WHY CU AND NOT UC

Why CU, Not UC, is a question often asked of many former Big Eight schools: Why is it the University of Colorado, but the moniker is CU and not UC? (The same applies at Kansas-KU, Missouri-MU, Nebraska-NU and Oklahoma-OU). "Mid-western casualness," said the late CU historian Fred Casotti. It has always been this way at Colorado, for whatever reason, and at the other four listed above-but seemingly nowhere else in the USA. In the 1950s, there was a concerted effort to eliminate the use of "CU" on the Boulder campus, both as a symbol and in speech, but Casotti said that no one would buy into it. "Nobody would change," he said. "It's easier to say than U of C, UC sounds like slang or something (as in 'you see'), and it was traditional. By trying to eliminate it, they reinforced it."

The decision Bill Hempen made for love in 2001 has evolved into an affair between the University of Colorado and its soccer program.

"My wife made me promise that if this job ever came open, that I'd take a look at it," reflected Hempen on the promise he made to his wife Stephanie, a native Californian and 1990 CU grad "I said if I ever left Duke that it would be for a place that could be successful. I didn't want mediocre. I had left good and I didn't want to go below that."

Bill Hempen

Head Coach • Fifth Season at Colorado • 18th Career Season • Evansville, 1981

When he arrived in Boulder that summer, he found himself inheriting a team that though close, had yet to put together a winning Big 12 season. But his initial thoughts weren't on wins and losses, but on what little the program had.

"My first priority was to get an on-campus field to practice on. From an academic standpoint I didn't want to disrupt their day and wanted a place they could bike or walk to and back in time for night classes."

Practice time on Prentup Field and lockerroom space in the Dal Ward Athletic Center followed.

It then took two seasons to orchestrate the biggest single-season turnaround in CU and Big 12 history, and one of the best in the nation when his 2002 squad went 10-8-2 and finished fifth in the league just a year after his first team struggled at 3-11-1 to finish 10th.

It would take just one more year to turn naysayers into believers as the Buffs went from (nearly) worst to first with the program's first conference title, a 15-4-1 record, nine shutouts, a 14-match unbeaten streak, the school's first national ranking in the sport, a Big 12 Coach of the Year title for Hempen and the program's first NCAA Tournament bid in 2003.

While Hempen took a leap of faith to leave a Duke program that he started in 1988, he credits others that leapt along with him for bringing Colorado its first conference crown in '03.

Along with the efforts of his assistant coaches, he credits 2003 Big 12 Player of the Year Fran Munnelly's commitment to come to CU during that 3-11-1 season, "She must have seen my passion and commitment to make it work here. My track record, the locale and University was good enough for her to come here."

2004 senior Jen Thais was the lone player that was recruited out of high school by the previous staff. She's the one, Hempen compliments, that "stirred the pot" and the one that he recalls telling that "help was on the way".

Assistant coach Paul Hogan, whose relationship with Hempen dates back to Duke, says "Players respond to his reputation and personality and kids like to play for him. They know that if they work hard that they will see the reward at the end of the day."

The love affair that began in 2001 has blossomed with the campus and its community with hopes of growing nationally. But Hempen is careful not to set unrealistic goals, despite the team's recent accent.

"We're definitely on everyone's radar now. But we need to approach every season like we did in 2003, with something to prove. A national title will be a goal... when it's appropriate."

Since his arrival in Boulder during the summer of '01, Colorado soccer has reinvented itself.

He coached his milestone 350th on Oct. 17, 2004 and the record breaking 7-0 shutout against Texas Tech gave the 17-year veteran his milestone 200th career victory.

"What this means is that I've been doing this a long time," said Hempen after the match. "It's really an honor and a tribute to all the kids that have put up with me over the years and to my first team at Duke (1988) who also contributed to this."

As the program enters its 10 season, one need only look at Hempen's leadership when charting its future. Since his arrival, the Buffs have gone 43-29-7 (.589) overall and 19-15-6 (.550) in Big 12 Conference play. Included in three straight top-five league finishes is the 2003 Big 12 Championship and that season's player, rookie and coach of the year in addition to 16 player appearances to all-Big 12 teams. Colorado has claimed a pair of all-region selections and the program's first All-American in Fran Munnelly. In the classroom 28 players have been named to Academic All-Big 12 teams while the 2003 squad won the athletic department's most improved honor for a team as its aggregate grade point average rose .44 from the previous academic year.

