Other Tidbits / Did You Know?

- Romeo Bandison lists as the one person he most would most like to meet as American entrepreneur Russell Simmons, the co-founder of the hip-hop label Def Jam among his many accomplishments.
- Greg Brown scored on his first play at UTEP as a collegian and never came close to scoring again.
- Brian Cabral was the special teams captain of the Super Bowl champion 1985 Chicago Bears; however, he did not appear in the infamous Super Bowl Shuffle song and video recorded that season. He was on hand to participate, but the session was running two hours late and he had to get to another appointment. He let us in on this secret: "It was pretty prophetic; we filmed it in week seven."
- That while the very low-key Ron Collins loves to golf, he was so frustrated in his first Casotti Classic that he actually tossed his golf bag in a creek.
- Bob Foster is a vocalist and has performed the National Anthem quite a few times prior to sporting events.
- Darian Hagan lists the 1991 Orange Bowl (national championship game for CU vs. Notre Dame) as the most memorable sporting event in his life, despite being injured (torn ACL) late in the first half.
- Dan Hawkins said if he hadn't met his wife, Misti, when he did, he says he likely would have been destined to be a "football monk."
- Hawkins' first car is also one he would love to find and buy in original condition: a 1959 Chevy Stepside Slant 6 Automatic Pickup Truck.
- Denver Johnson was already familiar with Ralphie, CU's live mascot, before he came to Boulder. As a graduate assistant on the Oklahoma State coaching staff in 1985, he was wandering on the field, when as he puts it, "I look around and here came a rather large buffalo running toward me with some young people dangling at the end of ropes."
- Eric Kiesau is good friends with Adam Durwitz, the lead singer of the Counting Crows? Durwitz, a Cal-Berkeley grad, always used to go to the Bears' football practices (Eric said he'd miss sound checks to be at some of them).
- Kent Riddle spent six years on the Army staff and some of his greatest memories were the opportunities to hear some of our greatest generals like Norman Schwarzkopf speak in rooms that held less than 100 people.

LATE BIOS

One junior college transfer and several walk-ons joined the program either in camp or after the Colorado State game. Below are bios of the eight players who went through the full August camp and two who joined the team after the CSU game:

17 TONEY CLEMONS, WR

6-2, 205, Jr., TR, New Kensington, Pa. (Valley/Michigan)

AT COLORADO: This Season (Jr.)—He will sit out due to NCAA transfer rules, but he will practice all season at wide receiver.

AT MICHIGAN (2007, 2008/ Fr., Soph.)— Played in 19 games and made three starts at Michigan in two seasons, earning a varsity letter both his freshman and sophomore campaigns. He caught 12 passes for 106 yards in his career. As a sophomore in 2008, played nine games and made one start, hauling in 11 passes for 101 yards. He also had two rushes for six yards on laterals. He caught his career long pass, a 29-yarder, against Michigan State setting up a key score in that game. As a freshman in 2007, made his first career reception, and only one of the season, against Purdue and the play resulted in a five-yard gain. He also played in the 2008 Capital One Bowl on Jan. 1, 2008.

HIGH SCHOOL—He earned four-star status and was ranked as the No. 10 wide receiver in the country by Scout.com. He was also a four-star prospect by Rivals.com and was ranked the No. 12 receiver in the nation and the No. 3 player in the state of Pennsylvania. In his career, he had 100 receptions for 1,541 yards and 17 touchdowns. On defense, he produced eight interceptions, forced 13 fumbles and posted 217 tackles in his career. He also returned seven kicks for touchdowns, five punts and two kickoffs, in his career. As a senior, he was one of five finalists for the Gatorade Player of the Year in Pennsylvania after hauling in 39 passes for 665 yards and eight touchdowns for Valley High School under coach Troy Hill. He earned All-State honors at both wide receiver and defensive back and was named to the Harrisburg Patriot-News "Platinum 33." He also earned first-team All-Conference and was named to the Fab-22 team by the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette his senior season. After his senior season, he was selected to participate in the East-West game in Orlando. As a junior, he caught 43 passes for 666 yards and eight touchdowns and was named All-State and earned All-Conference mention as a wide receiver, defensive back, kick returner and punt returner and he was also named to the Pittsburgh Post-Gazette Fab-22 team. His sophomore season he tallied 33 catches for 642 yards. He also participated in track and field and in 2006, he also earned two Class AA state championships – in the long hurdles and 110-m high hurdles. He lettered four times in both track and field and basketball, where he owned a career scoring average of 15 points per game.

ACADEMICS—He is undecided on a major at Colorado but is interested in becoming a broadcaster.

PERSONAL—Born October 11, 1988 in Pittsburgh. He enjoys writing, reading and making music in his spare time. His brother, Wes, played football at California University (Pa.) and his sisters, Mycah and Mycaiah, both run track at the University of Pittsburgh. His cousin, Steve Breaston, played football at Michigan and is a member of the Arizona Cardinals, and he lists Breaston as his favorite athlete. He is also a cousin of Swin Cash, who won two NCAA championships in basketball at Connecticut. Cash is currently a member of the WNBA's Seattle Storm and was the MVP of the 2009 WNBA All-Star game, scoring an all-star record 22 points in the process and she also owns an Olympic Gold Medal in basketball from Athens in 2004.

89 MARIO CONTE, WR

5-10, 170, Fr., HS, Lakewood, Colo. (Mullen)

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.)—Projected as a wide receiver as a true freshman in college; joined the team as an invited walk-on for August drills.

HIGH SCHOOL—He earned honorable mention All-Centennial League honors as a senior when Mullen compiled a 12-1 record and won the 2008

Colorado 5A State Championship. In the title game, he led all players with 12 tackles. On the season, he compiled 91 tackles, including 13 for a loss and one sack. He also had two fumble recoveries, one forced fumble, eight passes broken up and one interception, which he returned 43 yards for a touchdown. He caught seven passes for 123 yards on offense. As a junior, he also earned honorable mention All-Centennial League honors as Mullen compiled an 11-1 mark. He had six interceptions, two of which he returned for touchdowns, to go with 73 tackles and four pass break-ups. He had 31 tackles and one interception as a sophomore. He lettered four times as Mullen compiled a 46-5 record in his time there under coach Dave Logan, who was an All-American wide receiver for CU in 1975. He also lettered twice in both basketball and lacrosse.

ACADEMICS—He is undecided on a major at Colorado but is interested in Architecture and Art Design. He was second-team Academic All-State from his sophomore through senior years at Mullen.

PERSONAL—Born June 2, 1991 in Denver. His hobbies include longboarding, listening to music and playing video games. His academic prowess is evident in the list of school's he chose to attend Colorado over, which include Dartmouth and Lehigh among others. Over a dozen of his high school teammates have gone on to play major college football, including current Buff Bryce Givens. He has a cousin, Joe Ciancio, who plays basketball at Metro State College.

61 SCOTT FERNANDEZ, DL

6-3, 260, Fr., HS, Broomfield, Colo. (Legacy)

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.)—Projected as a defensive lineman as a true freshman in college; joined the team as an invited walk-on for August drills.

HIGH SCHOOL—He lettered twice in football at Legacy High School as an offensive tackle under coach Wayne Voorhees. He rotated with the offensive line his junior season and then started all 11 games as a senior when Legacy compiled a 9-2 record and he gave up just two sacks on the entire season. Legacy was 18-5 in his two years there. He moved to Broomfield, Colo. from San Diego, where he attended La Jolla High School his freshman and sophomore years. At La Jolla, he played football both years but did not letter and he also played baseball for two seasons and basketball one season. He participated in the track and field team at Legacy as a junior and senior, competing in the shot put. At the Colorado 5A Region 2 track meet he recorded his personal best throw of 40'-10½", good for 12th place.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Business at Colorado and is also interested in Sociology.

PERSONAL—Born March 12, 1990 in Stockton, Calif. His hobbies include snowboarding and golf and his favorite musician is Jack Johnson. His father, Keith, also played football at Colorado but did not letter. He chose to attend Colorado because of the academics, the football program and the town. He was a high school classmate of fellow CU freshman Nick Kasa.

28 QUENTIN HILDRETH, TB

5-8, 190, Fr., HS, Aurora, Colo. (Denver East)

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.)—Projected as a running back as a true freshman in college; he joined the team as an invited walk-on for August drills.

HIGH SCHOOL—He earned honorable mention All-State from the Rocky Mountain News and honorable mention All-Colorado honors from the Denver Post as a senior in 2008 when he also earned first-team All-Central Metro League honors, as well. Over the course of his junior and senior seasons, he rushed for 2,442 yards and 28 touchdowns and he had a knack from scoring touchdowns from long distances. He scored from 40-plus yards out 15 times spanning his junior and senior seasons, including seven times from 70 yards or. As a senior, he rushed 183 times for 1,256 yards and 14 touchdowns and also had 12 receptions for 179 yards and a touchdown. He had six 100-yard rushing games and scored 18 touchdowns and was responsible for 19, as on top of his 14 rushing touchdowns, he had two on kickoffs, one on a punt return and one touchdown reception and also threw for a touchdown (while also having a 58-yard interception return that he didn't score on). He completed 6-of-7 passes on the season for 102 yards, returned 13 punts for 213 yards and had 12 kickoff returns for 404 yards. Defensively, he recorded seven tackles, one sack and had one interception and three pass break-ups. Against George Washington in a 42-0 victory, he had 204 yards rushing on just seven carries (29.4 per rush). He rushed for three touchdowns on runs of 57, 65 and 78 yards and also had a 94 yard kickoff return for a touchdown. Against Hinkley, he scored four touchdowns, including two rushing as well as scores on a 71 yard reception and 85 yard kickoff return. Against Highlands Ranch, he scored three touchdowns in a 49-30 win, including one from 74 yards out. East held a 35-30 lead entering the fourth quarter before he scored twice to put the game out of reach. He had 30 rushes for 194 yards and three touchdowns against Montbello and against Ranum, he scored on a 51 yard punt return and also had the 58-yard interception return in that game. He recalls the top moment of his high school career when East beat Thomas Jefferson, 21-20, for the first time in 30 years. He helped East to a 21-0 halftime lead with a score in the first half as the Angles held off a second-half rally. He earned first-team All-Central Metro League honors as a junior when he rushed 137 times for 1,186 yards and 14 touchdowns. He also had 10 receptions for 38 yards, eight punt returns for 94 yards and six kickoff returns for 142 yards. He scored 87 points, including 14 touchdowns, one two-point conversion and was 1-of-2 on points after touchdowns. Defensively, he recorded 12 tackles, two interceptions and four pass break-ups. He had 15 rushes for a career-best 256 yards (17.1 per rush) and four touchdowns against Overland in a 51-45 victory, including scoring runs of 64 and 80 yards. He scored three touchdowns against Fruita Monument off just 11 carries when he racked up 182 yards with scoring runs of 44, 58 and 61 yards. He had 17 rushes for 168 yards and three touchdowns against Brighton, with one of the touchdowns a 44 yard scamper. Against Thomas Jefferson, he had two rushing touchdowns, including one from 72 yards out. A four-year letterman under coach Ron Woolfork (a former buff linebacker from 1990-93), East was 7-4 his senior year and 8-3 his junior season, advancing to the second round of the state playoffs both years. He is also an accomplished basketball player, he earned four letters as the point guard on the two-time defending state championship squads. He also earned one letter in track while at East.

