.com tabbed him as a second-team freshman All-American, he was a second-team All-Colorado performer as selected by the state’s chapter of the National Football Foundation and rivals.com placed him on its Freshman All-Pac 12 team. He set a school record for the most defensive plays by a freshman with 823, with his 76 against Washington State also a single-game freshman best. He was in on 58 tackles, 44 solo, with three for losses, three tackles for zero (so six at or behind the line of scrimmage), six third down stops, a forced fumble and one recovered. He had one interception, which came against Arizona’s heralded quarterback Nick Foles. He led the team with nine pass deflections, the first freshman in school history to ever do so since numbers started being tracked in 1964. He had a season/career-high 10 tackles at Stanford (six solo), seven against UCLA and four on eight other occasions. He added two solo tackles on special teams coverage duty.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he was ranked the No. 10 cornerback in California and the No. 122 corner in the nation by ESPN in earning first-team All-State, All-CIF Southern Section, first-team All-Riverside County and first-team All-Big VIII honors (he was All-CIF and All-Big VIII his junior year as well). In his career, he totaled over 100 tackles and had 22 passes broken up and nine interceptions, returning one for a touchdown. A double-digit average return man, he returned three punts for touchdowns in his career (all as a junior) and added another score in spot duty at receiver. His senior year, he had 65 tackles (46 solo), 13 pass deflections, seven interceptions, two forced fumbles and two fumble recoveries. As a junior, he had 45 tackles (32 solo) and came up with a pair of interceptions and seven pass break-ups. In spot duty on offense, he had a handful of receptions including one for a TD and rushed five times for 22 yards. As a sophomore, he had 13 tackles in backup duty. He lists his biggest game as against Crenshaw his senior year: in a 25-21 win, he had 13 tackles, three PBU’s and an interception. Against Redlands in a 34-17 win, he had an interception and broke free for a 50 yard punt return. Against Poly in a 42-21 win, he had six tackles (four solo), an interception he returned 60 yards and a forced fumble. Under coach Todd Gerhart, Norco was 28-10 his three years on varsity and 20-5 his final two years as a starter on defense, winning the CIF Southern Section Big VIII League championship both seasons. He also lettered in track (sprints/relays), participating in the 100-meter dash and 4x100-meter relay his junior and senior seasons. He was a first-team All-League performer in the 100-meters.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Business (Finance) at Colorado and is on schedule to graduate this May (2015). He exceeded a 3.5 grade point average in high school and was on the Honor Roll all four years.

PERSONAL—He was born December 27, 1992 in Los Angeles. His hobbies include playing the drums and an interest in dogs, particularly pit bulls. He participated in a program through his church to help feed the homeless in the Los Angeles area.

26 TONY JONES, TB

5-7, 185, Sr., 4L, Paterson, N.J. (Don Bosco Prep)

AT COLORADO: Career Notes—He became the ninth player in Colorado history to record 1,000 yards rushing and 500 yards receiving (and just the 13th to join the 500/500 club). He finished with 1,269 yards rushing, 37th all-time on CU's list, with his 90 receptions the 19th-most in school history (the second-most every by a running back); his 558 receiving yards ranked 60th. He had only two fumbles in 406 touches (308 rushes).

2014 (Sr.)—He played in all 12 games (seven starts), in finishing second on the team in rushing; he had the most carries (94) for 403 yards and three touchdowns, averaging 4.3 per attempt. He had 13 carries of 10 yards or longer and 32 of five or more. He also had the fifth-most receptions (24) for 151 yards, six going for 10 or more (one 20-plus), and did not fumble in 118 touches for the year. His 554 all-purpose yards were the third highest on the team, and his 29 first downs earned were fourth (22 by rush, seven by reception). His top games came against California (13 carries, 69 yards, no touchdowns), UCLA (17-68-1, when he also caught five passes for 36 yards) and Southern California (11-62-0). His other touchdowns came at UMass and against Oregon State. He also saw extensive action on special teams, earning 11 "points" on the strength of three tackles (two solo, two inside-the-20), two forced fair catches, two first downfield credits that altered returns, a downed punt and a knockdown block; he had six points at Massachusetts, CU's single-game season high. He led all players in yards in the four spring scrimmages, racking up 150 on 29 tries with three touchdowns; he was the leading rusher in the spring game (13-88, with a long of 25). He won the Iron Buffalo Award for the running backs for his spring work in the weight room.

2013 (Jr.)—He played in all 12 games (no starts), and finished third on the team in rushing with 249 yards on 73 attempts (scoring one touchdown). He also caught 13 passes for 93 yards and a TD, averaging 7.2 yards per reception, and overall, earned 13 first downs. His rushing single-game high came in the second game of the season against Central Arkansas (13-58), with his receiving best coming at UCLA (3-42). His rushing touchdown came on a 1-yard run at UCLA, with his TD reception covering 10 yards against California. He accrued six special team points, logging one in six separate categories: an assisted tackle, a knockdown block, a downed punt, a recovered kick, a first downfield credit that altered the path of the return man and a forced fair catch.

2012 (Soph.)—He played in 11 games (two starts, missing the Fresno State game due to a sore ankle), finishing second on the team in rushing with 320 yards; he averaged a team-best 5.1 yards per rush, buoyed by an 84-yard touchdown run at Washington State. That play was key in CU's comeback from 17 points down in a 35-34 win, and tied for the eighth-longest rushing play in school history. He was third on the team in receptions (26) and scoring (18 points), and earned 13 first downs (seven rushing, six receiving). He had a career-high 105 yards on four carries at Washington State, and gained between 31 and 43 yards on five occasions; his other touchdowns came against Arizona State and Utah. He caught five passes (for 19 yards) versus UCLA and had four catches for a season-best 57 yards at USC. He was dedicated in his summer workouts, gaining 12-15 pounds of muscle in his upper body and entered the season at a playing weight of 190, up from 175 as a redshirt frosh. He had 22 touches for 316 yards in the spring (14.4 per, 15-216 rushing, 7-100 receiving) with three touchdowns.

2011 (Fr.-RS)—He played in all 13 games, including two starts (Oregon, Arizona State), finishing second on the team in rushing with 297 yards on 78 carries (3.8 per) and two touchdowns. He was also a favorite target out of the backfield, hauling in 27 receptions for 198 yards and two scores; those were the fourth most catches on the team. He earned 22 first downs (14 rushing), picking up four of those in five 3rd-and-1 on third downs. He tried his hand at returning kickoffs, with six for 105 yards, or 17.5 per. He had the bulk of his rushing yards subbing for an injured Rodney Stewart, seeing his first extensive action at Washington after Stewart went down: he had 14 carries for 49 yards which included both his scoring runs (1- and 2-yards) and caught seven passes for 49 yards. In his first start, he had 71 yards on 19 attempts against Oregon, and when Stewart was injured again in the season finale at Utah, he had 72 yards on 12 carries. He also caught seven passes for 61 yards at Arizona State and had his receiving TD's at Stanford and versus Arizona (both five yards in length). He had an outstanding spring, as in the three main scrimmages, he rushed 36 times for 189 yards (5.3 avg.) and two touchdowns.

2010 (Fr.)—Redshirted; practiced all fall in the offensive backfield and played a key role on the scout team.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he earned third-team All-America honors by EA Sports. He started all four years at Don Bosco Prep under coach Gary Toal, helping the team to a 47-1 record, four Non-Public Group 4 state championships and a consensus national championship in 2009. Don Bosco Prep won the mythical national championship by finishing in the top spot in the USA Today Super 25 poll and the National Prep Football Poll (and three other polls or rankings). In his career, he rushed 343 times for 2,608 yards and 61 touchdowns. He also caught 39 passes for 481 yards and five touchdowns and returned 17 kickoffs for 341 yards and one touchdown. As a senior, he was the Gatorade New Jersey Player of the Year while The New Jersey Star-Ledger named him the New Jersey Player of the Year, first-team All-State, Non-Public-League Player of the Year, first-team All-Non-Public League, Bergen County Player of the Year and first-team All-Bergen County. He earned North Jersey Record Tri-County Player of the Year, first-team All-Tri-County and first-team All-Conference honors as a senior, as well. He rushed 174 times for 1,387 yards and 34 touchdowns, caught 13 passes for 226 yards and a touchdown and had 13 kickoff returns for 226 yards and a touchdown. His 34 rushing touchdowns and 36 overall touchdowns set new school records.