One of the more noticeable changes, he has orchestrated an on-campus move for training during the 2002 and '03 seasons before having Prentup Field converted to a soccer-only practice facility in '04 and a game facility a year later.

When hired on June 5, 2001, Bill Hempen had come to Boulder with eight NCAA Tournament Appearances, three ACC Coach of the Year honors, 1992 National Soccer Coaches Association of America National Coach of the Year recognition, and one of the winningest programs during the last decade under his belt..

He came to Colorado in from Duke, where he had been the Blue Devils' head coach since the program's inception in 1988.

He led the Blue Devils to eight appearances in the NCAA Tournament and had a career record of 162-100-16 (.676) in Durham. He was the NSCAA National Coach of the Year in 1992, and was also named Atlantic Coast Conference Coach of the Year three times (1992, 1994 and 1997) while directing Duke to the 16th most wins in the country (124) in the 1990s.

HEAD COACH BILL HEMPEN

Hempen's Duke teams finished the season ranked in the national polls nine times with their highest finish coming in 1994, a No. 4 ranking following Duke's first ACC regular season title and a win over 13-time national champion North Carolina to snap the Tar Heels' 101-game unbeaten streak.

The 1992 season was among Hempen's finest, as he led his team to a school-record 17 wins and a berth in the national championship game in its first trip to the NCAA tournament. Since then, Duke teams have advanced to the NCAA tournament every season since 1998.

In his 13 seasons at Duke, he coached nine All-Americans, 34 All-ACC players, seven Academic All-ACC selections and three players currently playing professionally in WUSA.

He also has significant experience with the United States Soccer Federation's Olympic Development Program, specifically in Region III and as the head coach of Colorado's state ODP Program.

Born June 6, 1958 in St. Louis, Hempen graduated from Bishop DeBourgh High School before attending Meramec Community College in St. Louis where he split time in goal for Meramec's 1976 Junior College National Championship and 1977 Runner-Up teams.

He continued his collegiate career as a two-year letterwinner in goal at the University of Evansville for the 1978 and '79 seasons compiling a 22-11-6 mark in that span. He graduated from Evansville in 1981 with a degree in Health/Physical Education. The New Jersey Americans of the American Soccer League drafted Hempen in 1980.

Hempen got his start in the coaching profession as a graduate assistant at Northeast Louisiana before assuming full-time assistant duties at Centenary College in Shreveport, La., where he served three years prior to his start at Duke.

He was an assistant coach on the Blue Devils' men's team from 1986-1991, compiling a 78-36-7 overall record and 16-16-4 ACC slate. In those six seasons Duke advanced to three NCAA Tournaments, winning the NCAA Championship in '86 with a 1-0 victory over Akron in Seattle.

He married then-Duke assistant coach and 1990 Colorado graduate Stephanie Poncher in 1999. The couple has a 5-year-old daughter, Emma, and a 3-year-old son, Lucas.

Paul Hogan is in his fifth season at Colorado, third as Hempen's top assistant as he was promoted in May of 2003.

In addition to his duties as assistant coach on the Boulder campus, Hogan is also in his fourth season coaching the Colorado '88 and '89 ODP teams.

Prior to his arrival in Boulder, Hogan spent three seasons at Allegheny where he guided the Gators to a 35-16-7 (.686) overall record and 17-6-2 (.739) North Coast Athletic Conference mark while producing 16 All-NCAC players.

His three Gator teams finished no lower than third in the final NCAC standings and his 1999 squad won a school record six conference games, matched by the 2000 team, earning Hogan conference coach of the year accolades and Allegheny NCAC Newcomer and Offensive Player of the Year postseason honors.

Hogan made the leap to head coach in April 1998 from Duke where he was an assistant for the 1996 and '97 seasons. He assisted the Blue Devils to a two-year record of 28-11. Facilities & Grounds budgets for the department after inheriting an operation that had accumulated a deficit of over $1 million.

During his five years in Moscow, he oversaw the transition of the Vandals to the Division I-A ranks from the Big Sky Conference. Under Bohn, Idaho began construction on the Vandal Athletics Center, the first facilities improvement for UI athletics in two decades. He was also the driving force behind a 20-percent increase in the Vandal Scholarship Fund and a $350,000 surge in annual corporate support.

Mike Bohn was introduced as just the sixth athletic director in University of Colorado history on April 13, 2005, returning to the place where he starred as a prep athlete before embarking on a journey that would take him all over the western half of the United States and then back home.

