Bad weather plagued the 44th annual Big Eight championships, with the wind and rain hampering the efforts of all 40 golfers. Colorado was in fourth place after the first round, and moved into third after 36 holes. A two-hour rain delay slowed the tempo down, as Colorado finished fourth. Rick Cramer and Mike Hogberg finished in a tie for seventh on the individual chart. Willie Wood won the individual race on the first playoff hole over teammate Tracy Phillips. Former Buff Terry Kahl was the defending league champion, winning with the same 211 score as a senior in 1981.