CONTINUED

High School (continued)—He also blocked one kick on special teams. He was named the North Jersey Record Player of the Week four times and also earned the U.S. Army All-America Bowl National Player of the Week honors after a win over Prattville High School in Alabama, when he rushed 22 times for 220 yards and three touchdowns in a game that secured Don Bosco Prep as the nation's best team. He scored at least two rushing touchdowns in every game, three or more in seven games and four on three occasions. Don Bosco Prep put itself on the map early in the season his senior year, opening the season by traveling across the country to play De La Salle out of Concord, Calif., and earning a 30-6 victory behind Jones' performance of 21 carries for 91 yards and three touchdowns. He closed out his career with 31 carries for 218 yards and four touchdowns against St. Peter's Prep to win the Non-Public League Championship. He scored six total touchdowns in that game, as he had one kickoff return for a 90 yards and two catches for 71 yards and a score. He put up the numbers his senior season despite not playing in the second half of six games. As a junior, he earned second-team Non-Public Group 4 honors from the North Jersey Record despite having a shortened season with a broken collar bone. In eight games, he rushed 41 times for 271 yards and four touchdowns, and had five receptions for 77 yards. He earned third-team All-Bergen County from the New Jersey Record as a sophomore when he rushed 72 times for 487 yards and 15 touchdowns. He also had 11 receptions for 106 yards and two touchdowns and returned eight kickoffs for 171 yards. He opened his sophomore campaign by rushing 11 times for 102 yards and three touchdowns in a 34-20 victory against St. Joseph's (Pa.). As a freshman, he had 56 rushes for 463 yards and eight touchdowns while catching 10 passes for 72 yards and a touchdown. He opened his career as a freshman with 11 carries for 60 yards and a touchdown in a 31-28 win over St. Joseph's (Pa.) and had his first 100-yard game against St. Joseph Regional with just three carries compiling 100 yards that included a 63 yard touchdown. Don Bosco recorded 12-0 records his freshman, sophomore and senior seasons and an 11-1 record his junior year. He also participated in track (sprints, relays) as a freshman.

ACADEMICS—He graduated with a degree in Ethnic Studies from Colorado in December 2014. In April 2014, he was one of two recipients of CU's Clancy A. Herbst, Jr., Student-Athlete Achievement Award, presented to those athletes who overcome personal, academic or emotional challenges difficulties to succeed both academically and athletically (the youngest of five siblings, he will be the first in his family to graduate from college).

PERSONAL—He was born March 15, 1992 in Paterson, N.J. He enjoys playing video games and studying to keep his grades up. He volunteered for St. Joseph's hospital as a transport assistant, helping deliver patients throughout the hospital, where he worked for five hours every Sunday for seven months prior to his senior season. As a senior in high school during the holiday season, he worked for a landscape nursery helping trim and deliver Christmas trees. He has a sincere interest in the future to help younger kids attend school and get a degree instead of being on the streets.

87 TYLER McCULLOCH, WR

6-5, 215, Sr., 4L, Albuquerque, N.M. (Eldorado)

AT COLORADO: He finished his career with 88 receptions (20th all-time at Colorado) for 1,089 yards (21st), averaging 12.4 yards per catch.

2014 (Sr.)—He fully rebounded from a foot injury that hampered him his sophomore year, he finished fourth on the team in receptions with 30; he gained 419 yards, or 14.0 per, scoring two touchdowns. He had four or more receptions five times, with both his TD catches coming against Oregon State (covering 31 and 17 yards). He concluded his career with his first 100-yard career game (4-101) in the season finale against Utah. He missed all of spring practice healing from a chronic stress reaction in a foot, participating in conditioning on a limited basis.

2013 (Jr.)—He played in all 12 games (no starts), despite his being hampered much of the season with an injured foot (deemed a stress reaction). He caught 14 passes for 138 yards and a touchdown, all but one in the first half of the season. His top game came against Central Arkansas, when he had five grabs for 50 yards; he scored his touchdown on a 24-yard pass from Connor Wood at Oregon State (he caught two balls for 29 yards in that contest). He also made three receptions for 41 yards at Arizona State.

2012 (Soph.)—He played in all 12 games, including 10 starts, finishing second on the team in both receptions (34) and yards (436), as well as owning the second best yards per catch (12.8) for those with 10 or more receptions. He was also second in catches for 20 or more yards (6) and those that went 10-plus (17). He scored two touchdowns, which came against CSU and Fresno State, and had at least one catch in 11 games with a high of seven (for 69 yards) versus UCLA. His yardage best came in the season finale against Utah, when he had six receptions for 88 yards. He earned 16 first downs (including six of eight catches on third downs), and he caught 15 balls on first down throws (for a team best 13.5 yards per). He had one special teams point, coming on a knockdown block on return unit duty. He was one of only three receivers on the roster who entered the year that had caught a pass in college.

2011 (Fr.)—He played in all 13 games, including two starts (California, Colorado State), becoming just the seventh true freshman to start at least one game at wide receiver since 1973 (but the fifth since 2007). He caught 10 passes for 96 yards and a touchdown, with six of the receptions earning first downs. He caught two passes in three games and one in four others; he had two for 25 yards in his first career game, the season opener at Hawai'i. He also caught a pair against Cal and Stanford, and his touchdown came on a 14-yard throw from Tyler Hansen at Ohio State. He also saw action on special teams, racking up five special team points on the strength of four knockdown blocks and a fumble recovery (the latter against Oregon).

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he earned first-team All-State honors from the coaches at both wide receiver and defensive back, along with first-team All-District 2-5A accolades at both positions. Rivals.com ranked him as the No. 10 player overall in the state of New Mexico, as well as the top receiver; NewMexicoPreps.com ranked him No. 14 and third, respectively. As a junior, he was first-team All-District 5-5A at wide receiver. As a senior, he missed all but five games after suffering a lacerated liver and spleen early in the year, though he was able to return by the end of the season and participate in the playoffs. Despite missing just over half the season, he still caught 40 passes for 570 yards and nine touchdowns. On defense, he played both cornerback and safety, racking up 42 tackles, with five passes broke up, two fumble recoveries and a caused fumble. As a junior, he hauled in 52 passes for 720 yards and 11 touchdowns. His two top games as a senior bookended the season: in a 46-26 win over West Mesa in the opener, he caught 11 passes (three one-handed) for 130 yards and a touchdown, and in a 28-27 loss to Las Cruces in the quarterfinals of the state playoffs, he had seven receptions for 186 yards and all four Eldorado touchdowns (53, 7, 19 and 6 yards); Eldorado went for two points with 1:18 left but couldn't convert. Under coach Charlie Dotson, Eldorado was 9-3 his senior year, 6-6 his junior season, and 12-1 and District Champions his sophomore year. He also lettered twice in baseball (pitcher/outfield), and played basketball as a freshman.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Communication at Colorado (owner of a 3.34 grade point average). He earned second-team Pac-12 All-Academic Team honors as a senior, and was an honorable mention choice both a junior and sophomore. He earned first-team Academic All-Colorado honors from the state's chapter of the National Football Foundation as a senior (the group's inaugural team); the NFF (national) also honored him as a 2015 Hampshire Society team member. Owner of a 3.9 grade point average in high school, he was an Academic All-Albuquerque Metro Team member as a senior and an Academic All-District honoree as a junior and senior.

PERSONAL—He was born April 8, 1993 in Albuquerque. His hobbies include playing basketball, golf and video games. His uncle is Tommy Sheppard, the former Denver Nuggets media relations director who is currently the vice president of basketball operations for the Washington Wizards (his mother, Barbara, is Tommy's sister). As a third grader, he was earned the President's Physical Fitness Award. (Last name is pronounced Muh-cull-ock.)

52 DANIEL MUNYER, OL

6-2, 295, Sr., 4L, Los Angeles, Calif. (Notre Dame)

AT COLORADO: 2014 (Sr.)—He earned honorable mention All-Pac-12 honors from the league coaches (third-team by Phil Steele's College Football). He also garnered first-team All-Colorado honors from the state's chapter of the National Football Foundation. He started all 12 games at right offensive guard, seeing action for 975 snaps from scrimmage (third-most on the team). He recorded a team-best 636 plus plays, grading to a 65.2 plus percentage (best on the team); he had another 251 plays that were termed even, giving him a season grade of 91.9 percent. He also had a team-high 51 knockdown blocks, to go with four touchdown blocks while allowing only one-and-a-half quarterback sacks and was called for just three penalties. He was elected by his teammates as one of six team captains for the 2014 season. He was selected preseason second-team All-Pac-12 by Athlon Sports and was a third-team choice by Phil Steele's. The coaches selected him as the recipient of the Eddie Crowder Award after the season as well as for the spring, presented to a player who provided outstanding leadership.

2013 (Jr.)—He started all 12 games at right offensive guard, playing 742 snaps from scrimmage (fifth-most among the linemen). He had 510 plus plays, grading to a 68.7 plus percentage; his actual game and season grades were higher as they took neutral results into the equation. He tied for the team lead in direct touchdown blocks with six, and was second in knockdown blocks with 41 (combined pancakes, blown the opponent off the line and/or driving finishes). He was called for just two penalties, allowed two-and-a-half sacks and allowed eight pressures. The coaches presented him with CU's Tyronee "Tiger" Bussey Award, presented to the player who displays inspiration in the face of physical adversity. He suffered a fractured fibula in spring drills (March 21, in a fumble recovery drill), and missed the last eight practices. He was limited in fall camp, and two-thirds of the way in he was still not all the way back though was increasing his participation in contact drills. Athlon Sports selected him as a third-team guard on its All-Pac 12 preseason team.