Bohn, 44, came to Colorado from San Diego State University, where he left an indelible imprint in just 18 months as the Aztecs' director of athletics. He agreed to a five-year contract with the Buffaloes.

He replaced Jack Lengyel, who served as interim athletic director since last December 1; Lengyel took over the position when Dick Tharp stepped down on November 22. Tharp held the role from 1996 through 2004, as he followed three legendary men in CU athletic history, Harry Carlson (1927-65), Eddie Crowder (1965-84) and Bill Marolt (1984-96).

Aside from Lengyel, who came out of retirement to serve in an interim capacity, Bohn is the first person to be named CU athletic director without having previously worked within the CU system. Carlson and Crowder were coaches upon being named, Marolt returned to CU where he coached for 10 years before leaving for the U.S. Olympic ski team, and Tharp was a university attorney with strong CU-Boulder campus ties.

Bohn's brief tenure at San Diego State featured many remarkable accomplishments, including the instilling of energy, enthusiasm, accountability and determination into the Aztec staff. Officially named SDSU athletic director on October 6, 2003, his immediate task was to unify the athletic department, the campus and the community of San Diego.

Bohn strategically and steadily restructured the SDSU athletic department with emphasis on fund raising, fiscal responsibility, compliance and academics.

Under his watch, San Diego State set a new single-game attendance record in football when more than 57,000 fans watched the Aztecs' win over Idaho State in the 2004 season opener. The average football attendance of 35,995 in 2004 was the best at the school since 1993, with the increase of 14,369 fans per game marking the third largest attendance jump in the country.

The enthusiasm spread to other sports. SDSU blanked Houston, 4-0, and set a college baseball record with a crowd of 40,106 on hand in the opener of San Diego's PETCO Park. When the Aztecs hosted Colorado State in a 2005 Big Monday basketball battle, SDSU set a school record with nearly 4,000 students crammed into Cox Arena for the event.

He landed the San Diego State position after serving five years as athletic director at the University of Idaho (1999-2003), where he first made his mark as a lead administrator in the area of transformation.

At Idaho, he developed projects for new facilities, increased community and corporate support, and produced balanced

Between Idaho and San Diego State, Bohn hired 12 head coaches in all as well as several administrators.

Bohn prepared for his career goal of becoming a Division I athletic director entirely in the state of Colorado, his adopted "native" state despite being born in Illinois; he moved to Colorado with his family when he was one year old.

His first job in athletic administration came at the Air Force Academy, where he worked for the better part of nine years (1984-92). During his tenure in Colorado Springs, Bohn advanced from an intern to assistant athletic director. He served as executive director of the Blue and Silver Club, as well as other external operations throughout his stay at the academy. He played a major role in the increase of football season ticket sales from 6,000 to 20,000 and implemented a fundraising campaign that generated $16 million for stadium improvements.

From 1992 to 1995, Bohn served as Director of Marketing for the College Football Association, where he worked for one of the most respected people in the history of college athletics, Chuck Neinas (the one-time Big Eight Conference commissioner). The CFA, the precursor to the current Bowl Championship Series, consisted of six major football conferences encompassing 67 universities. He created and developed the CFA "Good Works Team" which recognized significant off-the-field accomplishments in the area of community relations of 11 football student-athletes nationally (a team that is still selected today by the American Football Coaches Association).

Bohn was involved in many facets of the organization's operations, including the administration of a $67 million television package involving ABC, ESPN and ESPN2. He also formulated a blueprint for the promotion and development of the image of college football as a whole.

He then moved on to Colorado State University, where he spent the next three years (1996-98) as an associate athletic director for the Rams. At CSU, he was responsible for all external revenue-producing operations, including ticket sales, fund raising through the Greater Ram Club, licensing, corporate sales, signage, capital campaigns and broadcasting rights fees, as well as special events.

Along with increasing revenue on several fronts, Bohn helped escalate student interest in CSU athletics while working with Associated Students of Colorado State University.

He earned his bachelor's of arts degree from the University of Kansas in 1983, where he was recruited as a quarterback and also played baseball. He then graduated with a master's degree in sports administration from Ohio University in 1984. While earning his master's, he worked as a graduate assistant football coach for the Bobcats.