ACADEMICS—He is undecided on a major at Colorado.

PERSONAL—Born April 16, 1991 in Denver. He was a prep classmate of two current Buffs, DaVaughn Thornton and Zach Grossnickle, who both signed with Colorado in February. His hobbies include listening to music, playing basketball and video games.

49 TREVOR LaBARGE, TB

5-11, 210, Fr., HS, St. Louis, Mo. (Chaminade Prep)

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.)—Projected as a running back as a true freshman in college; he joined the team the second week of fall classes.

HIGH SCHOOL—He earned honorable mention All-State, All-St. Louis Metro Area and first-team All-Metro Catholic League honors as a senior when he also earned mention on the St. Louis "Super 30" squad and was a Chaminade Prep team captain. As a senior playing fullback, he rushed 95 times for 608 yards and 10 touchdowns, caught 13 passes for 163 yards and a touchdown and he also returned kickoffs, averaging 28.6 yards per return. He lists the biggest moment of his career when he was the lead blocker for teammate Rob Standard when he went over the 2,000 yard mark on the season. He was Standard's lead blocker as the state's leading rusher finished the season with 2,475 yards. His junior season, he earned second-team All-Metro Catholic League honors rushing 58 times for 325 yards and four touchdowns. He also had eight receptions for 101 yards and a touchdown through the air. He started 31 games and helped lead coach Doug Taylor and Chaminade to a 21-10 record (7-4 as a senior, 7-3 as a junior, 7-3 as a sophomore) during his three years which included two Metro Catholic League championships and a district championship his senior season.

ACADEMICS—He is majoring in Business at Colorado and is interested in International Business and in particular Japanese. He was a National Football Foundation scholar-athlete while in high school and a member of the national honors society.

PERSONAL—Born April 20, 1991 in St. Louis. His hobbies include strongman competitions and eating and he lists his favorite foods as everything. His favorite athlete is former Tampa Bay fullback Mike Alstott. He also considered Michigan State, Minnesota, Alabama State, Brown and Colorado State but choose CU because of its multiple-formation offense, the coaching staff and mountains. He calls himself an "old fashion, point of attack" fullback which he feels fits well at CU.

He lettered three times while Broomfield compiled a 25-9 record his time there, including 12-1 his junior season. As a senior, he compiled 127 tackles. His junior season, he totaled 65 tackles and had one interception. An accomplished wrestler, he lettered three times and was the state runner-up in 2009, falling 10-9 in three overtimes in the championship match and earning second-team All-State honors from the Denver Post at the 215-pound classification. He helped Broomfield win the Colorado 4A State Championship in the process. He didn't wrestle as a junior but also qualified for state as a freshman and sophomore. He lists the biggest moment of his prep career as making the championship match and wrestling in front of almost 20,000 fans at the Pepsi Center.

ACADEMICS—He plans on majoring in Electrical Engineering at Colorado and is also interested in Mechanical Engineering. He was an honor roll student in high school as both a junior and senior.

PERSONAL—Born April 20, 1991 in Thornton, Colo. Both of his parents played sports at Adams State College as, his dad, Mark, played football while his mom, Margaret, played volleyball and softball. He lists his favorite athlete as Ed Reed.

35 GEOFF SISSOM, LB

6-1, 220, Fr., HS, Greenwood, Ind. (Center Grove)

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.)—Projected as a defensive back as a true freshman in college; he joined the team the second week of fall classes.

HIGH SCHOOL—A four-year letterman at Center Grove High School in under coach Eric Moore, he earned All-Conference honors as senior linebacker helping Center Grove to a 14-1 record and an Indiana Class 5A State Championship in 2008. That season, he compiled 83 tackles (47 solo) with seven for a loss including five sacks. He forced four fumbles and recovered three while also intercepting three passes and breaking up two others. As a junior when Center Grove was 9-2 and advanced to the second round of the state playoffs, he had 64 tackles (35 solo) including nine for a loss and seven sacks. He forced three fumbles and broke up two passes, as well. His sophomore season he compiled 54 tackles (29 solo) and had four tackles for a loss including two sacks and forced two fumbles to go with one interception. As a freshman he had 33 tackles (16 solo) with one tackle for a loss and two pass break-ups. In his career, he totaled 234 tackles (127 solo) with 21 for a loss and 14 sacks. He forced nine fumbles, broke up six passes and had four interceptions. He also lettered three times in track and field competing in the shot put and discus.

ACADEMICS—He intends to major in Aerospace Engineering at Colorado. He earned Academic All-Conference honors his sophomore through senior seasons in high school.

PERSONAL—Born October 30, 1990 in Indianapolis. He also considered attending Army, Purdue and Stanford but choose Colorado because it was the best fit both academically and athletically. He lists his favorite movie as Moby Dick, his favorite book as The Odyssey and his favorite musician is Cat Stevens.

84 ALEX WOOD, TE

6-2, 240, Fr., HS, Steamboat Springs, Colo. (Steamboat Springs)

AT COLORADO: This Season (Fr.)—Projected as a tight end as a true freshman in college; he joined the team as an invited walk-on for August drills.

HIGH SCHOOL—A three-sport star who earned four letters each in football, basketball and baseball at Steamboat Springs High School, he earned All-Colorado Class 3A tight end by the Denver Post as a senior. That season, he caught 96 passes for 1,200 yards and nine touchdowns helping Steamboat Springs compile an 8-3 mark under coach Aaron Finch. Defensively, he compiled 75 tackles (50 solo) with seven for a loss and five sacks. He also had four interceptions, four pass break-ups, forced three fumbles and recovered two defensively. He was also honored as the Western Slope League Player of the Year and earned first-team All-Western Slope League honors in football. He earned the Steamboat Pilot and Today Routt County Male Athlete of the Year award for his performance in all three sports as a senior. His junior season he caught 90 passes for 965 yards and six touchdowns. That season, he had 80 tackles (40 solo) defensively with eight for a loss and two sacks. He also intercepted three passes and broke-up three others with one forced fumble. He earned honorable mention All-State by the Rocky Mountain News and Denver Post and was a first-team All-Western Slope League, as well. His sophomore season, he had 27 catches for 300 yards and two touchdowns offensively and 60 tackles (30 solo) with two tackles-for-loss and one sack defensively. He picked off two passes, broke-up two others and caused one fumble that season, as well, when Steamboat Springs went 10-2 and won the Western Slope championship. In his four seasons at Steamboat Springs, the team compiled a 37-11 record. In basketball, he was a power forward and averaged 9.5 points, 8.8 rebounds and 4.0 assists per game as Steamboat Springs won the Western Slope championship three years in a row from his sophomore through senior seasons compiling a 58-15 record. He earned first-team All-Western Slope honors both his junior and senior seasons. The top pitching threat on the baseball team, he compiled a 2.34 earned run average and hit .450 with three homeruns as a senior when he earned second-team All-State. He was a first-team All-Western Slope selection as a junior and senior in baseball.

ACADEMICS—He is undecided on a major at Colorado and is interested in Sports Medicine and has aspirations of being a college football coach after graduating. He earned Academic All-State recognition in both basketball and football each of his four years in high school.

PERSONAL—Born July 29, 1990 in Brunswick, Maine. He enjoys fishing and camping and lists Friday Night Lights as his favorite movie. He lists the Denver Broncos as his favorite NFL team and once met John Elway. He lists his favorite athletes as Tim Tebow and Dwight Howard.

COLORADO FOOTBALL INDIVIDUAL PLAYER NOTES

WIDE RECEIVER
6-3, 210, JR.

- His first career reception was a 44-yard toss from Cody Hawkins on the third play of the second half against Colorado State in the season opener. In 2008, the Buffs had just one pass play that accumulated more yards (a 68 yard reception by Riar Geer against Nebraska).
- Simmons' 44 yard reception against Colorado State is the longest first career reception since Jeremy Bloom's 94 yard touchdown reception from Robert Hodge against Kansas State on Oct. 5, 2002. Hodge-to-Bloom is the longest pass play in CU history.
- Simmons had to complete nine college courses from the time he signed with CU in February of 2009 and when he arrived on Campus in August of 2009.
- Simmons was a highly recruited player coming out of the junior college ranks, as he was preseason first-team All-America selection by The Sporting News prior to his sophomore season at Independence (Kan.) Community College in 2008. He was also rated the No. 35 overall junior college player regardless of position on the Rivals.com top 100.
- In high school, he was a first-team All-State, All-Region and All-Area player as a senior in Blackville-Hilda High School in South Carolina.
- Simmons has a 4-year-old son, Omarion, who lives in South Carolina with his mother, Thomasann Elmore. Omarion was born premature and weighed just two pounds at birth and spent his first nine months of life in the hospital. Simmons' mother agreed to care for Omarion so Simmons and Omarion's mother could continue their educations.
- Simmons son, Omarion, is a source of motivation for him, "Since day one when he was born, he's always been motivating me. I feel like every time I step on the field I do it for him."
- Widely referred to as Dre by teammates and coaches, he's also known as Flo back home in South Carolina.

TAILBACK
6-1, 215, SOPH.