2012 (Soph.)—He earned honorable mention All-Pac 12 honors from the league coaches, and was a mid-season All-Pac 12 choice by Phil Steele's College Football. He started all 12 games, six at right guard and six at center, the latter due to injuries, and played the most snaps of all the offensive linemen with 785. He had 653 plus-plays, thus graded out to 83.2 percent for the season, and graded to 80 percent or higher in nine of 12 games, with a high of 88.6 percent against Stanford. He led the team in will-breaker blocks (essentially pancakes-plus) with 49, and tied for the lead in touchdown blocks with seven. He was not called for a penalty and allowed only two-and-a-half quarterback sacks and three pressures. He played another 10 snaps on the field goal/PAT unit on special teams.

2011 (Fr.-RS)—He saw action in seven games (three starts); he emerged as the starting center at the end of spring drills and held it through competition in August camp. He started the first three games before going down with a severe ankle sprain against Colorado State that forced him to miss the next four games. On the year, he was in for 205 snaps from scrimmage, grading out to 76.1 percent, with his best game grade a solid 81.0 percent against California. He had five great effort blocks, allowed one quarterback pressure, three sacks and was called for two penalties. He also had three plays on the Field Goal/PAT unit on special teams. The coaches selected him as the Dan Stavelly Award winner following spring practice, the honor going to the top redshirt freshman-to-be.

2010 (Fr.)—Redshirted; he practiced all along the offensive line as a member of the scout team. He earned the Offensive Scout Team Award for the Colorado State game.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he earned All-State, All-Area (Los Angeles and San Fernando Valley), All-Sierra League and All-Pac 5 Conference honors. He garnered All-Far West honors from both PrepStar and SuperPrep, the latter ranking him as the No. 129 player from the region (California, Hawai'i, Nevada), the 13th offensive lineman on that list. Scout.com listed him as the No. 61 offensive guard in the country. A three-year starter at offensive line and one year starter on the defensive line, he helped Notre Dame to a 28-7 record in his career. His senior year, he helped anchor a line that averaged 198.7 yards rushing and 188.3 yards passing per game on offense, helping Notre Dame (9-3) to the Sierra League championship and second-round appearance in the playoffs under coach Kevin Rooney. On defense, he had 53 tackles, 17 for losses including four sacks, three pass break-ups and two forced fumbles. His top game came when the team flew to Dallas to play Klein Oak at the brand new Cowboys Stadium and he had five tackles for loss in a 37-7 win. Against Crespi, Notre Dame won 23-21 on a 53-yard field goal on the last play of the game, and against Birmingham, he had two sacks as Notre Dame turned a 14-10 halftime lead into a 48-10 victory. He was a team captain and member of the team council, leading his group of linemen as a liaison with the coaching staff. As a junior, he earned All-State and All-Sierra League honors helping Notre Dame to an undefeated regular season and final record of 11-1 after winning the Sierra League. That season, Notre Dame averaged 274.5 yards passing and 180.7 yards rushing per game. He saw limited action on the defensive line that season and had 16 tackles and two sacks. He also lettered in track and field (throws); he was the CIF Section champion in the shot put as a junior with a career-best throw of 55-0.

ACADEMICS—He earned his degree Communication, with a Certificate in Digital Media from Colorado in December 2014. He was named to the honorable mention Pac-12 All-Academic Team as a redshirt freshman, sophomore and junior, and earned honorable mention Academic All-Colorado honors from the state's chapter of the National Football Foundation as a senior (the group's inaugural team). As a senior, CU's Department of Communication selected him for its Academic Leadership Award (for his dedication to learning and strong positive presence in the classroom). He earned All-Academic team mention for his high school for both football and track & field and was honored by maintaining a 3.0 or higher grade point average.

PERSONAL—He was born March 4, 1992 in Harbor City, Calif. He enjoys fishing, hiking, playing video games, hanging out with friends and watching movies and lists the best movie he has seen recently as the Book of Eli. He volunteered about 30 hours of his time to help his school host a Renal Prom for local kidney patients who can't regularly attend high school. He also volunteered at his high school's youth sports camps for the last two summers.

72 MARC MUSTOE, OL

6-7, 290, Sr., 3L, Broomfield, Colo. (Arvada West)

AT COLORADO: Note—He decided to forego his senior of eligibility and graduate on schedule.

2014 (Jr.)—He saw action in one game, playing eight snaps from scrimmage against Southern California (he had four plus plays and a knockdown block). He had entered the fall atop the depth chart at left offensive tackle, but the competition continued well into August drills.

2013 (Soph.)—He saw action in the first six games of the season, but he suffered a fractured fibula against Charleston Southern and was lost for the remainder of the year. He was in on four games on offense, playing a total of 27 snaps from scrimmage; the bulk of those came at Arizona State (18). He had 21 plus plays, thus owned a 77.8 plus percentage for the year (grades were higher as they included neutral results); he had two knockdown blocks, while not allowing a quarterback sack (he did allow two pressures and was flagged for one penalty). He also lined up at tight end for three snaps in short-yardage situations. As a member of the FG/PAT unit on special teams, he played an additional 24 snaps. He missed spring practice as he was recovering from injuries he sustained when he was hit by a sport utility vehicle while riding his bike in January. It was the second time in his life he was injured in an automobile accident, and he also suffered injuries when he fell while hiking on Long's Peak.

2012 (Fr.-RS)—He saw action in seven games (no starts), playing 32 snaps from scrimmage and grading out to 71.9 percent for the year. He had three will-breaker blocks on the year and he played an additional 19 snaps on the field goal/PAT unit on special teams.

2011 (Fr.)—Redshirted; practiced on the offensive line the entire fall.

HIGH SCHOOL—A SuperPrep All-American and All-Midlands team member, as the publication ranked him as the No. 32 player in the region and he was the No. 3 offensive lineman and No. 2 player from Colorado on that list. PrepStar named him All-Region. He was named to the prestigious Tacoma News-Tribune Western 100 as one of 21 offensive linemen on the list. Scout.com had him as the No. 33 offensive tackle in the country, while Rivals.com ranked him as the No. 51 offensive lineman in the country and the No. 5 player from Colorado. ESPN ranked him the No. 45 offensive tackle and the No. 4 player from Colorado. He was an All-Colorado selection by the Denver Post as a senior, when he was also first-team All-State (5A) and All-Big 6 Conference. He earned second-team All-Big 8 honors as a junior. Playing offensive tackle as a senior, he helped Arvada West average 343.6 yards of total offense (202.5 yards passing and 141.1 yards rushing per game). As a junior, the team averaged 30.3 points and 291.2 yards of offense per game. He sat out his sophomore season due to state transfer rules because he began the fall camp at another school. His freshman season, he lettered on the offensive line at Broomfield High School. Under head coach Casey Coons, Arvada West went 17-7 his two seasons as a starter, including 11-2 his junior season when A-West won the Big 8 Conference championship and advanced to the state semifinals. His freshman season under coach Gary Davies, Broomfield compiled a 12-1 record, winning the 4A Northern League Championship and advancing to the state semis.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Ecology and Evolutionary Biology at Colorado and was on schedule to graduate in May 2015. He earned honorable mention Pac-12 All-Academic Team honors as a sophomore. He was twice named Academic All-Colorado in high school for maintaining a grade point average above 3.8.

PERSONAL—He was born January 31, 1992 in Denver. His hobbies include anything where he can enjoy the mountains including hiking, camping, fishing, skiing and other outdoor activities. He also enjoys reading.

8 DARRAGH O'NEILL, P

6-2, 190, Sr., 4L, Louisville, Colo. (Boulder Fairview)

AT COLORADO: Career Notes— He became just the third player in CU history to be CU's regular punter for four seasons, as he joined Stan Koleski (1973-76) and Matt DiLallo (2006-09) in doing so. He finished his career as CU's all-time leader in punts (281), punting yards (12,001), punts inside-the-20 (95) and inside-the-10 (34); his 42.71 average was the ninth-best in school annals. He was CU's punter for all 49 games in his career. He was usually a right-footed kicker, but with his soccer background, could punt with his left and did so 12 times (for 507 yards, an average of 42.3 per with a long of 59 and four inside-the-20).