Bohn is a former member of the NCAA Championships Cabinet and the Division I-A Athletics Directors Association Executive Council. During his stay at Idaho, he was a member of the Big West Conference executive committee and served on the University of Idaho executive council.

Born November 16, 1960 in Hinsdale, Ill., he graduated from Boulder High School where he lettered in football, basketball and baseball. He is married to the former Kim Zeren, and the couple has two children, Michaelyn (21) and Brandon (19).

2003 BIG 12 ALL-NEWCOMER TEAM

2004 FIRST-TEAM ACADEMIC ALL-BIG 12

IN 2005: A season ending injury may have dampened her spirits, but the coaching staff expects Grandinetti to be back where she was prior to her injury, which was as a major player and contributor for the program.

JUNIOR (2004): For a second straight season, Grandinetti led the team in assists with six and consecutive assist matches with feeds against LSU, Denver and Iowa State. Her single score on the season was off a Jen Thais rebound against Oklahoma for the putback in the 52nd minute. She also paired up with Fran Munnely for scores in back-to-back games against LSU and Denver. Her junior season came to an abrupt end in the 24th minute of CU's Big 12 Tournament quarterfinal match against Missouri when she was clipped from behind by the Tigers' Lacy Moore and tore her left ACL. Her half dozen assists was ninth in the league and her assists per game were also fifth in all games and sixth in both categories in Big 12 only matches.

She has a strong long serve, and has used it twice to set up CU scores. She combined with freshman Katie Griffin on four goals.

AT KENTUCKY: With a single goal and assist (both vs. Indiana) during Kentucky's 11-9 season, she was the team's ninth-leading scorer with three points. IN 2005: With a productive summer behind her, the coaching staff expects Griffin's junior season to surpass that of her freshman and sophomore.

SOPHOMORE (2004): After leading the team in goals and points as a freshman, she was the most productive of the sophomore class with five scores on 48 shots and five assists. She was second on the team in game winning scores (3), with back-to-back winning goals against Utah to claim the Wake Forest/adidas Classic title and LSU a week later. JUNIOR (2004): Keller has played all but five minutes this season, having gone the distance in 22 contests in '04, bringing her two year total to 39. She had a school record un-scored upon streak that lasted 465 minutes between the 35th minute of Baylor (Oct. 15) to the 56th of Missouri (Nov. 3). She led the league in shutouts (11), shutouts per game (0.52), is second in save percentage (.856) and goals against average (0.70) in all games played. She registered a career high 11 saves vs. Missouri then 12 vs. A&M in the Big 12 Tournament. CU ATHLETE OF THE WEEK (Sept. 13, 2004)

IN 2005: Every year Ashlie Mihalcin has gotten better. She's gone the extra mile in training this summer and the coaching staff is expecting the same of her this year as she did last year, if not better as a result.

JUNIOR (2004): A co-captain, Mihalcin started all 23 matches in '04 (having come off the field for only 81 minutes), extending her starting streak to 63. Her move from outside back to the midfield paid dividends for the Buffs as she had a career and tied school record single-season 10 goals (one shy of single season mark), three assists and team-leading 23 points, her second single-season record. She netted her first career gamewinner against Air Force and has scored the winner at Iowa State, Baylor and at Oklahoma State against former teammate Jeanne Rankin in goal in the latter and assisted on Maura Gentile's gamewinner at Nebraska in the regular season finale. Despite just one score, she was named the Wake Forest/adidas Classic MVP with her tenacious play. Colorado's main target on corner kicks, as she scored five times on set plays. In the take-one-for-the-team category, she was the recipient of an Amanda Burke (A&M) flagrant foul in the 46th minute of a second round Big 12 Tournament match, but never came off the field.

SOPHOMORE (2003): Mihalcin started every one of 20 games at outside back and only came off the field in three games during CU's Big 12 title run. The most likely of the four backs to go on the offensive, she had 4 goals, including the game winner against Oklahoma State. She leads all of the backs with 8 shots, mostly off corners.

FRESHMAN (2002): One of only four players (two freshmen) to start all 20 games as the Buffs' starting outside back. She was named to the Soccer America Team of the Week when she became CU's third player of the season to connect on a goal and an assist in a single game, doing so against Oklahoma.