- A fourth-team preseason All-Big 12 pick by Phil Steele's College Football.
- Scott has not yet punted in a collegiate game, but is listed on the depth chart at the position and had a 48-yarder in the 2009 spring game.
- In three spring scrimmages, he compiled 154 yards and was the recipient of the Fred Casotti Award as the most improved offensive back.
- Scott led the Buffs in rushing during the spring game with 90 yards on 15 carries (6.0 per carry). He also added 38 yards receiving, a 37-yard kickoff return and a 48-yard punt, proving that he can do a little bit of everything.
- Scott recorded his first career touchdown in the first game of his true freshman season, as he dove in from one yard out against in-state rival Colorado State in 2008. Scott was narrowly beat out by his uncle, Josh Smith, in their friendly competition to see who would score a collegiate touchdown first, as Smith returned a kickoff for a touchdown in the second quarter of the same game. It is believed to be the first time an uncle and a nephew have recorded a touchdown in the same game.
- Scott was widely considered the top high school running back in the nation his senior year of high school in 2007. Scott chose to attend CU over scholarship offers from approximately 70 Division I-A colleges.
- Scott recorded the Buffs longest rushing play of the season in 2008, when he scampered 42 yards in the second quarter against Texas A&M.
- In 2008 against Iowa State, he became just the fifth true freshman to start a game at tailback for the Buffs this decade, joining Rodney Stewart (2008), Brian Lockridge (2007), Brian Calhoun (2002) and Marcus Houston (2000). Scott responded well to his first career start as he recorded a career-best 87 yards, including CU's longest play (37-yard run) of the game for the second consecutive week.
- Scott rushed for 343 yards in 2008, good enough for seventh place on CU's all-time freshman rushing list.
- Scott (344) and then fellow freshman running back Rodney Stewart (622) combined for 966 yards rushing in 2008, which is good for the second most in CU history for a pair of freshman running backs, trailing the duo of Lamont Warren (830) and Kent Kahl (301) who combined for 1,131 in 1991.
- His uncle, Josh Smith, was a sophomore wide receiver on the CU team his freshman year; his mother is Smith's older sister.

Hagan's Take:

- "When I look at Darrell, he brings instant credibility to CU. He is an absolutely awesome person and if possible he's an even better football player. His combination of size, speed, strength and vision are on a level that we have never had here at Colorado. When he's done here, he is going to go down in history as one of the best Buffs ever to strap in on—in my opinion."

JIMMY SMITH CORNERBACK 6-2, 205, JR.

- He led the Buffs compiling a career-high 12 tackles (nine solo) against Colorado State in the 2009 season opener.
- Starting to become known as a thorn in Nebraska's side, arguably his two best collegiate games came in his two appearances against the Huskers.
- In 2007, helping fill in for injured CB Terrence Wheatley, he had a break-out game. On a third-and-12 for Nebraska in its first possession of the second half, Smith picked off a Joe Ganz pass and returned it 31 yards for a touchdown. The score pulled the Buffs to within 35-31, and started a 30-0 run by CU. He also made an excellent play later in the game, knocking down a Ganz pass intended for NU receiver Maurice Purify in the corner of the end zone.
- In 2008, he sniffed out a fake field goal and grabbed the ball as the holder attempted to pitch the ball over his head to the kicker and returned it 58-yards for the score.
- A talented corner with good size (6-2, 205 lbs.), Smith had an excellent spring, winning the team's Hale Irwin Award, given to the most improved defensive back.
- Smith earned his first career start in 2008 against Iowa State and had a great game. He registering nine tackles (eight solo) one of which went for a two-yard loss, two third down stops, four pass break-ups and assisted on the game winning tackle on the last play of the game. The Cyclones were inside the one-yard line and ran an option to the right where Smith and D.J. Dykes tackled Iowa State running back Alexander Robinson for a two yard loss, clinching the 28-24 win for the Buffs.
- Greg Brown, the Defensive Passing Game Coordinator and Secondary coach, who spent 15 years coaching defensive backs in the NFL, has said many times that Smith has the ideal body for his position and has the potential to play in the NFL. Said Brown, "Everybody who's watched us play knows that Jimmy Smith has a world of talent."

RODNEY STEWART TAILBACK 5-6, 175, SOPH.

- Stewart changed from jersey No. 43 his freshman year to No. 5 this season.
- Stewart was given the nickname "Speedy" after winning a race as a little kid and the nickname has stuck with him since.
- He has "Googled" his name before, but as he says, "Only that singer guy's name has come up." He has never heard of any of the Scottish singer's songs; of course, Rock and Roll Hall of Famer Rod Stewart hasn't had a No. 1 single since 1993, when Speedy was just 3-years old. (Rod Stewart has had two No. 1 albums in the last five years in his songbook series).
- Colorado coaches discovered Stewart thanks in large part to current CU linebacker Doug Rippy, who told running backs coach Darian Hagan about him when he learned that CU was looking for another running back to add to their 2008 signing class. Stewart and Rippy have been good friends for years and learned just before their arrival in Boulder (but after they had been friends for several years) that they are cousins. They are, in fact, first cousins once removed.
- Westerville, Ohio, is a suburb of Columbus, so in essence, the Buffs plucked him right out of Ohio State's backyard.
- His first game action came in 2008 against Colorado State in the season opener during his true freshman season. He recorded 38 yards on just four carries.

- He became just the fourth true freshman to start a game at tailback for the Buffs this decade, joining Brian Lockridge (2007), Brian Calhoun (2002) and Marcus Houston (2000) and edging out classmate Darrell Scott who became the fifth later in the same season.
- Stewart burst onto the scene against a ranked West Virginia squad in 2008 when he carried the ball 28 times for 166 yards in front of a nationally televised, ESPN Thursday night game. The performance was the 16th 100-yard rushing game by a freshman in CU history, and his 166 yards was good for the third most by a freshman in CU history. He followed that performance up with another 100-yard rushing performance (107) against Florida State the next week in Jacksonville, Fla.
- Stewart finished his freshman campaign with three 100-yard rushing performances, which is tied with Lamont Warren for the school record for the most 100-yard performances by a freshman.
- Before Stewart suffered a broken fibula against Texas A&M, he was on pace to break CU's freshman (true or redshirt) rushing record as he recorded 622 yards rushing in just nine games, good for fourth all-time on the freshman rushing chart. Stewart needed just 45 yards to move into second place on the list and 209 to pass Lamont Warren (830 yards, 1990). Unfortunately, he suffered the broken fibula on a horse-collar tackle and missed the rest of the regular season.
- During his freshman season, Stewart was a perfect 5-for-5 in converting 3rd-&-1 situations.
- Stewart (622) and fellow freshman running back Darrell Scott (344) combined for 966 yards rushing in 2008 which was good for the second most in CU history for a pair of freshman running backs, trailing the duo of Lamont Warren (830) and Kent Kahl (301) who combined for 1,131 in 1991.

Hagan's Take:

- "He is going to be a fan favorite here, he's lighting in a bottle. He's fast and he runs with power for his size. I see him doing some great things here and really being a fun player to watch."

MARKQUES SIMAS WIDE RECEIVER 6-2, 215, SOPH.

- Name is pronounced marcus see-muss.
- Simas enters the fall atop the depth chart at the "x" receiver position, as he is primed for a breakout season. He caught nine passes for four touchdowns in the three main spring scrimmages.
- Simas will miss the first two games of the 2009 season for what coach Dan Hawkins calls a "violation of team rules." Simas took responsibility for the suspension, stating "It's frustrating, but I'm the only one to blame for it." Should he return for the Wyoming game, it will mark his first game action but be the 28th game CU has played since he first stepped foot on campus in 2007.
- Simas was the co-recipient of the Offensive Scout Award in 2008, as he maintained a positive attitude despite being ruled academically ineligible. He also won a scout team award as a true freshman in 2007 for the Texas Tech game.

CODY HAWKINS QUARTERBACK 5-11, 190, JR.

- Over the summer, Hawkins went back to the National ESPN RISE Magazine Elite 11 Quarterback Camp (he participated as a high school rising senior in 2005) to help coach the soon-to-be high school seniors. While at the camp, Hawkins proceeded to win both the accuracy competition and the overall competition over the likes of Mark Sanchez (New York Jets/USC), Chase Daniel (Washington Redskins/Missouri), Juice Williams (Illinois), Colt McCoy (Texas), Zac Robinson (Oklahoma State), Daryll Clark (Penn State) along with the nation's top 11 rated senior high school quarterbacks.
- Hawkins moved past John Hessler (1994-97 - 4,788) and Mike Moschetti (1998-99 - 4,797) into fourth place on CU's career passing chart with 222 yards against Colorado State. He now has 4,807 career passing yards and needs 504 to move past Koy Detmer (1992-96 - 5,390) into third place.
- During spring drills, he earned the Eddie Crowder Award for outstanding leadership. In the spring, he completed 44-of-72 passes for 669 yards and 10 touchdowns with no interceptions.
- A football "gym rat," he often times in the off season would spend up to 18 hours a day watching film, throwing the ball or picking the brain of one of CU's coaches.
- Hawkins career's passing numbers are 446-of-784 passing for 4,807 yards with 37 touchdowns and 26 interceptions. He ranks in the top six in CU history in passing yardage, completions, attempts and touchdowns (see "Hawkins In The CU Record Book" below for further detail).
- Hawkins makes very few mistakes in the red zone, as he has a career ratio of 25-to-3 of touchdowns to interceptions. His ratio in 2009 is 1-to-0.
- Hawkins is one of nine CU quarterbacks to have defeated a top-five ranked team, as he helped lead the Buffs to their 27-24 win over No. 3 Oklahoma in 2007. Hawkins after the Oklahoma win: "Unfortunately, everybody's been kind of making fun of us for the 'woulda, coulda, shoulda,' but finally we went out and we 'shoulda' and we 'do-da.'"
- He finished his redshirt freshman season with a CU-record 424 pass attempts and the second most completions (239) in school history (Joel Klatt had 241 in 2005). He also tied for the third-most yards and the fourth-most touchdown passes and he ended the regular season with 70 throws without a pick.
- Kleenex Kid: Hawkins was hit high early in the 2007 game against Texas Tech and played most of the game with a Kleenex up his nose because he couldn't stop it from bleeding. Result: his first game without an interception. He later admitted during the Nov. 27 press conference that he didn't even remember the game.
 - "Who told you about that (not remembering the game itself)? It was an interesting game, I got hit and I started to notice that I was spacing out a little bit. Then I was talking to [WR] Scotty [McKnight] and I couldn't stop thinking about board games and other weird stuff, it was weird. I just had to read the card and do exactly what the card said because I couldn't really remember practicing those plays during the week. I made it out, we won and I'm all good now."
- Going back to his grade school days, he has always been a quarterback. In organized games, from sixth grade through his senior year as a prep, his teams were a combined 59-0 and he extended that record to 60-0 after defeating Colorado State 31-28 in his first collegiate start in 2007 before the streak ended a week later in a 33-14 loss at Arizona State.
- During the 2008 Iowa State game, (the 22nd of his career), Hawkins came in to start the second half and lead the Buffs to a 28-24 comeback win over Iowa State. In the game he recorded a career best passer rating of 179.95, as he completed 20-of-29 passes for 226 yards, four touchdowns and no interceptions. In the same game, he became just the sixth player in Colorado history to pass for more than 4,000 career yards.