2014 (Sr.)—In enjoying his best overall collegiate season, he earned honorable mention All-Pac-12 honors from the league coaches (third-team by collegesportsmadness.com and Phil Steele's College Football), and also garnered second-team All-Colorado honors from the state's chapter of the National Football Foundation; he was selected to play in the East-West Shrine Game following the season (where he averaged 42.0 yards for six punts, 39.5 net, with two inside-the-20; one inside-the-10; he also had the "catch" of the game when he snared a high snap with one hand to save his team a safety). He was honored with CU's Bill McCartney Award for special teams achievement, and was also on the watch list for the Ray Guy Award for the third consecutive season (and was one of 55 nominated for the Burlsworth Trophy, awards to a top former walk-on). He averaged a career-best 44.14 yards per punt (65 kicks), placing a school single-season record 27 inside-the-20 (14 inside-the-15, nine inside-the-10 and four inside-the-5); he had just three touchbacks. His averaged spiked to 44.8 when eliminating eight punts in plus-territory, though he placed six of those inside-the-20; his averaged for 17 kicks inside-the-CU 25 was a bit lower (43.2) but was charged with increasing the hang time for those efforts. He was selected preseason second-team All-Pac-12 by Athlon Sports and was a fourth-team choice by Phil Steele's College Football. He won the Iron Buffalo Award for the specialists for his spring work in the weight room.

2013 (Jr.)—Once again, he was CU's punter for the third straight season, averaging 40.5 yards for 66 punts; his average dipped a bit because the average yardline of his kicks was the CU37 (compared to the 32 in 2012). Sixteen of those kicks originated in opponent territory (35.1 average), had he placed 13 of those inside-the-20. He owned the same average, 42.2, for punts on CU's side of the 50 as well as for 10 that were inside the Buff 25. Only 20 of his kicks were returned, with another 19 fair caught (four went for touchbacks). He placed 22 kicks inside-the-20, 18 of which were inside-the-15; his 10 inside-the-10 set a school record (three were placed inside-the-5). He had a punt blocked against USC, which ended a streak of 131 without one that dated back to 2011; it was the second-longest streak in school history (to 153 by Barry Helton, 1984-87). He did make some school history, however, when he converted a 2-point conversion on a run against Charleston Southern, the first CU punter to ever score a 2-point PAT (he also attempted a failed pass for one at Arizona State). For the second straight year, he was one of 25 players on the official preseason watch list for the Ray Guy Award, which is presented to the nation's top punter (and was one of 36 players on the preseason watch list for the top punter as determined by the College Football Performance Awards). He was the unanimous preseason choice as the first-team Pac-12 punter, selected by Athlon Sports, Lindy's Pac-12 Football, Phil Steele's College Football, The Sporting News and USA Today.

2012 (Soph.)—He earned honorable mention All-American honors from Sports Illustrated, and honorable mention All-Pac 12 accolades from the league coaches (he was a honorable mention Sophomore All-American by collegefootballnews.com). He averaged 43.5 yards for 76 punts in 2012, placing a school record 25 inside-the-20 (14 inside-the-15, seven inside-the-10 and two inside-the-5), forcing 23 fair catches as 60.5 percent of his kicks were not returned; his average jumped to 44.5 when accounting for eight punts coming inside opponent territory (he put six of those inside-the-20), and he had 16 kicks of 50 yards or longer. All but two of his punts were with his right leg, he did two with his left, averaging 47.0 yards on those with one inside-the-20 (both were rugby style). He tied the school record for the most punts in a single season, and set CU marks for season punting yards (3,307) and punts inside-the-20 with the 25. He was model of consistency, averaging at least 42.5 yards per punt in nine of 12 games, and over 40 in 11 games. He was one of 25 players on the official preseason watch list for the Ray Guy Award (and was one of 44 on a similar list for the College Football Performance Awards punter of the year). A former walk-on, he was placed on scholarship permanently beginning in the 2012 spring semester.

2011 (Fr.-RS)—He became just the fifth player in CU history to serve as the team's regular punter as a freshman, joining Stan Koleski ('73), Andy Mitchell ('94), Matt DiLallo ('06) and teammate Zach Grossnickle ('10); his 74 punts were the most ever by a Buff frosh, breaking Grossnickle's record of 60. He played in all 13 games, and by the end of the season, he had become just the seventh walk-on to play as a true freshman since 1986, and would be rewarded by earning a scholarship. He earned second-team Freshman All-American honors from both collegefootballnews.com and Phil Steele's College Football and was a rivals.com first-team Freshman All-Pac 12 performer. Phil Steele's also tabbed him mid-season third-team All-Pac 12. He was a three-time honorable mention Intersport Performer of the Week selection for his efforts against Colorado State (43.7 average on seven punts), Oregon (43.2, 12) and UCLA (44.0, 6). He averaged 42.6 yards per punt, with a 38.8 net figure; 21 of his 74 kicks placed inside-the-20 (eight inside-the-10, three inside-the-5) and 17 traveling 50 yards or longer with 57 his longest. His 21-to-2 ratio of inside-the-20 punts to touchbacks was fourth best in the nation and only 29 were returned, the longest for 31 yards; 20 were fair caught. He averaged 43.5 yards for 19 punts inside the CU 25, and 43.4 on 65 boots from the 50 or further out. His 42.6 average was the second-best by a freshman in the nation, trailing only LSU's Brad Wing (44.4 on 59 punts); it was the second highest ever by a CU frosh, behind a 43.7 figure in 2006 by DiLallo. The 74 punts were the second most for a single-season in school history, well over the previous most by a freshman, 47, also by DiLallo; his net average of 38.8 set a CU freshman record, besting DiLallo's 38.5 mark. Against Oregon, he placed six punts inside-the-20, setting a CU single-game record as it topped the five that Mitch Berger had against Texas in 1993; four of those were inside-the-10, also a school best as several had done it three times. He joined the team as a walk-on in spring practices, trying out as a punter; it was the first time he had ever played organized football.

2010 (Fr.)—He attended Colorado as a student, but was not a member of the football team; however, his NCAA “clock” started once he enrolled and started taking classes.

HIGH SCHOOL—He lettered three times in both basketball and soccer for Boulder’s Fairview High. He was the Max Preps Player of the Year as a senior in basketball, earning first-team All-Colorado, All-State (5A) and All-Front Range League honors in leading Fairview to a 22-6 record and to the state championship game (where the Knights lost to Regis, 68-58). He averaged 23.4 points per game (609 total in 28 games), with a career-high of 42 against Chatfield, a game in which he went 21-of-23 from the free throw line. He had nine games with 30 or more points, eclipsing 40 on two occasions. In fact, he made 191 of 213 free throws on the year (89.7 percent), shot 49 percent from the field (30-of-85 three pointers, 35 percent) and also averaged 3.9 rebounds, 3.0 steals and 2.2 assists per game. As a junior, he averaged 10.5 points, 2.1 assists, 2.0 rebounds and 1.2 steals per game as Fairview was 26-1, not losing until the state semifinal game against George Washington (76-74). FHS was 62-18 in his three varsity seasons under coach Frank Lee, which included back-to-back 11-0 records in Front Range League play his junior and senior years. In soccer, playing forward for coach Stan Jozwiak, he scored 35 goals in his three-year career, including 13 his senior season when he earned honorable mention All-State honors. He had 12 goals as a junior and 10 as a sophomore.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Business (Accounting) at Colorado, and is the owner of a 3.43 grade point average. He earned second-team Pac-12 All-Academic Team honors as a junior and senior (and was honorable mention as a sophomore). He also earned first-team Academic All-Colorado honors from the state’s chapter of the National Football Foundation as a senior (the group’s inaugural team); the NFF (national) also honored him as a 2015 Hampshire Society team member.

PERSONAL—He was born December 21, 1991 in Cork, Ireland, the southernmost major city in the country, about 10 miles inland from the Celtic Sea. His family moved to the United States when he was three, but all their relatives are still in Ireland and they visit there every summer. His hobbies include playing basketball; in fact, the University of Denver recruited him as a basketball player. His father, Colm, is the owner and proprietor of Boulder’s popular restaurant, Conor O’Neill’s, located on 13th Street just off Boulder’s famous Pearl Street Mall. A younger brother, Shane, was a high school soccer All-American and signed with the Colorado Rapids organization in the summer of 2012; he is now a starting midfielder for the team. (First name is pronounced Dar-uh.)

28 WILL OLIVER, PK

5-11, 190, Sr., 4L, Los Angeles, Calif. (Harvard-Westlake)

AT COLORADO: Career Notes—He finished his CU career second all-time in both scoring and kick scoring (279 points), second in field goals made (50), second in field goal attempts (69), first in both extra points made (127) and attempted (129), second in PAT percentage (98.4) and third in field goal percentage (72.5). He is the first player in Colorado history to lead the team in scoring four straight seasons (three had been accomplished several times). He made the last 102 PAT kicks of his career, dating back to late in his freshman season, to set a school record (old mark was 66). He became the first regular kicker in CU annals to not miss an extra point try in two full seasons, and he did it three times. He kicked off 140 times in his career, with 64 going for touchbacks (38 out of the end zone). Combined, he had 200 placement kicks, making good on 179 of those (89.5 percent), and he was 11-of-13 on field goals in the fourth quarter or later in games (3-of-3 in overtimes).