HIGH SCHOOL: Mihalcin was a first-team all-conference performer her freshman through senior seasons. She was also the team's most valuable player and a 3A first-team all-state pick the last three seasons and honorable mention Class 3A Player of the Year as a sophomore and first-team all-state and all-Colorado as a senior guiding FC to an 18-1 record with 15 goals and 6 assists. 2003 SOCCER BUZZ THIRD-TEAM ALL-AMERICAN
2004 FIRST TEAM ACADEMIC ALL-BIG 12; 2004 NSCAA ALL-AMERICA THIRD-TEAM

IN 2005: The most decorated player in program history, the coaching staff is hoping that Munnelly pushes all of her school records so far out of reach that it will be a challenge for the next group to reach what she's accomplished at the University of Colorado.

JUNIOR (2004): Munnelly extended her career starting streak to 63 games and as a junior played complete games in all but five contests and averaged 87 minutes. One of three midfielders in the double figure points column, her nine goals and team-leading (and tied school record) 23 points were a single season career best for CU's first All-American. She had two gamewinning scores on the year, opening the seven-goal scoring spree against Texas Tech just three minutes and 30 seconds into the game, the quickest goal scored in program history and a penalty kick in overtime against MU in the first round of the Big 12 Tournament. She had seven games with four or more shots, and had a season high five attempts against both Denver and Texas. After registering just one point in a five game midseason stretch, she would score in back-to-back-to-back games against Texas, Baylor and Tech, adding a pair of assists in the latter. She went the last three regular season games without a score, but converted a pair of penalty kicks against MU and A&M in the Big 12 Tournament to make up for it. Her postseason accolades included her third appearance on the first-team all-Big 12 team (just the 13th player in league history to do so), her second Soccer Buzz all-region selection and her first on the NSCAA All-America third team, the first All-American distinction for a Buff. After the season her playing resume was expanded to include an invitation to the Under-21 National Team Camp in Carson, Calif.

SOPHOMORE (2003): Just the second player in Big 12 history to be named Rookie of the Year one season and Player of the Year the next (joining Texas' Kelly McDonald), she earned the distinction for a second straight season as an attacking mid. She played a much different role in '03, as Hempen surrounded her with more offensive threats. She had 6 scores, 7 assists and 19 points and bragging rights to the gamewinners against No. 9 Denver, Seton Hall, San Jose State and Texas Tech. She and Kathryn Grandinetti split efforts on corner kicks and Munnelly went one of two on the season in penalty kicks. She led CU in shots (57) and was one of four players to net multiple goal games, doing so at Texas Tech where she scored a school record five points. Her 19 points on the season was second on the team, and is the third best single season offensive output and her 7 assists is the second best single season mark. She had a pair of goals in the spring, against Northern Colorado and the U-19 ODP team.

FRESHMAN (2002): The most dominant player in Colorado's history after just a single season, she became the first CU player ever to be named All-Central Region, the Big 12 Rookie of the Year, first-team All-Big 12 (one of only two freshmen in the league to earn the distinction) and to the Big 12 All-Newcomer Team. She led the team in shots (80), goals (7), assists (6) and points (20) and was CU's all-time freshman leader in all four categories and is already listed among the career top 10 charts. After her first season she held the school's single season record in assists, points and shots and her eight shots against both Baylor and Oklahoma, were both one shy of the school mark of nine. She was named the Big 12 Newcomer of the Week (another CU first) after netting two goals against Eastern Illinois and Maine to pace CU to its own early season Classic title. She put an exclamation point on her rookie season when she netted CU's lone goal in an upset (1-0) win over Missouri in the Big 12 Tournament's first round, giving the Buffs their first-ever postseason win.

HIGH SCHOOL: One of the most decorated prep players in CHSAA in recent history, Munnelly compiled a 54-16-5 career record, including one loss seasons as a sophomore and junior. Over four years she netted 90 goals and 38 assists for 214 points. (El Dorado/ISC Strikers)

IN 2005: Colorado's only backup keeper, Radlinski will come in knowing that she's really going to have to work at getting gametime behind all-Big 12 keeper Jessica Keller. (Santa Margarita/So Cal Blues)

2002 BIG 12 ALL-NEWCOMER TEAM

2003 SECOND TEAM ALL-BIG 12

2003 NSCAA/adidas THIRD TEAM ALL-CENTRAL REGION

IN 2005: A very vocal leader, Regan has continued to develop as a solid collegiate defender. The same is expected of her senior campaign.