Hawkins In CU's Record Book

- Ranks fourth in career passing yards (4,807 - needs 504 to pass third-place Koy Detmer)

- Ranks third in career pass attempts (784 - needs 2 to pass second-place Kordell Stewart)
- Ranks third in career pass completions (446 - needs 11 to pass second-place Kordell Stewart)
- Ranks third in career passing touchdowns (37 - needs 4 to pass second-place Koy Detmer)
- Ranks seventh in career total offense (4,735 - needs 133 to pass sixth-place Mike Moschetti)
- Ranks tied for fifth in career touchdowns responsible for (43 - tied with Koy Detmer and Bobby Anderson and one behind fourth-place John Hessler)

Dan Hawkins' Take:

- "I haven't had a quarterback yet who didn't have a sophomore slump, I'm 100 percent. Cody can step in line with a lot of great quarterbacks that their second year at the helm didn't go as good as fans expected. He brings a heck of a work ethic and a lot of credibility. He can stand out there on any given Sunday and run our offense without anybody saying a word. He is extremely accurate. Does he have a hose? No, but he has a strong enough arm."

Human Interest:

- On signing day of 2006, Hawkins went to school with a letter of intent for both Boise State and Colorado signed by his mother. Even Dan Hawkins did not know he committed until the letter was faxed to the CU football offices.
- Coach Hawkins said that he believes that former major leaguer Bill Buckner made a real difference when it came to Cody's confidence as a young athlete. He was his baseball coach and the combination of Buckner believing in him (Cody was a pitcher) and the expectations and demands placed on him really had an impact.
- Hawkins received a letter of commendation from athletic director Mike Bohn for his role in assisting an injured biker after a football practice in August. Hawkins, along with Aric Goodman, Scotty McKnight, Kyle Cefalo and volleyball player Becah Fogle happened upon the accident, where senior geology student Jacob Dana was unconscious still clutching the handlebars with his feet still strapped in his pedals.

DEMETRIUS SUMLER
TAILBACK
5-10, 215, JR.

- Still just a junior, but the “old timer” of CU’s four-man tailback group with Brian Lockridge, Darrell Scott and Rodney Stewart and could be the most consistent back of the group.
- A powerful runner, coaches will use Sumler at tailback but won’t rule out him playing some at fullback.
- He scored three touchdowns against Baylor (2007), two on the ground and one through the air.
- Sumler was one of three CU tailbacks to rush for at least 90 yards against Miami (Ohio) with 14 carries for 91 yards and a touchdown in 2007.
- In 2007, Sumler took over for an injured Hugh Charles, Sumler was the primary tailback against CSU, rushing 16 times for 85 yards and a touchdown. He was also the workhorse against ASU, carrying the ball 16 times, and against FSU, carrying the ball eight times.
- Sumler finished his high school career as the San Diego area’s career rushing leader.
- Sumler credit’s his consistency to being the son of a basketball coach who played point guard for his father. “I had to do everything right as a point guard and that transitioned over to football.”

Hawkins’ Take:

- “He’s a blue-collar guy. He never misses a cut; he always maximizes every run, and if there is a crease there he is good at getting leverage and getting back to where he needs to be. I think that whole mentality brings a lot to the offense. I think you can use him anywhere. He’s not a 4.4 guy but he’s fast enough. We really felt like last year probably could have played and probably could have helped us. He probably felt like that, too. But I think he is a lot stronger and his body is put together a little bit better. We have total confidence in him. He is a very, very productive player.”

Hagan’s Take:

- “He’s the one I go into battle with, when all the chips are down. He’s going to do everything well; he’s not going to outrun anybody, but you’re going to get what you want out of him.”

TYLER HANSEN
QUARTERBACK
6-1, 205, SOPH.

- Hansen announced on Sept. 7 that the strategic plan is for him to redshirt the 2009 season.
- Hansen saw his first game experience in 2008 when after six games the CU coaching staff removed his redshirt and he came in the game against Kansas State. The move was planned as they thought his athleticism and ability to make plays with his feet would be a boost to a struggling offense—it was, as he carried the ball 19 times for 86 yards, he also threw a 21-yard touchdown strike to Scotty McKnight. Hansen and Hawkins split snaps throughout the game and continued to do so for the remainder of the season, the two helped lead the Buffs to a 14-13 win over the Wildcats.

- Hansen became the 11th true freshman quarterback to take snaps since 1972. He is not the first true freshman quarterback to see action after the season opener; in fact eight of the 11 appeared after game two and five from game six onward. The most notable recent ones include Craig Ochs, who saw action in game four in 2000 and started the next seven games. In 1992, Koy Detmer appeared in the second half at Minnesota in game three and rallied the Buffs to a 21-20 victory. And in 2003, true frosh QB Joel Klatt saw some mop-up duty in game seven at Baylor (went 0-for-3), and then saw action in two other games as the up-back on the punt unit. He became the fifth freshman to start a game at Colorado the very next week when he got the start at Missouri.
- Hansen’s father, Rick, played quarterback at San Diego State (1978-83) and his mother, Pamela, was an All-American sprinter and hurdler for the Aztecs.
- Hansen set a school record for the most single-season rushing yards by a true freshman quarterback with 261 in just six games; the previous best was 177 by Marc Walters in 1986 in five games; Darian Hagan also had 175 in five games in 1988.
- Hansen is a perfect example of how the so-called recruiting experts are exposed. Colorado was on him from the get-go when he was a 1-star prospect by the services as late as June 23, 2007; CU offers him and then Michigan and Iowa get interested as is often the case when someone is offered; and just six days later he was a 3-star guy without playing as much as a flag football game or likely even backgammon.
- Hansen throws right handed but he writes and is otherwise left handed.

MICHAEL SIPILI
INSIDE LINEBACKER
6-1, 240, JR.

- Last name is pronounced sih-pill-E.
- His reputation for being a hard hitter has turned his last named into a verb. Early in 2007 fall camp, coaches were wincing when some players were getting “Sipili’d,” so they told him to let up a little. In a drill without pads, Sipili hit senior running back Byron Ellis so hard, Hawkins said he thought he had broken Ellis’ collarbone. Fortunately Ellis was OK. But make no mistake, when players are in pads Sipili has the green light.
- He loves to dance and as he states it, “I get down on the dance floor.”

PATRICK MAHNKE
SAFETY
6-1, 205, SOPH.

- Mahnke sprained his ankle just two days before the season opener against Colorado State and missed the first game of the season. He is listed as questionable for CU’s game at Toledo.
- Prior to his injury, Mahnke was listed atop the depth chart at strong safety. He had an outstanding spring and has bulked up some 10 pounds from his playing weight as a freshman.
- Mahnke played in all 12 games as a freshman including one start in the season finale against Nebraska, and responded with nine tackles (four solo) with one third down stop and one sack.
- Mahnke appeared to have made the play to push CU into a bowl game when he sacked Nebraska quarterback Joe Ganz for a 15-yard loss on second down with a little over two minutes left, but alas NU trotted out Alex Henery to boot the game-winning 57-yard field goal for the win.

- Mahnke played 150 of his 157 snaps in the final two games of the season after replacing an injured Ryan Walters (just one play into the Oklahoma State game).
- Mahnke was the first verbal commitment for the Buffs in the 2008 recruiting class.

RYAN MAXWELL
WIDE RECEIVER
5-8, 180, SOPH.

- Maxwell is currently listed third on CU's depth chart at the combined "x" and "z" wide receiver groupings, meaning he's the top back-up.
- A sophomore eligibility-wise, Maxwell redshirted at UC-Davis (same college coach Dan Hawkins attended) in 2007 and then sat out 2008 due to NCAA transfer rules.
- Maxwell was ranked the No. 80 wide receiver out of high school by Rivals.com after setting 11 school records in football at Santa Margarita Catholic High School in Orange County, Calif.
- Maxwell was also an accomplished track athlete at SMCHS, winning eight league titles including in the 100-m and 200-m runs.
- A true "beach bum" in the Rockies, Maxwell lists his hobbies as both surfing and snowboarding. He also plays the ukulele and enjoys listening to reggae music.
- Maxwell claims to have too many superstitions to list.
- Maxwell would like to pursue physical therapy as a career choice after college.

PLACEKICKER
5-10, 190, JR.

- Goodman made good on the longest field goal of his career with a 54-yard boot in the second quarter of the Colorado State game to give the Buffs their first points of the 2009 season. Goodman's previous long was a 52-yarder against San Diego State during his time at Wyoming. At CU, his career long was a 37-yard boot last season.
- Goodman has become the kickoff man in 2009, as well. Against Colorado State, each of his three kickoffs sailed to the end zone and he had one touchback. On the two returns, CSU returned the ball once to the 19 and the other one to the 23. The Buffs average field position after a Goodman kickoff is the opponent 21 yard line.
- Goodman had a solid spring coming off an up-and-down sophomore year, making 13-of-17 field goals and 9-of-10 PAT kicks.
- Goodman earned Big 12 Special Teams Player of the Week honors after he kicked a 25-yard field goal in overtime to beat No. 21 West Virginia, 17-14. He was awarded a scholarship postgame by coach Dan Hawkins; the kick was extra meaningful as when he was a freshman at Wyoming, he missed an extra point in overtime in a 13-12 loss at Virginia. So the game winner against WVU gave him some personal redemption.
- After that kick to beat West Virginia, he struggled and missed his next eight kicks (unfortunately setting a school record), although two of those misses hit the uprights and the combined distance he missed by was likely less than 20 feet.
- Goodman has a twin sister (Ally) who is a junior soccer player for the CU Soccer. He also has younger sisters (also twins) who are freshmen at CU, meaning there are two sets of Goodman twins enrolled at Colorado.
- Goodman's father (Curtis) was a placekicker at the University of Hawai'i from 1975-78.
- Goodman received a letter of commendation from athletic director Mike Bohn for his role in assisting an injured biker after a football practice in August. Goodman, along with Cody Hawkins, Scotty McKnight, Kyle Cefalo and volleyball player Becah Fogle happened upon the accident, where senior geology student Jacob Dana was unconscious still clutching the handlebars with his feet still strapped in his pedals. Several 911 calls were made, but Goodman ended up talking to the investigating officer. Said Goodman, "I feel like that's the standard and any student would follow it," Goodman said. "We were put in that situation and it wasn't anything extraordinary that we did."