2014 (Sr.)—He earned honorable mention All-Pac-12 honors from the league coaches and garnered second-team All-Colorado honors from the state's chapter of the National Football Foundation in leading the team in scoring with 90 points. He made good on 92 percent of his kicks (42-of-42 PAT, 16-of-21 FG) and had his best year kicking off, with 34 of 61 kickoffs going for touchbacks (21 through the end zone; of the 27 that were returned, seven never made out to the 20-yard line). At one point, he made nine consecutive field goals, tied for the second-longest streak in school history and one shy of tying the record; eight of those were 32 yards or longer (the streak came after he barely missed three field goals in a double overtime loss at Cal). He was on the official watch list (one of 30 players) for the Lou Groza Award, presented to the nation's top placekicker, but did not advance to semifinalist status. He was twice cited as a College Football Performance honorable mention player of the week, for his games against UCLA (3-3 FG; 4-4 PAT, 13 points; 35 FG tied game with 0:36 left, made 38 & 34 in OT) and Washington (3-3 FG; 2-2 PAT, 11 points; field goals of 32, 39 and 49). He was selected preseason third-team All-Pac-12 by Phil Steele's College Football and was a fourth-team choice by Athlon Sports. The coaches selected him as the recipient of the Jim Hansen Award for the spring, presented to the player who is the most outstanding academically.

2013 (Jr.)—He earned honorable mention All-Pac-12 honors as voted on by the league coaches, and was also one of 20 semifinalists for the Lou Groza Award, which is presented to the nation's top placekicker. The coaches named him the co-recipient of the Bill McCartney Award, given for special teams achievement. He led the team in scoring with 81 points, connecting on all 30 extra-point kicks (extending his streak to 60 in a row) and making good on 17-of-24 field goals (the same exact figures he had compiled over his first two seasons). He opened the year strong by scoring 15 points in CU's 41-27 win over Colorado State: he made all seven kicks he attempted in the game, three PATs and four field goals, which came from 22, 41, 44 and 52 yards, and he had two touchbacks kicking off; the Groza committee made him one of its "three stars of the week." He made three field goals in two other games, Oregon (3-of-3, from 33, 22 and 31 yards) and at UCLA (3-of-5, from 23, 47 and 37 yards). He drilled a career-long 53 yard field goal against Arizona, and also kicked a 48-yarder (both kicks were five minutes apart in the second quarter). The average distance of his makes was 33.6 yards (and misses from 46.3 yards), as he was 13-of-15 inside of 45 yards. He assumed the regular role of kicking off for the first time in his career with 56 total, 29 of which were returned; 26 went for touchbacks (16 through the end zone) with the other being fair caught. Of those kicks that were returned, nine did not make it back past the 25 and six not beyond the 20. He connected on 24-of-25 kicks in the four spring scrimmages.

2012 (Soph.)—He saw action in 11 games, and led the team in scoring with 46 points; he didn't have an opportunity to overly show his talents, attempting only eight field goals all year (made six). His long make was just 37 yards as he had one attempt all year over that distance (a 43-yard try that was blocked against Utah), and he converted all 28 extra-point kicks. He had his first real pressure PAT kick of his career (he had some critical field goal tries as a frosh) when he made the game-winner in CU's 35-34 win at Washington State. He also made a 30-yared field goal early in the fourth quarter that gave CU a 17-16 lead in the season opener against Colorado State, and drilled a 36-yarder as time expired to pull CU within 20-17 of Arizona State at halftime. He kicked off seven times, with the opponent starting on average at its own 23. He missed the last portion of spring practice due to a chronic shoulder issue, but was deadly before he was sidelined. He made good of 9-of-10 kicks in three main spring scrimmages (he sat out the spring game), with a long of 58 and the average distance of his makes covering 48.6 yards — his miss was from 60 and it was wide left, not short.

2011 (Fr.)—He saw action in 12 games, setting a school record for the most points scored (62) by a freshman in CU history, besting the old mark by 10 points (Mason Crosby scored 52 in 2003). He also set frosh school marks for field goals made (11) and attempted (16) while making good on 29-of-31 PAT kicks. In just his second game, Oliver was named one of the three "Stars of the Week" by the Lou Groza Award, as he kicked four field goals and three extra points in CU's 36-33 overtime loss to California. He nailed a 32-yarder to send the game into overtime in the final minute, made a 22-yarder to account for CU's OT scoring, and in the first half, made good on a 52-yard kick that was the longest by a freshman in CU history and the longest in the nation by a true freshman in 2011 (the second-longest by any freshman and just one of three of 50 yards or longer by all frosh; it tied for the 22nd longest in the nation and the third longest in the Pac-12 in 2011). He opened 6-of-6 in field goal attempts, the first player at Colorado to make his first six field goals in a career in a single season (old mark was five by Crosby in 2003). He missed out tying the record for the most consecutive made field goals to start a Buff career (7, by Jeremy Flores, over two seasons, 2000-01); his seventh try was blocked by Washington State as the right side of the FG/PAT unit was overrun on the attempt. He bounced back to make two 48-yard efforts, however, and the average distance of his 11 makes were 37.2 yards. He also made his first 22 career PAT tries before missing wide left against Arizona, though that miss was aided by winds gusting to 60 miles per hour. While just 6-of-10 on field goals inside 40 yards as the four misses were all blocked, he was a very impressive 5-of-6 outside of 40 yards. He became just the seventh true freshman to attempt a placekick in Colorado history, joining Tim Mangnall (1976), Tom Field (1979), Ken Culbertson (1986), Eric Hannah (1987), Mason Crosby (2003) and Justin Castor (2010); he joined Field and Crosby as the only ones to play in the season opener.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he was ranked the No. 31 kicker in the nation by ESPN, No. 5 from California; kicking “guru” Chris Sailer ranked him as the No. 12 kicking prospect in the country when he was named first-team All-Mission League as a kicker and first-team All-Area as a punter. As a junior, he was a first-team All-Del Ray League performer before his school switched league affiliations. In his prep career, he connected on 18-of-23 field goals and 50-of-50 PAT kicks for 104 total points; his senior season he made 6-of-9 field goals and all 25 extra-point kicks for 43 points. Two of his field goals came from 40-plus yards and his kickoffs resulted in touchbacks 85 percent of the time. He punted for the first time as a senior, averaging 38.0 yards per punt, pinning nine inside-the-20 (with a long of 59). As a junior, he hit 6-of-8 field goals with four makes from 43 yards or longer, including kicks from 51 and 50 yards. He made good on all 10 point after touchdown tries, with 80 percent of his kickoffs resulting in touchbacks. As a sophomore, he was perfect: 6-of-6 on field goals and 15-of-15 PAT’s, for 33 points. He was the National Kicking Event Prep Camp Champion in the summer of 2010, and the year before, he was a two-time finalist in the field goal kicking events at two separate Chris Sailer camps. He also lettered in lacrosse and soccer, the only student at H-W in each of his sophomore, junior and senior seasons to be a three-sport varsity athlete; he was presented with the prestigious Schumacher Award as a senior which is given to the outstanding three-sport performer who contributes the most to the athletic program. In lacrosse, as a crease attack man, he scored a school and a Mission League record 56 goals as a senior (the old mark had been 45), which also included a record nine goals in one game (old mark was six); he was the league MVP leading his team to a 13-1 record, including an 8-0 mark in conference play. As a junior he tallied 31 goals and one assist and was named the team’s offensive most valuable player; as a sophomore, he injured his thumb after just three games but had already scored eight goals. His 95 career foals shattered the old mark of 80 for both H-W and the league. He also lettered in hockey, but for Venice High School because there weren’t enough kids to compose a hockey team at Harvard-Westlake. Prior to settling on those four sports, in middle school he also played water polo, baseball, tennis and ran track.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Business (Finance) and is also working toward his Master’s in Accounting on a concurrent basis; he is interested in sports management or sports marketing as a career choice. He was inducted into CU’s prestigious 4.0 GPA club for his perfect mark for the Fall 2013 semester, and has made the Dean’s List for six of seven semesters. He was Colorado’s nomination for one of the 18 prestigious National Football Foundation Scholar-Athlete awards; he did not make the finalists but was honored by the NFF as a 2015 Hampshire Society team member. He was the inaugural recipient of the NFF/Colorado Chapter’s Student-Athlete of the Year, awarded for the first time in 2014 for academic and athletic achievement. He earned first-team Pac-12 All-Academic Team honors as a junior with a 3.67 grade point average, and was a second-team selection as a senior and a sophomore. He earned first-team Academic All-Colorado honors from the state’s chapter of the National Football Foundation as a senior (the group’s inaugural team). Following his senior year, he was the recipient of the team’s Dean Jacob Van Ek Award for academic excellence. He was a member of the Honor Roll in high school maintaining above a 3.2 GPA at Harvard-Westlake, which in April 2010 was ranked the No. 12 prep school in the country by Forbes and the top one of its kind west of the Mississippi River.