JUNIOR (2004): Regan played all but three games in '04 due to injury, sitting out the Air Force match with a left ankle sprain and regular season Texas A&M and Texas weekend with a right ankle sprain. She started all but two of the 20 matches she's played in her junior season, playing all but 143 minutes in those contests. Her three assists on the season are fourth on the team in the category. She had the second assist on Ashlie Mihalcin's gamewinners at Wake Forest and at Iowa State and had the serve on Jen Thai's score against Northern Colorado. She netted the second latest regulation score in CU history as her first career goal, a dramatic score, with eight seconds left against Missouri in the Big 12 Tournament opener, and forcing overtime which CU eventually won on a penalty kick. While her shots (8) are off pace of her sophomore year (14), half of them (3) have been on goal. She led all Colorado 'backs in shots (8) and was a target on corner kicks.

SOPHOMORE (2003): After starting just a handful of games as a freshman (5), Regan was Colorado's starting center back in all 20 as a sophomore and was on the pitch all but 75 minutes. She had 14 shots on the season, mostly off headers off the far post on corners. Her visibility in the backfield earned her second-team All-Big 12 recognition by the league's coaches and a spot on the NSCAA/adidas All-Central Region's third team.

FRESHMAN (2002): After starting the first five games of the season in the backfield, Regan came off the bench in 13 of the last 14 games for Meghan Swanzy and contributed six shots.

HIGH SCHOOL: Regan's Rancho Santa Margarita team went 18-4-0 and advanced to the semis of the California Interscholastic Federation Championships her sophomore year before going 22-2 and winning the CIF Division 3 Championship in 2001, a title they successfully defended her senior year along with earning an NSCAA national ranking of third. Her freshman through senior seasons SMCHS won the Serra League title. Her senior season she was first-team All-Serra League, second team All-CIF and a member of the Division 3 Senior All-Star Team. Her Southern California Blues club team are the five-time league champions. The 1999-2000 version of SCB were the Surf Cup, Pleasanton Friendship Classic, Premier League, CSL League Cup, Nomads College Showcase, State Cup, Super Club, Regional and Western Regional champions before the season climaxed with the U-16 national championship and U-17 national finalists in 2001. Also in 2001 they won the Pleasanton Friendship Classic, California Premier League Championship, State Cup and Western Regional titles. This year the U-19 So Cal Blues were finalists at the Pleasanton Friendship Classic. Her ODP experience includes state pool play in 2001 and the 2001 ODP Adidas Cup Championship.

In December of 2000 she was in a Backstreet Boys video, "The Call," and appeared in a Target commercial that aired during the 2002 Emmy's.

DARCI SMERCHEK

5-4 • Sr.-3L • D

Lakewood, Colo.

(Green Mountain/Colo Academy)

IN 2005: One of the unsung players on the roster, Smerchek didn't play every minute of every game, but started most and at the end of the week she's a starter and won't allow anyone to take the job from her.

JUNIOR (2005): Smerchek's streak of 21 straight games as a starter (dating back to the '03 season) came to an end when she came off the bench against Northern Colorado for 34 minutes. She had 11 complete games. Her five shots on the season were second among the backs.

SOPHOMORE (2003): After coming off the bench for Alyssa Burgess at the right back position in the first seven games of the season, Smerchek started the last 11, mostly at left back. Since assuming that starting role against Iowa State on Sept. 28, she was on the field all but 36 minutes.

FRESHMAN (2002): One of the quickest players on the team, Smerchek started the first five matches of the season and again against then third-ranked A&M in the Big 12 Tournament before a midseason reorganization of the lineup that found her coming off the bench in 10 of the last 14 games.

HIGH SCHOOL: As a freshman and sophomore Smerchek attended Dakota Ridge High School where the Eagles were among the top-16 teams in 4A play her freshman year and a top-four team as a sophomore. Her Colorado Girls Soccer Academy club teams finished second in regional play four years in a row and won nationals in their U-18 year.

Alamo, Calif.

(Monte Vista/UCLA/MTV United)

2004 BIG 12 ALL-NEWCOMER TEAM

IN 2005: The coaching staff hopes to have True back from a spring season injury by the start of the Big 12 slate Sept. 23 against Nebraska. She's a kid that can play anywhere up the middle of the field...a true soccer player.