MATT DILALLO
PUNTER
6-1, 205, SR.

- Last name is pronounced di-lah-low.
- DiLallo is just the second player in school history to be the regular punter for four seasons as he has had all six punt attempts in 2009. He joins Stan Koleski (1973-76) as CU's four-year punters.
- DiLallo recorded his 20th 50-plus yard punt and his 49th and 50th punt inside the opponent 20 in the 2009 season opener against Colorado State. His 50 punts inside the opponent 20 is the third-highest total in CU history. Stan Koleski (1973-76) had 51 while John Torp (2002-05) holds the CU record with 65.
- He was presented the Bill McCartney Award in the spring, given to the team's most improved special teams player and he also won the Iron Buffalo Award for all the specialists, recognizing his hard work, dedication and toughness in the weight room.
- He is ranked the No. 15 punter in the country by Phil Steele's College Football and will be nominated for the Ray Guy Award.
- He had his moments as a freshman, only the third to ever handle the punting chores at CU, and he set a school frosh record for the longest punt with a 73-yard kick against Colorado State in Denver and earned unanimous first-team Freshman All-America honors.
- A left-footed punter succeeding another left-footed punter in John Torp, he has 50 career punts inside-the-20 and needs 16 more to break the school record of 64 held by Torp. His 155 punts ranks tied for sixth in CU history.
- He was mentored by kicking/punting guru Tony Bugeja, a former placekicker for the Osceola Ghost Riders of the World Indoor Football League. DiLallo is from the Palm Beach area where Bugeja also coached soccer and did volunteer instructional work with local punters and kickers.
- He enjoys cooking, which he often does for teammates. He was the top choice among players when they were asked which teammate they would want to cook for them.

5-8, 175, SOPH.

- Espinoza is listed as one of two starting receivers at the combined “x” and “y” receiver formations. He is also atop the depth chart at punt returner.
- Espinoza’s often goes by the nickname of “Espy”
- Espinoza led all receivers with 14 catches for 256 yards (18.3 per) during the three main spring scrimmages.
- He won the Iron Buffalo Award for the receivers in the spring, presented to the player at each position who represents hard work, dedication, toughness and total poundage lifted in the weight room.
- Claims that, even though he says that he’s built more like a wrestler, he’s actually a good basketball player.

ANTHONY WRIGHT
WIDE RECEIVER/CORNERBACK
6-0, 190, SOPH.

- In an attempt to get their best players on the field, Wright made the switch from cornerback to wide receiver towards the end of fall camp, as the Buffs found themselves with a lot of talent and experience at corner and in need of some depth at wide receiver. He could still see action in the defensive backfield against teams with spread formations, as well.
- Wright’s uncle, Michael Richardson, was teammates with current CU Associate Head Coach and linebackers coach Brian Cabral on the 1985 Chicago Bears Super Bowl Champion team. Cabral was a linebacker and special team’s captain and Richardson was a defensive back.
- Wright made his collegiate debut on the opening kickoff CU’s 2008 season opener against intrastate rival Colorado State.

BRIAN LOCKRIDGE
TAILBACK
5-7, 180, SOPH.

- He scored a touchdown on a nine-yard run, his only of the game, against Colorado State in the 2009 season opener. It marked his second career rushing touchdown. He also had his first career reception against the Rams, as well.
- He missed the 2008 season recovering from surgery to repair a sports hernia he suffered in the Iowa State game in 2007. He didn’t initially alert the training staff to his sports hernia, running backs coach Darian Hagan noticed he was a little less explosive than normal.
- In 2007, he suffered a concussion in practice the Tuesday before the Oklahoma game, but didn’t tell trainers until two days later. He was held out of the OU game but played every game the rest of the way.
- In 2007, he had 14 carries for 90 yards and a touchdown against Miami (Ohio) with two potential touchdowns called back: a 9-yarder which was originally called a touchdown but then re-spotted at the 1-yard line and a 56-yarder voided because of a holding call.
- Lockridge was a published model prior to his arrival at CU and attended the prestigious John Robert Powers Acting School. He did photo shoots and had some photos published when he was younger in “things like Sears and JC Penny’s catalogs.” Abercrombie & Fitch was eyeing him for a shoot to promote its 2010 spring line, but he is unable to continue his modeling career at CU due to NCAA regulations. He calls his acting and modeling career more of a “hobby” than a serious career pursuit.
- Lockridge is also an accomplished musician. He self-taught himself starting when he was 5-years old and he can write his own music. At the Independence Bowl, he started playing the piano for teammates and actually got some tips from passers-by (He politely declined to accept the tips).
- Lockridge started his own clothing line in Orange County with friends from school – the clothing line is called S.F.C. (Stay Fresh Crew).
- Fast Food Nation: Lockridge has a problem a lot of Americans would love to have: he has to eat fast food. In high school, his body fat index was too low and he would cramp up all the time; he even tore both of his hamstrings because his body was too tense. After one workout, his whole body cramped up and he was basically paralyzed from the neck down. He was given three IVs before he could move again. Doctors told him that he was eating too healthy. He began taking fish oil pills, and now before games or hard workouts he eats fast food—although he doesn’t like it—and hasn’t had cramps since.

Hawkins’ Take:

- “He has a lot of speed, but he also has a different style in that he’ll pour it up in there and has no trepidation about that, he’ll just throw a rock on the gas pedal and go. He’s kind of like an energizer bunny, the guy just has a tremendous spirit about him; he reminds me a lot of (former defensive end) Abe Wright in terms of that. He is a guy who will return a punt, catch it, run all the way down, hand it to the punter and be standing there before you even know that he just ran 100 yards. His biggest asset is his speed but that is also complimented by his attitude and his style; he’s not afraid to put his pads down and hammer it up in there, even though he isn’t the biggest guy.”

SCOTTY MCKNIGHT
WIDE RECEIVER
5-11, 185, JR.

- The veteran of a young receiver corp (the only current Buff who lettered at the position in both 2007 and '08), McKnight was ranked as the No. 43 receiver in the nation by Phil Steele's College Football.
 - McKnight has career numbers of 93 receptions for 1,043 yards and 10 touchdowns and he ranks in the top 20 in school history in all three categories.
 - McKnight has caught a pass in each of his 25 (26 including the post season) and is just two games off the school record of 27 straight games with a reception set by Charles E. Johnson between 1991-93.
 - McKnight suffered a concussion against Colorado State on an apparent helmet-to-helmet hit in the third quarter. He came back in the game and scored a touchdown late in the game and is listed day-to-day leading up to the Toledo game.
 - McKnight recorded his 10th career touchdown reception against Colorado State in the 2009 season opener, becoming the 12th player in school history to record 10 or more touchdown receptions.
 - McKnight earned the John Mack Award in 2008 as the team's most outstanding offensive player.
 - McKnight led the team in receiving in both his freshman and sophomore seasons, becoming the first former walk-on to lead the team in receiving in consecutive seasons.
 - McKnight scored the Buffs first touchdown of the season for the second consecutive season when he and Cody Hawkins connected on a 35-yard touchdown pass early in the second quarter against Colorado State. In 2007, the two hooked up for the first score of the season on a 24-yard pass play, also against the Rams, marking the first time in CU history that two pass plays involving the same two players were the team's first score of the year.
 - In 2007, McKnight was one of Cody's Hawkins' go-to receivers against CSU, catching eight passes for 106 yards and a touchdown. His 106 receiving yards were the most by any player in CU history in their debut. His touchdown came on a 32-yard catch which capped the Buffs' first drive and put them on top 7-0.
 - Prior to his freshman campaign, he broke his ankle during the first day of spring football, but was fully recovered by the start of fall camp.
 - McKnight can double up as a passing threat, as evidence by his 38-yard strike to Darrell Scott against Texas in 2008.
 - McKnight has proven to be a man of firsts as he has scored CU's first touchdown of the season in both his freshman and sophomore campaign. If that wasn't enough he was also the recipient of both Cody Hawkins' and Tyler Hansen's first career touchdown passes.
 - McKnight enters his junior season well up the ladder on three all-time CU lists: 15th receptions (89), 21st receiving yards (1007) and 13th receiving touchdowns (13).
 - He attended an Elite 11 Quarterback Camp in Mission Viejo before his senior year of high school, where he shagged balls, caught passes and struck up a friendship with future teammate Cody Hawkins.
 - His father, Scott, was a college teammate of Dan Hawkins at UC Davis.
 - McKnight is a close friend of New York Jets first-round pick Mark Sanchez, as Sanchez has attended at least one CU game in each of the last two seasons.
- McKnight In CU's Record Book:
- Ranks tied for 13th in career receptions (93 – tied with D.J. Hackett; needs four to tie 12th-place Darrin Chiaverini)

- Ranks 21st in career receiving yards (1,043 – needs 15 to move past 20th-place Dave Hestera)
- Ranks tied for 10th in career receiving touchdowns (10 – needs one to tie Christian Fauria and Daniel Graham for eighth place)

ARTHUR JAFFEE
CORNERBACK
5-11, 205, SOPH.

- Jaffee looks to be a force on special teams for the Buffs as he recorded six special teams points against Colorado State in the 2009 season opener. He had two tackles – both inside the opponent 20 yard line – and two knock down blocks to open the 2009 season.
- Jaffee's middle name is Pendragon, and there is a story behind his unique middle name. His mother would read to him from King Arthur before he was born...the Jaffee's are primarily Italian, but when Arthur was born he had light skin and red hair. So his mother knew he was a king and gave him the middle name Pendragon.
- Jaffee enjoys both surfing and wakeboarding.

CORNERBACK
6-1, 205, JR.

- Brown matched his entire 2007 season play total in the season opener in 2008, as he played in 27 plays in 2007 and in 27 plays against Colorado State.
- Brown recorded his first career interception against Texas (2008) when he jumped a Colt McCoy pass route and returned in 57 yards.
- Brown was a special teams standout in 2007. He had 10 special teams points against Missouri alone, and led the team with 31 points on the season; that tied for the second most points since CU began tracking beginning points in 1987. Against the Tigers, he had three solo tackles, an assisted tackle inside-the-20, two knockdown blocks and three forced fair catches.
- Made his collegiate debut in 2007 against CSU, playing on special teams. As the season has progressed, he has really improved his ST play (he's one of the gunners). He was named CU's special teams player of the week for the Texas Tech game.
- The last addition to Hawkins' first recruiting class, he was largely overlooked in the recruiting process because he was home-schooled and it was difficult for coaches to track down all of his necessary academic records.

