Update: Ex-CU QB Bernard Jackson off to impressive start at CSU-Pueblo

Former University of Colorado^[1] quarterback Bernard Jackson^[2]. (Karl Gehring, The Denver Post)

Last month, I wrote about former CU^[3] quarterback Bernard Jackson^[2] reassembling his life following his release from prison and getting a chance to play a senior football season at Division II CSU-Pueblo under former Buffaloes' assistant coach John Wristen^[4].

(If you missed it and want to read it, it's on DenverPost.com: Support comes from surprising places for ex-CU player^[5].)

Wristen said the plan was to use Jackson at wide receiver and in "package" situations at quarterback, and through two games, the plan has gone well.

The Thunderwolves are the only Rocky Mountain Athletic Conference team off to a 2-0 start in non-league play.

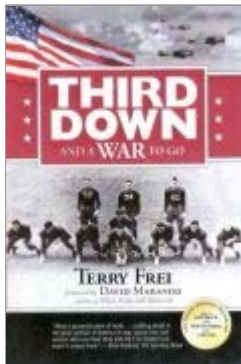

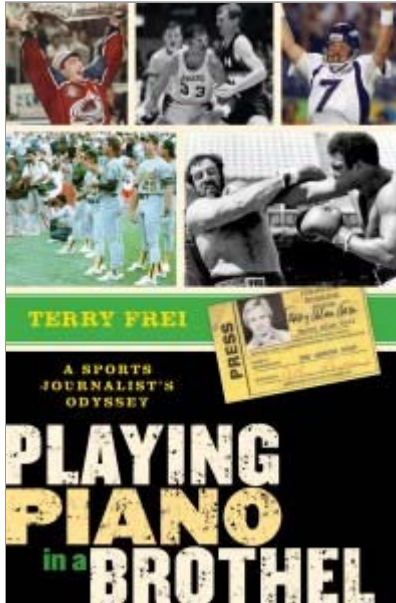

In the 26-14 victory at Oklahoma Panhandle State on Aug. 28, Jackson had four catches for 77 yards, with a 55-yard touchdown reception.

On Saturday in a 55-13 victory over Northwestern^[6] Oklahoma State at Pueblo, Jackson had four catches for 78 yards, with a long gain of 40 yards; carried the ball twice for 5 yards; and went 1-2 passing for minus-2 yards.

The Thunderwolves have an open date next weekend, then open RMAC play against Adams State at home in a 6 p.m. game on Sept. 18.