PERSONAL—He was born November 23, 1992 in Santa Monica, Calif. His hobbies include playing the viola in his school’s symphony orchestra and playing most other sports. His family owned a house until he was 10 years old in Aspen, where he learned to both play hockey and ski. He worked for two years as an usher at the Hollywood Bowl, the famous amphitheater set against the backdrop of the famous Hollywood sign and hills. He also dedicated some of his spare time to the Riviera Foundation and volunteers teaching kids how to play tennis. He requested a switch from No. 91 he wore as a freshman to No. 28 because he is a devout Los Angeles Kings fan; Luc Robitaille, former player and currently in the Kings’ front office, introduced him to Adam Deadmarsh, the one-time Avalanche and former Kings player who wore... No. 28.

56 JUDA PARKER, DL

6-2, 270, Sr., 4L, Aiea, Hawai'i (St. Louis)

AT COLORADO: 2014 (Sr.)—He started all 12 games at one of the two defensive tackle positions, playing a total of 512 snaps from scrimmage (a career-high). He was in on 31 tackles overall, 16 solo with one-and-a-half quarterback sacks. He had three tackles for zero, three third down stops and three quarterback hurries to go with a fumble recovery. He had a season-high five tackles (three solo, two for zero gains) at Arizona; he had four tackles in four other games (Massachusetts, Arizona State, UCLA and Oregon). He recorded his full sack at Southern California. He was CU's official nomination for two prestigious awards that involved extensive community service, the AFCA Good Works Team and the Lowe's Senior CLASS Award, and was elected by his teammates as one of six team captains for the 2014 season. He moved from defensive end to defensive tackle for spring practices, and looked good at his new position inside, as he entered the fall listed first at one of the two tackle spots and would start the entire year (he bulked up some 20 pounds for his new position). He was in on nine tackles (eight solo, two for losses) with a forced fumble in the four main spring scrimmages.

2013 (Jr.)—He saw action in all 12 games, including making starts in nine; he was in for 461 snaps from scrimmage (over 100 more than he played combined as an underclassman). He recorded 28 tackles, 18 solo with a quarterback sack and a tackle for zero; he also had two quarterback pressures, a third down stop, fumble recovery and a pass broken up. He had a career/season-high seven tackles against Oregon (five solo), along with a hurry in playing 71 snaps, the most in a game in his career; he posted four tackles in two other games (Charleston Southern, at UCLA), while his fumble recovery came at Arizona State. He participated on a limited basis in spring practice, as he completed rehabilitation from off-season shoulder surgery, but was 100 percent come August drills. He won the Iron Buffalo Award for the defensive linemen for spring conditioning in the weight room.

2012 (Soph.)—He saw action in all 12 games (no starts), playing 241 snaps from scrimmage as he worked his way into the basic rotation at defensive end. He was in for 19 tackles (14 solo, one for a loss), with one third down stop and three quarterback hurries. He had a season/career-high four tackles against both Arizona State and Oregon (three solo in each game); he also had three tackles, all unassisted, against Colorado State. He added two tackles on special teams duty, one of which was a solo stop on a two-point conversion run attempt by Southern California. Following the season, he had surgery on Nov. 30 to mend some chronic issues he was experiencing with one of his shoulders. He had a solid spring and recorded seven tackles in the main scrimmages.

2011 (Fr.)—He saw action in nine games, including one start (versus Washington State), just the sixth true freshman to start at least one game at defensive end/outside linebacker since 1973. He was in for 109 plays from scrimmage, making six tackles (all solo), with two tackles for loss, a third down stop and a tackle for zero gain. He had two solo tackles at Arizona State, one a third down stop and a tackle for loss, with one tackle in four other games. He was the recipient of the Buffalo Leadership and Initiative Award for all CU athletic freshmen, as the honor is given for outstanding initiative and demonstration to strong commitment to service to the CU and Boulder communities.

HIGH SCHOOL—A SuperPrep All-Far West selection, as he was the No. 51 player in that region (No. 4 from Hawai'i) and the fifth-rated defensive end overall. Rivals.com ranked him the No. 28 defensive end in the country and No. 1 player from Hawai'i while Scout.com ranked him the No. 36 defensive end in the country and No. 2 player in the state. He earned mention on the prestigious Tacoma News-Tribune Western 100 team as he was one of 19 defensive linemen. He participated in the Army All-American Bowl and was a headliner in the game, recording six tackles, a fumble recovery and had two big special teams plays, blocking one field goal and tackling the kicker for a sack on a fake kick attempt. At the National Underclassmen Football Combine, the coaches placed him on the offensive line, where he had never played, and he came away with the OL Most Valuable Player Award for the camp. The Honolulu Advertiser named him the state's Defensive Player of the Year and the No. 4 prospect from Hawai'i. He earned the ILH Defensive Player of the Year honors as well, and was named first-team All-State and All-ILH; he had earned second-team All-ILH honors as a junior. He had a monster senior season, recording 65 tackles which included 24 for losses and 16 quarterback sacks; he added three forced fumbles, several batted passes and what he termed, "too many quarterback hurries to count." St. Louis' defense allowed 13 points or less in seven games and just one score in five games to go with one shutout. One of his top games as a senior came against Iolani, when he posted 11 tackles, two sacks, at least eight pressures and a forced fumble in an all-around dominant performance. St. Louis was 11-1 and the ILH and state champions under coach John Hao. He transferred to St. Louis his senior season after his previous school since seventh grade, Word of Life Academy, a school with under 300 students, was in the process of closing down mainly due to financial issues.

ACADEMICS—He graduated with a degree in Communication from Colorado in December 2014. He earned mention on his high school Honor Roll every semester as a prep and maintained a 3.5 grade point average. He was the recipient of the 2012 and 2014 Buffalo Leadership and Initiative awards (freshman and junior years), presented to the student-athlete who has exhibited outstanding initiative and demonstrates a strong commitment to service to both CU and the Boulder community.

PERSONAL—He was born May 11, 1993 in Honolulu, Hawai'i. His hobbies include lifting weights and hanging out with his friends. An uncle, Brian Norwood, played football at Hawai'i and is currently the associate head coach and defensive coordinator at Baylor. A cousin, Jordan Norwood, was on the practice squad for the Cleveland Browns as a wide receiver in 2010, and also was on the Philadelphia Eagles' roster after his collegiate career at Penn State. Another cousin, Levi Norwood, plays football at Baylor and an older cousin, Gabriel Norwood, is a professional basketball player in the Philippines. He has completed numerous hours of community service through his church and high school, spending time with children during Sunday School and helping feed the homeless during the holidays. He was part of an ambassador's program at St. Louis and served as a host and tour guide to new students. At CU, he participates in Read with the Buffs (CU's program for fifth-graders) as well as in "Buffalo Hugs" (hospitalized children), assembles food baskets at The Pantry (Longmont, Colo.), personalizing them for families in need and delivers them as well; has donated blood and bone marrow; he serves as the lead liaison for the team with the Friends of Jaclyn Organization where he works with children with brain cancer; one of the student leaders with CU's Healthy Kids Day; and is the football team's representative to CU's SAAC (Student-Athlete Advisory Committee).

88 KYLE SLAVIN, TE

6-4, 245, Sr., 3L, Littleton, Colo. (Chatfield)

AT COLORADO: 2014 (Sr.)—He played in all 12 games, including nine starts, as he made 11 receptions on the year for 111 yards, an average of 10.1 per catch (four of the catches went for 10 or more yards). His top game stat-wise was against Washington, when he caught three passes for 36 yards; he made receptions in eight games, and also had two (for 17 yards) against UCLA. On special teams, he played all 63 snaps on the FG/PAT unit and had one knockdown block on return unit duty. He was the co-recipient of the Tom McMahon Award as selected by the coaches; the honor is for great dedication and work ethic. In the spring, he won the Iron Buffalo Award for the tight ends for his work in the weight room.

2013 (Jr.)—He played in all 12 games, including starting on nine occasions, and also saw significant time on special teams. Primarily used in blocking situations, he did catch nine passes for 68 yards and a touchdown. His top game was at UCLA, when he caught three passes for 23 yards, with his other multi-catch game against Colorado State in the opener (two for 12 yards). His TD reception covered 10 yards from Sefo Liufau in the California game, giving the Buffaloes a 10-0 lead at the time. On special teams, he recorded 11 knockdown blocks on the kickoff return unit; those are credited with clearing the path for additional yardage on a return.

2012 (Soph.)—He played in all 12 games, including three starts, making 14 receptions for 109 yards (7.8 per) and a touchdown; eight of his grabs earned first downs (both of his third down catches earned firsts). His first career catch was for a touchdown, covering nine yards against Sacramento State. He caught three balls for 20 yards in two games, at Washington State and versus Arizona State. He also saw action on special teams (recording one point, a knockdown block). He improved during the spring, and caught three passes for 32 yards in main scrimmage action.