RAY POLK
SAFETY
6-1, 210, FR.

- In his first game his redshirt freshman year against Colorado State in 2009, he started at safety (for the injured Pat Mahnke) and responded with six tackles (two solo, one for a loss)
- Secondary coach Greg Brown has been very impressed with Polk's progress at safety during fall camp, saying his progress is "unbelievable." Brown is quick to state he still has a lot to learn, but also believes he may be the fastest player on the team.
- Polk came to CU as the nation's No. 11 running back prospect, but moved to safety after redshirting his freshman season. He missed spring practices with surgeries on both shoulders.
- Polk was teammates with CU offensive lineman Blake Behrens in high school, as both attended Brophy Prep in the Phoenix area.
- Polk is no stranger to defense, however. He made the game-winning interception to secure a state championship in 2005 for Brophy Prep.
- Polk is often called "Ray Ray" by his teammates as his full name is Raymond Ray Polk.
- He logged 70 hours of community service at the Upward Foundation, where he helps mentally challenged kids.
- His father (Raymond) played cornerback for Oklahoma State and was drafted by the Los Angeles Raiders in 1985.
- He chose CU over a number of other Division I-A schools, including Oklahoma State where his father's uncle (Curtis Looper) is the running backs coach.

CHA'PELLE BROWN
CORNERBACK
5-7, 175, SR.

- First name is pronounced shuh-pell
- First-team preseason All-Big 12 by Phil Steele's College Football.
- One of four Buffs (all defensive backs) to play all 62 snaps against Colorado State in the 2009 season opener. He responded with seven tackles (six solo) to go along with his second career sack.
- Earned honorable mention All-Big 12 honors from the Associated Press in 2008 after starting all 12 games. He started at right cornerback and then moved to the nickel slot when five defensive backs were used and responded with 84 tackles (58 solo), 14 third down stops, 10 pass break-ups and two interceptions.
- In 2007, Brown played in a team-high 87 plays from scrimmage against Missouri, even though he often lined up against Missouri's tight ends, who at 6-6, were 11 inches taller than him. He recorded a team-high 12 total tackles (11 solo).
- Brown served as the team's nickel corner during his true freshman and sophomore seasons, where he saw a lot of action with the number of spread offenses the Buffs face in the Big 12.
- He briefly switched to wide receiver during the 2007 offseason before returning to the secondary.
- His third career interception was the game winner against Eastern Washington (2008), he returned the pick 27 yards for a touchdown with 1:44 remaining in the game—giving CU their first lead and the eventual win.
- The interception was also the first interception returned for a touchdown in school history that was late in a game and proved to be the game winning touchdown.
- While Brown may not be the tallest player on the field, he makes up for it in overall athleticism. Many players and coaches have noted that he has excellent 'hops' as he can dunk a basketball.

Greg Brown's Take:

- "He's an old school warrior. A hard-nosed tackler, great ball skills and a huge leader for our defense. He's a smart ballplayer who's got natural instincts and great vision who knows what's coming. Some might glance at him size-wise and might dismiss him, but he'll tackle you. He's one of those guys I don't have to worry about. He's got his side covered and he'll make the play. If he gets beat, they made a good play; but he's not going to get beat on something cheap."

JON MAJOR
INSIDE LINEBACKER
6-1, 220, FR.

- Major was considered by most as the top high school senior in the state of Colorado (over 50 scholarship offers from around the nation) in 2007. He was a Parade All-American and Colorado's Gatorade Player of the Year.
- Major had worked his way into the second-team on the depth chart just a week into his true freshman fall camp before he went down with a torn ACL in a non-contact drill on August 13, 2007, forcing him to miss the entire season.

PATRICK DEVENNY
TIGHT END
6-3, 240, SR.

- Last name pronounced duh-vain-E.
- Devenny was originally a quarterback for the Buffs but switched to tight end, and then back to quarterback when injuries dictated so before returning to tight end where he has seen all of his game action.
- Devenny caught 14 passes for 116 yards and two touchdowns in 2008 and prior to that, his only career reception was a three-yard touchdown in 2007.

RYAN DEEHAN
TIGHT END
6-5, 245, SOPH.

- Deehan's family lost their home in Poway in October 2007 to the Witch Creek Fire, one of several massive wildfires spurred by the Santa Ana winds that devastated Southern California. They were able to move many possessions to his father's office ahead of the blaze.
- Deehan started and had a career-best three receptions for 20 yards against Colorado State to open the 2009 season. His three receptions against CSU were just two fewer than his entire freshman season.
- Deehan made his collegiate debut in the season opener against Colorado State his true freshman season (2008). Deehan made his first start four games later as he got the call against Texas.
- Deehan recorded his first career touchdown on a seven-yard grab against Eastern Washington (2008); it was his second career game. With that touchdown, Deehan became the first true freshman tight end to record a receiving touchdown in 25 years. You have to go back to Oct. 8, 1983 when Jon Embree caught a 4-yard touchdown against Missouri for the last time a true freshman caught a touchdown at CU.

- He played in all 12 games in 2008 and made six starts.

Riddle's Take:

- "Ryan is a big, physical and well-developed kid. He comes from a great program, they won the San Diego division championship last year and he is exactly what you want from an incoming tight end. He can run really well, he can make plays down field and he can make plays after the catch. Beyond that he is a very strong and physical blocker and knows how to work in the off-season."

JAKE BEHRENS
FULLBACK
6-0, 240, SR.

- Behrens made his first career start against Kansas State in 2008 and played in all 12 games that season.
- Behrens had his first career carry against Kansas State on CU's first play from scrimmage on offense—a 23-yard run.
- Behrens first two receptions in his career—for a total of 3 yards—went for touchdowns. His first career reception was a 1-yard touchdown from Cody Hawkins to pull the Buffs within seven points of the Wildcats in the second quarter of their 2007 matchup. His second career reception came against Eastern Washington, and was good for a 2-yard touchdown grab. He is halfway to tying perhaps the most unique record in CU history: from 1993-96 WR James Kidd's first reception each season went for a touchdown.
- Behrens TD catch somersault-flip vs. Texas was the No. 6 play on Sports Center's Top 10 Plays of the weekend (NFL, MLB, CFB, Soccer, Golf, etc.). It was the No. 2 college football play.
- He has finished his coursework in Finance and is currently taking classes in Accounting. The programs are concurrent and when done, he will have both his B.S. and master's degrees. Always a good student, he had a 4.0 in high school, scored 1280 on his SAT and earned first-team Academic All-Big 12 in 2008 and honorable mention academic All-Big 12 in 2007.
- Behrens has made a name for himself as a student, as in the summer before the 2008 season Behrens went to London for four weeks for and international finance internship through CU's business school. Behrens also graduated high school with an International Baccalaureate (IB) Program degree; it is the equivalent to taking all Advanced Placement (AP) courses all four years of high school and adding 150 hours of community service and a 4,000-word work of original research. The IB program earned Behrens 24 hours of college credit prior to arriving at CU and helped him graduate with a degree in finance in just three years. He is currently working towards a master's in accounting.

Riddle's Take:

- "He has improved as much as anybody in the program over the last three years. He's a reliable receiver, a good blocker and we can hand him the ball on occasion. He's in tune with the offense and what we're trying to get done, and he's really improved his physicality on the field. That's good stuff."

BENJAMIN BURNLEY
CORNERBACK
5-11, 195, SR.

- Burnley responded well to his first action in over a year and he recorded one third down stop and had an interception against Colorado State in the 2009 season opener, his third career pick.
- Burnley redshirted in 2008 after undergoing five surgeries to mend chronic injuries to both of his shoulders, a wrist and a knee.
- Burnley started all 13 games in 2007, one of only eight players to start every game for the Buffs that year despite playing through multiple injuries that would need surgery after the season ended. He started opposite of Terrence Wheatley, who was a two-time first team All-Big 12 cornerback and a second round pick of the New England Patriots.
- He started his first career game at cornerback against CSU (he started two games at free safety in 2006), playing all 83 snaps from scrimmage on defense.
- A two-time first-team Academic All-Big 12 selection after his sophomore and junior seasons.
- His father, Jacob, was the defensive line coach for the Denver Broncos from 2002-09.
- Burnley has lived in nine different states: while living in North Carolina, he helped out with the Special Olympics and taught math and reading to underprivileged children at elementary schools.
- While sitting out the 2008 season due to injuries, Burnley became a published author as he wrote a novella about the life and times of a college football player. The novella was based on his life and the lives of his close friends and teammates.

NICK KASA
DEFENSIVE END
6-7, 270, FR.

- Last name is pronounced cah-suh.
- Kasa suffered a partially torn MCL during fall camp and will miss the first few weeks of the season, the training staff hopes he will be healthy enough to make his collegiate debut around the start of Big 12 conference play.
- Kasa earned All-American honors as a senior and participated in the U.S. Army All-American all-star game in San Antonio. EA Sports selected him to its All-America second team.

JEFF SMART INSIDE LINEBACKER 6-0, 225, SR.

- Smart had a solid game against Colorado State in the 2009 season opener, coming up with nine tackles (six solo) with one sack and one QB pressure along with one interception. It was his first career interception.
- Smart recorded his 200th career tackle against Colorado State in the season opener, becoming the 57th player in school history to accomplish that feat.
- Smart was voted as and named one of three team captains for the 2009 season.
- Smart is the first CU captain from Boulder since linebacker Barry Remington served in the capacity as both a junior and senior for the 1985 and 1986 seasons. He was a graduate of Fairview High; the last two from Boulder High were linebacker Phil Irwin (1970) and All-America tailback Bobby Anderson (1969). Irwin's son, Heath, also played at BHS and was an offensive guard as a senior in 1996 and served as a captain on occasion when they were appointed each game between 1995 and 1997.
- Smart is just the third full-time captain that started as a walk-on.
- Smart earned second-team All-Big 12 Conference honors in 2008.
- Smart, a former walk-on, made his first career start in 2007 against Miami (Ohio) after being placed on scholarship following the Florida State game.
- On the plane trip home from the 2007 Independence Bowl Coach Hawkins was watching game film and continued to be wowed by plays that consensus All-American and Butkus Award runner-up Jordon Dizon was making. The only problem was that many of those plays, Hawkins realized, were being made by Smart (45), not Dizon (44).
- In taking over for Dizon in 2008, Smart has also taken over the role as the team's leading tackler, he finished the season with 118 tackles.
- Smart recently figured out a connection to new outside linebacker coach Bob Foster. Foster coached Smart's uncle, Elliot Smart, who was a student and player for Foster at Varden (Calif.) high school. Foster taught Elliot Smart in a driver's education class.