2011 (Fr.-RS)—He saw action in seven games on offense and special teams, making one start, versus Washington State when the offense opened in a two-tight end set. He did not have any receptions, but had one knockdown block on kickoff return unit duty. He had a solid spring, catching five passes for 68 yards and two touchdowns in the three main spring scrimmages. Three of those receptions for 50 yards came in the spring game, including touchdowns that covered 22 and seven yards.

2010 (Fr.)—Redshirted; practiced the entire fall at tight end. He was the Scout Team Special Teams Award winner for the Georgia game.

HIGH SCHOOL—The first signee to commit in June of 2009, he earned All-Region honors from PrepStar and SuperPrep, where he was ranked as the No. 48 player from the midlands and was the third tight end on that list. He was one of seven tight ends named to the prestigious Tacoma News-Tribune Western 100 list. Rivals.com ranked him as the No. 11 player from Colorado while Scout.com ranked him the No. 45 tight end and ESPN ranked him as the No. 53 tight end in the country. In his career, he had 100 receptions for 1,298 yards and eight touchdowns. As a senior, he earned All-Colorado (all classifications) as a defensive end and All-State (5A) as a tight end by the Denver Post. He also earned first-team All-Big 8 league honors on both offense and defense and was named first-team All-Area by the Columbine Courier. On offense as a senior, he caught 40 passes for 412 yards while on defense, he had 68 tackles, 12 sacks, 10 pass break-ups and eight forced fumbles. Against Columbine, he had eight catches on offense and 12 tackles as Chatfield came back from a 13-0 deficit to win 16-13 on a 46-yard field goal as time expired. Against Bear Creek, he had six catches on offense and 10 tackles on defense. As a junior, he earned second-team All-Big 8 Conference honors and was the team's second leading receiver with 41 catches for 605 yards and four touchdowns. He led the team in receiving as a sophomore and earned second-team All-Big 8 Conference honors, catching 19 passes for 291 yards and four touchdowns. Against Pomona his sophomore year, he had three key catches as Chatfield defeated the second-ranked team in the state. He also lettered three times in basketball, averaging 4.1 points and 2.8 rebounds as a senior for a 20-5 Chatfield team.

ACADEMICS—He graduated with a degree in Communication at Colorado in December 2013; he is currently pursuing a second major in Political Science. He was an honorable mention selection to the Pac-12 All-Academic Team as a senior, and he earned honorable mention Academic All-Colorado honors from the state's chapter of the National Football Foundation as a senior (the group's inaugural team). In high school, he was twice named to Chatfield's Honor Roll (3.5 or higher GPA for the semester).

PERSONAL—He was born August 31, 1991 in Walnut Creek, Calif. His hobbies include playing lacrosse, video games, lifting weights and hanging out with his friends. His family has been CU football season ticket holders for 20 years and he has been coming to Folsom Field for as long as he can remember and his parents and grandparents all attended CU. His grandfather, Jack Anderson, played baseball at CU and was a long-time member of the CU Board of Regents, where he was a key figure in CU's change to blue uniforms in the early 1980s. His football team volunteered at the Denver Rescue Mission and served food and he has volunteered through his church, packaging and shipping food.

41 TERREL SMITH, S

5-9, 190, Sr., 4L, Paterson, N.J. (Passaic County Tech)

AT COLORADO: Career Notes—He finished his Colorado career tied for 70th in total tackles (196; 20th among defensive backs), with his 130 unassisted tackles the 45th most on the list. He also tied for fifth in special team tackles (34; his 24 solo were the fourth-most), and his 65 special team points tied for the seventh most in school history.

2014 (Sr.)—He saw action in 11 games on special teams and in seven on defense (five starts, all in the last half of the season); he missed the Washington game with a concussion he suffered on the next to last play in regulation against UCLA the week before. He was in for 291 snaps from scrimmage, recording 30 tackles (23 solo), with five third down stops, a tackle for zero and two touchdown saves. He had 11 tackles (10 solo) at Oregon, and racked up 10 tackles (eight solo) in playing all 85 snaps at Arizona. He finished fourth on the team in special team points with 22, as he was in on 10 tackles (five solo, three inside-the-20), to go with seven knockdown blocks, a downed punt and a caused penalty. He was elected by his teammates to serve as one of six team captains for the 2014 season. He only participated in spring practice on a limited basis as he finished rehabilitation from shoulder surgery the previous September.

2013 (Sr.-RS)—He decided to use a redshirt year available to him and opted to have a chronic shoulder injury repaired; he underwent surgery on September 5 and started the rehabilitation process soon thereafter.

2012 (Jr.)—He played in all 12 games, including seven starts, and was CU's second-leading tackler with 70 (48 solo). He recorded a team-high seven touchdown saves and added three third down stops, three passes broken up, two fumble recoveries and three quarterback pressures. He had a season-high 12 tackles (seven solo) and a fumble recovery against Arizona State, with 11 (eight solo) at Oregon; he had six games in all with eight or more tackles. He earned 11 special team points, on the strength of five solo tackles (one of which was inside-the-20), two knockdown blocks, a downed punt, a forced fair catch and a caused penalty. He had a fine spring, with eight tackles and an interception in the main spring scrimmages.

2011 (Soph.)—He saw action in all 13 games, 11 on defense including six starts. He was in for exactly 400 snaps from scrimmage, recording 36 tackles (29 solo), with three third down stops, a quarterback chasedown (near sack) and an interception (which he made at Stanford). He had a season-high eight tackles (seven solo) against Southern California, with six (five solo) at Washington and five (four solo) versus Arizona; one of the stops against the Wildcats was a key fourth down stop when he sniffed out a fake punt attempt on UA's first drive of the second half. He led the team in special team tackles with 14 (11 solo, three inside-the-20) and he was second in overall points with 25; he also had three forced fair catches, two first downfield credits that altered returns, a touchdown save, a knockdown block and a caused penalty. His biggest tackle came on punt coverage, when he tackled Oregon's Cliff Harris in the end zone for a safety, helping the Buffs avert a shutout as those were CU's only points in a 45-2 loss. He was the special teams award winner for his efforts in the Colorado State game.

2010 (Fr.)—He was originally penciled in to redshirt, practicing at safety over the first half of the season, but after the season-ending injury to Anthony Perkins, he was "activated" and started the last six games of the year at strong safety (or in each one he appeared in). He finished fourth on the team in tackles with 60 (30 solo, two for losses), but his 10.0 average per game was a team-best; the 60 tackles were the third-most in a single-season by a true freshman in school history (behind Jordan Dizon, 85 in 2007, and J.J. Billingsley, 67 in 2002). In 414 snaps from scrimmage, he also had a quarterback sack, one tackle for zero, three third down stops, a pass broken up and an interception, the latter coming at Kansas. In his first career game against Texas Tech, he tied the school record for the most tackles in a game by a true freshman with 15 (four solo including his sack); he matched the mark set by J.J. Billingsley against San Diego State in 2002. He then took over the record for himself in the season finale at Nebraska, recording what would be a career-high 17 tackles (11 solo); that matched the overall freshman mark by Matt Russell, who had 17 at Oklahoma State in 1993. Those were his two double-figure tackle games, and he also had nine (four solo) at Kansas and eight (five solo) at Oklahoma. He had seven special team points on the strength of five tackles (three solo, one-inside-the 20) and a knockdown block. He was one of seven true freshmen to play for the Buffs in 2010.

HIGH SCHOOL—He earned third team All-State, first-team All-Passaic County and first-team All-Tri County A League honors as a senior (he was also first-team All-League as a junior). Started both ways for three seasons (running back, safety), and broke into the starting lineup on defense the second half of his freshman season. As a senior, he rushed for 1,261 yards on 215 attempts (5.9 per), with 10 touchdowns and seven 100-yard games; on defense, he racked up 117 tackles (61 solo), with three interceptions, 24 passes broken up and two forced fumbles. He returned 20 punts for 232 yards (11.6 per) and a touchdowns, and averaged 17.2 yards on 13 kickoff returns. As a junior, he had 185 carries for 936 yards and 6 TDs, with 87 tackles (49) solo on defense, where he also had four pass deflections, two forced fumbles, on recovery and an interception. He returned five punts for 98 yards (19.6 per) with a touchdown, and averaged 20.1 for 12 kickoff returns. He had 392 yards as a sophomore (90 carries, 3 touchdowns), with 60 tackles on defense (31 solo), with five passes broken up, an interception and a caused fumble. He had 13 tackles, 12 solo, his freshman year. Top games as a senior included a 25-22 win over Clifton, when he rushed for a career-high 234 yards (on just 22 carries, or 10.6 per), and had 13 tackles on defense; a 35-0 win over Bloomfield, when he scored four touchdowns (two rushing, one receiving and one via punt return); and in a 22-15 win over rival Passaic, when he rushed for 133 yards and two scores, with 10 tackles and two PBU's. One of his best games as a junior came in a 14-0 loss to Milford, when he rushed 33 times for 181 yards. Under coach John Iurato, PCT was 8-3 his senior year, reaching the state playoffs, and was 6-4 his junior season, 4-6 his sophomore campaign and 2-8 as a freshman. He also lettered three times in track (sprints, freshman through junior years).