Cabral's Take:

- "His last name is what he is—smart. One week I had him backing up at will, and the next at mike. He can play both equally well, knows what he is doing and can line up wherever we need him to be."

ANTHONY PERKINS SAFETY 5-10, 195, SOPH.

- Perkins looks to be a valuable asset on special teams this season, as he tallied four special teams' points against Colorado State in the 2009 season opener. He had one tackle inside the 20, one knockdown block and one forced fair catch.
- Perkins' grandfather, Don Perkins, was an All-American running back at New Mexico (1956-59) and was later drafted by the Dallas Cowboys. He played for the Cowboys from 1960-68, he was the 1961 NFL Rookie of the Year, a six-time pro bowler and is in the Cowboy's Ring of Fame.
- Perkins earned his first game action in the season opener against Colorado State his redshirt-freshman season. His first start came during the third game of the season against West Virginia.

- Last name is pronounced mole-er.
- A preseason third-team All-Big 12 selection by Phil Steele's College Football. He was named honorable mention All-Big 12 by the Associated Press in 2008.
- Many of Mohler's teammates call him "Mauler" which is a slight variation of his last name (Mole-er).
- Mohler earned his first start against Florida State his junior season (2008), his first at Colorado. The game was his fourth at CU. He then started the remainder of the season for the Buffs, compiling nine starts in all.
- Mohler finished just three tackles short of 100 in his junior campaign and had nine games with six-plus tackles and four games with 10-plus stops.
- Mohler also had eight third down stops and tied for the team lead with two interceptions.
- Mohler was rated the top junior college outside linebacker by SuperPrep in 2007.

CURTIS CUNNINGHAM DEFENSIVE TACKLE 6-1, 275, SOPH.

- Cunningham played in 58 of a possible 62 plays (93.5 percent) against Colorado State, the most of any player on the CU defensive line, and he responded with four tackles.
- Cunningham enters the fall listed first at defensive tackle. He is the most experienced defensive tackle on the team despite being a sophomore.
- Cunningham earned playing time as a true freshman, adding depth behind three-year starters George Hypolite and Brandon Nicolas (being groomed as a replacement for one or the other). He was the third in the three-man rotation at defensive tackle/nose guard as a true freshman.
- Cunningham's first career statistic came in the fourth game of the season against Florida State when he intercepted a pass off of his own deflection and returned it 10 yards.
- Cunningham played in the Under Armor All-American Game as a high school senior in 2008.

DOUG RIPPY OUTSIDE LINEBACKER 6-1, 240, FR.

- Rippy enters the season atop the depth chart at the same outside linebacker spot, and could breakout as a redshirt frosh. FoxSports.com (Scout.com) named him to its preseason redshirt freshman All-America team.
- Rippy can be credited with helping the Colorado coaching staff discover standout tailback Rodney Stewart, as he told running backs coach Darian Hagan about Stewart, his friend over the last four to five years.
- Rippy and Stewart learned that they are in fact cousins just before arriving in Boulder (but after they had known each other for several years). They are, in fact, first cousins once removed, and they both showed up to a family barbecue without knowing they are related. The two have roomed together since arriving on campus.
- Rippy has an extremely large family; his paternal grandparents have over 90 grandchildren and several of his cousins are playing or have played college football and basketball. He will square off against a first cousin, James Davis, who is a sophomore running back at Wyoming. A cousin, Chris Wright, is a sophomore basketball player at Dayton while cousin Greg Moore played basketball at Cincinnati.

MARCUS BURTON INSIDE LINEBACKER 6-0, 265, SR.

- Burton had eight tackles to open the 2009 season against Colorado State, matching his tackle total from the entirety of his junior season in which he played in 10 games.
- Burton was voted as and named one of three team captains for the 2009 season.
- Burton's selection marks the sixth straight year a player with Texas high school roots will serve as a Colorado captain, as he follows Sam Wilder (OT, 2004), Lawrence Vickers (FB, 2005), Mason Crosby (PK, 2006), Hugh Charles (TB, 2007), Terrence Wheatley (CB, 2007) and Patrick Williams (WR, 2008).
- Potentially one of the better stories on this year's team. In his career, he has experienced injury (fractured tibia in 2006) and academic issues (ineligible in 2007) as well as getting married and having a child.
- Burton attended the Big 12 media day in July and was characterized by a few of the league's radio personalities as a "throw back" linebacker because of his size (265 lbs). Not so, says coach Dan Hawkins, "He can run. He's a big guy but he can run, he's not just a stand-in-there-and-take-people-on guy."

- He won the Hale Irwin Award as the most improved defensive back (linebacker or secondary), and also was the Iron Buffalo Award winner for the linebackers, given for hard work, dedication, toughness and total poundage lifted in the weight room.
- Burton entered the fall listed as the No. 1 mike linebacker, being fueled by his performance in the three spring scrimmages: 20 tackles (11 solo, two for a loss and one sack).
- Burton has proven to be one of, if not the most versatile player on the defense as he can play all three of the linebacker spots, and was in a neck-and-neck battle for the starting "will" slot throughout camp. With his size, he has also show up on occasion on the defensive line.
- Burton and his wife, Krislen, had their second child on Sept. 6 (the day of CU's season opener against CSU), as Noah Alanea Christopher Burton was born at 9:59 a.m. at Boulder Community Hospital. Burton was allowed to leave the team hotel the night before the game and did play against CSU. Marcus and Krislen already have another son, Tysen, 2.
- Has the second longest play by a true freshman in school history, when he returned an interception 99 yards for a touchdown at Oklahoma State in 2005 (WR Walter Stanley had a 100-yard kickoff return versus Oklahoma in 1980).
- Burton often leads team Bible studies.

Hawkins' Take:

- "One of the great joys of coaching, to see a guy go through a transitory period of having a child and getting married and getting swamped. To see him galvanize and get his life in perspective and see how that translates onto the football field, we're always talking to these guys about that. You're not a different guy off the field as you are on, as he's matured and being able to grasp everything and see everything that's allowed him to be a better football player. Him putting his whole life in perspective there, that to me is one of the fun things of coaching, you know he has talent and you know he can play, but any time your outside life starts spinning out of control, it's hard to stay focused at what you're doing at your job. I'm proud of him for that."

MAX TUIOTI-MARINER OFFENSIVE LINEMAN 6-3, 285, FR.

- First half of his last name is pronounced two-E-oh-T.
- Tuioti-Mariner has suffered three torn ACLs in less than two years, and had initially decided to embark on his two-year Mormon mission, partially to allow his knees time to heal, decided to postpone those plans in hopes of being ready to play by the Buffs Big 12 Conference opener (Oct. 12 at Texas).
- He suffered a torn ACL in a non-contact drill in practice on Sept. 22, 2008 (leading up to the Florida state game), ending a promising freshman campaign—but was later granted a medical hardship.
- Tuioti-Mariner's second cousin was former CU quarterback Sal Aunese, who was the starting quarterback for the Buffs in 1988 before being diagnosed with cancer. Aunese lost his battle with the disease during the open week (Sept. 23) of the 1989 season and his legacy became the backbone to the Buffs back-to-back trips to the National Championship game in 1989 and 1990.
- His older brother, Lafu, is a senior offensive lineman at Hawai'i. His cousin, Pisa Tinoosamoa, is a linebacker for the St. Louis Rams.
- He earned his first career playing time in the season opener against intrastate rival Colorado State his true freshman season in 2008.
- Tuioti-Mariner earned his first collegiate start as a true freshman against Eastern Washington in 2008, it was his second career game.
- Tuioti-Mariner is extremely family-oriented and mild-mannered off the football field. He lists "loving to make people smile and laugh" as one of his favorite things to do.

59B.J. BEATTY
OUTSIDE LINEBACKER
6-2, 220, JR.

- Beatty saw his first action on defense against Miami (Ohio) in the fourth quarter of their 2007 game. He was in on one play against Kansas.
- Beatty really turned the corner during spring practices this year, as he went from being buried in the depth chart to pushing two-year starter Brad Jones for his starting spot. He credits defensive graduate assistant coach Andy Avalos with his noticeable improvement.
- Beatty played a few snaps in the season-opening win over Colorado State but missed the next four games due to a fractured fibula. He returned to game day action against Kansas.

Human Interest:

- His uncle, Chris Naeole, was a former CU All-American offensive guard who has played the last nine years in the NFL with New Orleans and Jacksonville.

63ETHAN ADKINS
OFFENSIVE LINEMAN
6-4, 305, SOPH.

- Adkins has moved into the starting lineup at left guard during fall camp.
- Adkins was ranked as the No. 30 offensive guard in the country coming out of Douglas Country High School in 2007.

Denver Johnson's Take:

- "He's probably been the guy that's been a pleasant surprise. He did some good things in spring, and he's really solidified himself this fall as one of our better players up front."

64MIKE ILTIS
OFFENSIVE LINEMAN
6-3, 280, SOPH.

- Iltis suffered a sprained ankle in the first quarter of the 2009 season opener against Colorado State. He did not return and is day-to-day leading up to Toledo.
- Iltis has recovered well from knee surgery to replace the graduated three-year starter Daniel Sanders at center. Iltis has been running with the first team at offense at center throughout spring ball and fall camp.
- Iltis was expected to earn playing time during his redshirt freshman campaign, but tore his ACL on the first day of fall camp in 2008.

Denver Johnson's Take:

- "He's just such a conscientious guy - a very smart, very heads up ball player and he helps us a lot there."

66BLAKE BEHRENS
OFFENSIVE LINEMAN
6-3, 285, SOPH.

- He was playing both the left and right guard positions in the first three games of the 2008 season, but after Tuioti-Mariner went down with a knee injury, he became entrenched solely on the left side.

- Behrens earned his first game time experience and first career start against Colorado State (2008), which was the season opener of his redshirt-freshman season.
- Behrens was a high school teammate of current CU tailback Ray Polk as they both attend Brophy Prep in Arizona. Behrens is a year older than Polk.

*(No relation to FB Jake Behrens)68*SHAWN DANIELS
OFFENSIVE LINEMAN
6-3, 285, SOPH.

- He saw his first career action (15 snaps) in the second half in the loss to Texas (2008).
- Daniels is the brother of former CU standout offensive lineman Brian Daniels. He arrived on campus the year after his brother graduated and signed with the Minnesota Vikings.
- He is an avid fisherman and loves just about anything to do with the outdoors including riding his ATV.

70JUSTIN DRESCHER
LONG SNAPPER
6-1, 230, SR.

- Drescher is just the third four-year starting long snapper in school history, joining Chris O'Donnell (1988-91) and Greg Pace (2002-05), and it is believed to be one of the few instances in college football where one four-year starter replaced another, as he took over after Pace graduated in 2006. He has handled every punt and placement snap for the team since the first game of his true freshman year.
- He recovered a fumble by Oklahoma's Reggie Smith to set up the tying touchdown in the fourth quarter of CU's eventual win in 2007 against the third-ranked Sooners.
- As a freshman in 2006, he was tutored by former CU long snapper Greg Pace.

71MATTHEW BAHR
OFFENSIVE LINEMAN
6-4, 295, SOPH.

- Pressed into duty in the second half at Florida State in 2008, after Ryan Miller suffered a broken fibula. Bahr remained the starter for the remainder of the year, and he made huge strides between his emergency appearance at FSU and starting against Texas, which was his first career start.
- He started the last eight games of the season and graded out to a season-best 93 percent in the finale against Nebraska.
- He is listed second at right tackle and could also play right guard.

73RYAN MILLER
OFFENSIVE LINEMAN
6-8, 320, SOPH.

- Miller made the move from starting right tackle to starting right guard to help the team get their best players on the field and making room for Bryce Givens to start at right tackle.
- Before comprising the starting right side of CU's offensive line, Miller and Givens were bitter enemies in high school, as the two highly competitive guys had some memorable battles in high school, including the 2006 Colorado state championship game - Miller's Columbine team defeated Givens' Mullen squad, 13-10. Both admit they did not like each other until they became teammates at CU. The two are now good friends who hang out together outside of football.

- He was more or less 'rolled' in the Florida State game in 2008 and suffered a fractured fibula in the process. He underwent surgery and missed the rest of the 2008 season, later receiving a medical hardship.
- Miller was named a second-team freshman All-American by Scout.com in 2007.
- Hawkins said Miller "dominated" an Oklahoma player on several plays run to his side in a 27-24 win over the Sooners in 2007. He graded to 83%.
- Miller competed on the indoor track and field squad in 2009, competing in three meets in the shot put. He intends to compete throughout his career as long as it doesn't interfere with football. His toss of 46'-7.25" at Air Force was best throw of the season for a Buff and the second best throw in the last two years. He is mentored by throws coach Casey Malone, who placed fifth in the world in the discus at the World Championships in August and also participated in Beijing.
- Miller enjoys many outdoor sports and activities such as four-wheeling and camping. He enjoys playing the guitar and drums and line dancing. He is also an avid kite flyer, something he's done since he was four years old.
- His maternal grandfather, David Peterson, was an end on Colorado's 1960 freshman team.

Hawkins' Take:

- "He is a tremendous, tremendous athlete; he's a great football player. I told him if he went to a Division III school he would still be an NFL player. He is totally our kind of guy. He loves Colorado; he is a very humble kid, he's a blue-collar guy and he is a guy that when he is in your football program everybody knows that he is a marquee player and a marquee guy too. He is a guy that sets the bar not only for the talent that you want but also your attitude and approach to off the field, school and everything else. I totally see him as a guy that can come in here and be an All-American and help us win a National Championship and get drafted by the Broncos."

Denver Johnson's Take:

- "A big, strong guy. He's not as athletic as Solder, but in offensive lineman parameters, he's certainly a talented guy."

- Givens enters the season listed as the starting right offensive tackle.
- FoxSports.com (Scout.com) named Givens to their Redshirt Freshman All-America team.
- Givens has added 30 pounds of muscle to his frame since arriving in Boulder as a true freshman.
- Givens and fellow offensive line starter Ryan Miller were bitter enemies in high school, as the two highly competitive guys had some memorable battles in high school and both admit they did not like each other until they became teammates at CU. The two are now good friends who hang out together outside of football.
- Givens has traveled to Mexico to build a church and hoses and helped with a bike race to raise money for cancer research.
- Givens' father, Brian, played for the Milwaukee Brewers from 1995-96.

Denver Johnson's Take:

- "A young guy, he's got four years left and can do a lot of things."

- Last name is pronounced sold-er.

- Solder is a physical specimen as he is 6'9 and weighs 305 with a remarkably low 8.3 percent body fat and running a 4.8 40-yard dash.
- Solder was named to the ESPN.com College Football Workout Warriors, he was No. 4 on the list. He power cleans 407, hang cleans 445, squats 622, and has a vertical of 34 inches.
- He had a monster game against Kansas State (2008)—in earning the highest game grade – 99 percent – by a CU offensive lineman since All-American guard Joe Garten scored a perfect 100 versus K-State in 1990, he registered 11 knockdown blocks.
- Solder, the tallest member of the Buffs at 6-foot-9, caught the first three catches of his career against Miami (Ohio) with fellow tight ends Tyson DeVree and Riar Geer on the mend.
- After the 2007 season Solder started the transition from tight end to offensive tackle, he gained roughly 55 pounds during the offseason.
- Hawkins has said multiple times that he thinks that Nate has the potential to be first round pick in the NFL Draft.

WR Scotty McKnight's Take:

- "He's the new freak. Jevon Kearse get out of the way, he (Solder) is unbelievable. He's huge, strong and really fast. When he gets on the field people need to watch out."

Denver Johnson's Take:

- "Just immense God-given ability, just an enormous talent."

- First name is pronounced rye-er.
- Geer was voted as and named one of three team captains for the 2009 season.
- Geer is the first from Grand Junction to be named a Buff captain since tackle Jerry McClurg served as a senior in 1964; he attended Grand Junction High. Since then, two others from the state's Western Slope have been so honored, defensive end Mike Pruett (Delta High School, 1969) and offensive tackle Matt Miller (Durango High School, 1978).
- Geer is one of 30 players on the official watch list for the John Mackey Award, presented to the nation's top tight end.
- He led the Buffs in the 2009 season opener against Colorado State with six receptions for 65 yards.
- Geer was hobbled by injuries during much of the 2007 season, mainly issues with a knee, which he had scoped prior to the start of the 2008 season. He missed the first two games before returning in time for the West Virginia contest.
- In 2006, Geer became the first-ever freshman to lead CU in receiving.
- He came almost out of nowhere in 2006 against Georgia to lead the Buffs in receiving with seven catches for 71 yards. He was the primary reason the Buffs were able to keep the Bulldogs off-balance for most of the day after coaches decided the best way to attack the Georgia defense was on the perimeter and in the flats.

90MARQUEZ HERROD
DEFENSIVE END
6-2, 280, JR.

- Name is pronounced mar-qwez her-rod.
- Herrod is the most experienced returning defensive lineman and played in 51 of a possible 62 snaps (82.3 percent) against Colorado State in the 2009 season opener.
- He won the Iron Buffalo Award for the defensive linemen in the spring, presented to the player at each position who represents hard work, dedication, toughness and total poundage lifted in the weight room.
- He made his first career start at Texas A&M on Nov. 1, 2008 as CU opened in its base defense (instead of the nickel), and he responded with four tackles, including a quarterback sack. In all, he saw action in 11 games and had three starts for CU in 2008.
- Despite his size, he is one of the fastest coverage men on CU's kickoff unit; with his 6-2, 280-pound frame, on one return by Florida State (2008), he wiped out three FSU players running the wedge.
- Herrod made his first two career sacks in the 2008 season opener against intrastate-rival Colorado State.
- According to several teammates, Herrod has earned a reputation for being among the hardest workers on the team.
- He overcame a rough childhood, as he was homeless and a foster child who moved every eight to 12 months, and once lived at the Polinsky Children's Center for two years, an emergency shelter for children in San Diego.
- He is the first member of his family to attend college.

92FORREST WEST
DEFENSIVE END
6-1, 245, FR.

- West played defensively on 15 snaps for the Buffs in his first collegiate game against Colorado State. He came up with a pass break-up.
- West was named the MVP of the National Underclassmen Showcase as a high school sophomore in May of 2007. But a weight room injury that summer forced him to miss his entire junior season and as a result, his stock took a huge decline. Prior to the injury West was being recruited by about 90 schools nationwide.

93CONRAD OBI
DEFENSIVE END
6-3, 275, SOPH.

- During fall camp, Obi was routinely seen staying after practice to get further work, as he was often the last player to leave the practice field.
- Obi was twice selected as the Scout Team Defense Player of the week (Miami-Ohio and Oklahoma game weeks) and he was also presented with the Scout Team Defense Award at the postseason team banquet.
- Obi made his collegiate game debut as he came in at defensive end against Colorado State in the season opener his redshirt-freshman season.

94NATE BONSU
DEFENSIVE TACKLE
6-1, 295, FR.

- Bonsu has consistently been named by the Colorado coaching staff as a true freshman to watch, as he has impressed them on and off the field.
- Bonsu played on 15 defensive snaps for the Buffs and came up with one solo tackle in his first collegiate action.
- Bonsu came to CU with an incredibly strong lower body, as he has tested well in the weight room. Strength coach Jeff Pitman already calls Bonsu one of the strongest players on the team and Pitman also feels that Bonsu could leave CU in four years as the strongest player in the history of the program.
- Bonsu captained Allen High School to the Texas 5A State Football Championship and a No. 5 national ranking.

97TAJ KAYNOR
DEFENSIVE TACKLE
6-5, 275, SR.

- First name is pronounced the same as Taj Mahal.
- Kaynor was named the most improved defensive lineman during spring ball, as he is primed for a big senior season after backing up three year starters George Hypolite and Brandon Nicolas the last three seasons.
- Kaynor recorded his first career sack against Colorado State in their 2008 matchup.
- It was almost Kaynor who was activated from his redshirt season in 2005 to play defensive end; instead coaches went with Maurice Lucas because he was more physically developed for the position.

98EUGENE GOREE
DEFENSIVE TACKLE
6-1, 300, SOPH.

- Last name is pronounced Gore-Ray.
- He has seen the first action of his career this season, spelling either George Hypolite or Brandon Nicolas up front in the defensive line; with both being seniors, he's now in the hunt to start as a sophomore in 2009.
- Due to a number of injuries along the offensive line Goree made the transition from the defensive line to the offensive line before the sixth game of the 2008 season (Kansas). Goree did not see any action on the offensive line in that game, but did play on the defensive line; he did, however, see his first game action on the offensive side of the ball when he came in at right guard against Kansas State—after only two weeks of practice. He played 17 snaps against the Wildcats and remains listed at both positions on the depth chart.