ACADEMICS—He graduated with a degree in Communication and Ethnic Studies from Colorado in December 2014. He owned a 3.1 grade point average as a prep and made the Principal's Honor Roll as a senior.

PERSONAL—He was born August 29, 1992 in Passaic, N.J. His hobbies include fishing, bowling, movies and video games. (First name is pronounced ter-rel.)

42 K.T. TU'UMALO, LB

6-2, 220, Sr., 4L, Honolulu, Hawai'i (Punahou)

AT COLORADO: 2014 (Sr.)—He saw action in all 12 games, all on special teams and in one on defense (two snaps at Southern California). He earned three special team points on the strength of one assisted tackle and two knockdown blocks. He had five tackles and a forced fumble in the spring game.

2013 (Jr.)—He saw action in 11 games, one on defense, but in all of those on special teams. In his one game on defense, which came against Southern California, he was in for 14 plays, making four tackles (all solo, one of which was a 1-yard quarterback sack) along with a third down stop. He earned seven points on special teams duty in CU's elaborate point scoring system on the strength of three tackles (one solo, one inside-the-20) and three knockdown blocks. He opened the year practicing at "will" inside linebacker position, but eventually practiced at "sam" outside spot as well; he returned to linebacker from the safety position, where he had moved to (from linebacker) as a sophomore.

2012 (Soph.)—He saw action in nine games (no starts), all on special teams and in one on defense. He was in for 16 snaps against Oregon, where he made four tackles, three of which were solo stops that included a tackle for zero gain and a third down stop. He finished fourth on the team in special team points with 18, on the strength of five tackles (two solo, two inside-the-20), six knockdown blocks, two forced fair catches, a caused penalty, a first downfield credit that altered the path of the return and a forced fumble. He moved from safety to linebacker during the spring, eventually settling on the outside.

2011 (Fr.)—He saw action in eight games, five on defense (no starts). In 78 plays from scrimmage, he had eight tackles (four solo), with a third down stop and pass broken up. He played in the season opener on special teams, appearing in his native Hawai'i. He saw the bulk of his defensive play against Oregon, when he was in for 56 plays; he had six tackles, three solo, with the third down stop and PBU; he had two tackles the next game at Arizona State.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he was ranked the No. 5 player in Hawai'i by Rivals.com (the No. 2 linebacker) and the No. 13 player in the state by ESPN, but the top linebacker on its list. He earned third-team All-State honors (Honolulu Advertiser), was named first-team All-ILH and was the Defensive Most Valuable Player for Punahou. He racked up 97 total tackles, with 18 for losses including 12 quarterback sacks, along with two interceptions, two fumble recoveries and once caused fumble. Offensively, in spot duty as a running back, he ran the ball 10 times for 107 yards and a touchdown. As a junior, he had 67 tackles overall, 10 which went for losses including six sacks, to go with one forced fumble and a blocked kick he returned for a touchdown. Playing behind Manti Te'o as a sophomore, he saw action in spot duty on defense and had one interception returned for a touchdown. He saw action on every special teams unit his sophomore and junior seasons, recording many tackles and other big hits. Under head coach Kale Ane, Punahou compiled a record of 23-9 his three years, including a 12-1 record that culminated with an ILH and Hawai'i state championship his sophomore season. He lists his top game as his senior year against St. Louis, when despite suffering a sprained MCL, he remained in the game and registered two sacks in addition to neutralizing some key players on the opposite side of the ball. He also lettered once in basketball, with Punahou taking third place in the state as a junior, and three times in track (sprints and relays). He competed in the 200- and 400-meter dashes and the 4x400 relay, the latter on a team that won the state title three times (sophomore through senior seasons), helping PHS to the state title twice (and to within a half-point for a third one when he was a sophomore). He took second place in the 400-meter dash as a junior (49.7) and fourth as a senior (50.2). His fastest time in the 200 was a 23.0 when he was a sophomore, with a 23.2 clocking his best as a senior.

ACADEMICS—He graduated from Colorado with a degree in Communication in December 2014. He maintained a 3.0 grade point average as a prep and is the first person in his extended family to attend college.

PERSONAL—He was born April 29, 1992 in Honolulu, Hawai'i. His hobbies include going to the beach, body surfing and music; he loves to mix and edit songs and is interested in becoming a disc jockey. In his free time during his senior year in high school, he spent time tutoring kids at his former middle school. First name is actually Kyle, but goes by his initials. (Last name is pronounced two-ooh-mah-low.)

13 RICHARD YATES II, DB

6-2, 190, Sr., 3L, Lakewood, Colo. (Kent Denver)

AT COLORADO: Note—He decided to forego his senior of eligibility and graduate on schedule.

2014 (Jr.)—He saw action in all 12 games, all on special teams and in two on defense (Arizona, Oregon). He was called upon for the first time to see scrimmage action at Arizona, as he replaced an injured Evan White at free safety; he responded with five tackles (all solo, including two touchdown saves) in 38 plays. He was in for nine plays in the next game at Oregon (no stats). He finished seventh on the team in special team points with 16, as he had four tackles (two solo, one inside-the-20) and 11 knockdown blocks on return unit duty. He was the co-recipient of the Tom McMahon Award as selected by the coaches; the honor is for great dedication and work. He had a very active spring, recording nine tackles (seven solo, including a quarterback sack and a tackle for zero), along with a third down stop and a forced fumble in the four main scrimmages.

2013 (Soph.)—He saw action in all 12 games, all on special teams; he tied for third on the team with 15 points in CU's elaborate special teams scoring system. He was in on four tackles (one solo) and had 11 knockdown blocks on the kickoff return unit which helped clear the path for additional yardage.

2012 (Fr.-RS)—He saw action in 10 games on special teams, but did not get in on defense. He recorded six knockdown blocks on return unit duty to help clear the way for the return man. He had seven tackles (three solo) in the main spring scrimmages but missed the spring game with a mild knee sprain.

2011 (Fr.)—Redshirted; practiced the entire fall in the secondary. An invited walk-on, he joined team for August camp.

HIGH SCHOOL—As a senior, he earned first-team All-State honors from the Denver Post at defensive back, along with earning first-team All-2A Colorado League accolades at both quarterback and safety; he was the league's offensive and defensive player of the year. He recorded 143 tackles, which included 101 solo, to go with five interceptions, nine passes broken up, six forced fumbles and three recoveries. On offense, he completed 98-of-160 passes (61.3 percent) for 1,450 yards and 17 touchdowns, while throwing just four interceptions. Two of his top games his senior year came in the playoffs: in a 21-14 quarterfinal win over Aspen, he scored from a yard out to put his team ahead in overtime, and then intercepted a pass in the end zone to end the game. Then in a 29-25 loss to Brush in the semifinals a week later, he set a school record with 32 tackles, which also included a record 24 unassisted; however, Brush won the game on the last play. He did not play his junior season until the state playoffs, as he suffered a torn ACL playing in summer league basketball; when he returned, he saw action solely on defense and special teams in four playoff games, making 10 tackles with an interception, a forced fumble and the recovery (all three of the later against Erie). As a sophomore, when he was honorable mention All-League at quarterback, he threw for 905 yards and nine touchdowns, while rushing for 106 yards and another two scores. Kent Denver was 10-3 his senior season, claiming the 2A Colorado League title, was 11-3 his junior season (the 2A state runner-up), 10-2 his sophomore year and 6-4 his freshman campaign (6-0 in league play and Colorado League champs) under coach Scott Yates, his father. He also lettered three times in basketball (guard/forward), with KDS the Metro League champions his sophomore and junior seasons, and four times in baseball (catcher/outfielder). As a senior, he was a first-team All-3A/2A Metro League performer as an outfielder, batting .354.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Mechanical Engineering at Colorado and is the owner of a 3.55 grade point average. He earned second-team Pac-12 All-Academic Team honors both as a sophomore and redshirt freshman. He earned first-team Academic All-Colorado honors from the state's chapter of the National Football Foundation as a junior (the group's inaugural team); the NFF (national) also honored him as a 2015 Hampshire Society team member. As a senior at Kent Denver School, he was a finalist for two of the most prestigious prep awards that combine athletic and academic achievement in the state of Colorado, the Freddie Steinmark Award and the John Lynch Scholarship Award.

PERSONAL—He was born September 8, 1992 in Lakewood, Colo. His hobbies include fishing, hunting and playing guitar, and he also has earned his black belt in Taekwondo. His father, Scott, lettered at safety for the Buffs as a senior in 1979, and an uncle, Shannon Yates lettered in football at the Air Force Academy.