SOPHOMORE (2004): True started all but one game in her first season in Boulder, giving up her spot in the lineup for a change to support the start of all three seniors in their last home game vs. Oklahoma. She led all newcomers in minutes (1,560) and points (7). She netted her first goal as a Buff with the gamewinner at Denver when a Kathryn Grandinetti cross was headed by Fran Munnelly and the save rebounded to True for the putback. Her second score was in the regular season finale at Nebraska, where she took a game high five shots, putting the Buffs up 2-0 off a Grandinetti/Katie Griffin combination. She took a career-high five shots in both those matches. She got the nod on direct free kicks just outside the 18 and hers with 14 seconds remaining vs. Missouri nailed the crossbar and was sent back into play where Tricia Regan would score on the putback to force OT and CU's eventual first round Big 12 Tournament win.

AT UCLA: As a freshman at UCLA during the 2002 season, she played in all 22 games on an 18-4-0 Bruins team that advanced to the NCAA Championships before dropping a 1-0 decision to then-No. 4 Texas A&M in a shootout. As a freshman she netted six points on a game winning goal, four assists and 30 shots. She redshirted the 2003 season, spending the semester at home.

HIGH SCHOOL: A four-year letterwinner at Monte Vista High School in Danville, Calif., True was the East Bay Player of the Year. She led the league in scoring her senior year. She was a two-time Monte Vista Player of the Year and 2001 NSCAA/adidas High School and USYSA All-American. Out of high school she was the No. 20th ranked player on Soccer America's Top-25 recruiting list. A Pool player with the U-19 U.S. National Team, she traveled to Europe with the U-19s. A California ODP player since she was 14, she was an adidas ESP All-Star team member. On the club level she played for MTV United and won the U-16 Premier League Championship. She also played prep lacrosse at Monte Vista.

IN THE CLASSROOM: A sociology major, True will be a second semester junior academically in 2005 and would like to teach elementary school and coach after college.

PERSONAL: Alicia Erin True was born July 17, 1984 in Richland, Wash. She is the daughter of Doug (a former All-PAC 10 basketball player at Cal) and Denise True of Alamo, Calif. THE UNIVERSITY OF COLORADO

DID YOU KNOW

That the University of Colorado has the largest library collection in the Rocky Mountain Region and has 12 million books. The Athletic Department donated pay-per-view proceeds from the 2003 Washington State game to the CU-Boulder Libraries.

That nearly 1,500 students are enrolled in six residential academic programs

"The University of Colorado, and Boulder, is a town which stops where the Rocky Mountains begin. Normally in America such a superb site would be occupied by a golf course, but somebody goofed and instead they built what may be the most beautifully situated campus in the world... if anyone asks you to Boulder, I have one word of advice: 'Go.'"

From the London (England) Observer Magazine article, "Us and Them," by Simon Hoggart (April 23, 1989)

The largest University in the Centennial State is a big school, but its Northern Italian architecture, named fourth in a ranking of the "most architecturally successful campuses in the country," in The Campus as a Work of Art, creates an intimate, visitor-friendly public space thanks to the varicolored sandstone and red-tiled roof facade of more than 200 buildings created by its rural Tuscany influence.

STUDENT-ATHLETE ADVISORY COMMITTEE

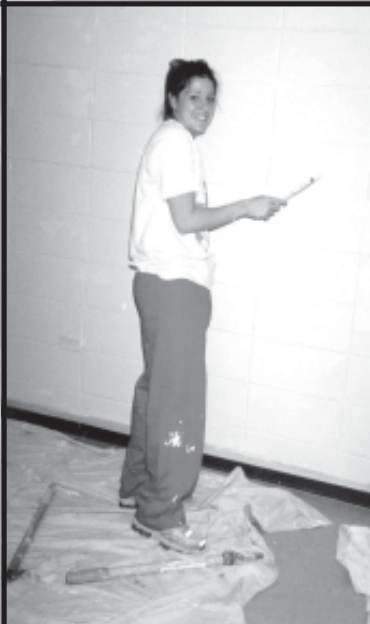

The Student-Athlete Advisory Committee (SAAC) provides a voice for the interests and concerns of the athletes at CU. Two members from each of the 17 intercollegiate teams are selected by the coaches and by their peers. They focus on areas such as academics, community service, university relations, student-athlete life and career development. SAAC also strives to facilitate communication and foster camaraderie between student-athletes and the administration. In May 2001, SAAC created a unique ceremony especially for recognizing the student-athletes. The CU Sports People of the Year (CUSPY) Awards marked an inaugural event that has become an annual tradition. Loosely fashioned after the "ESPYS", it's a fun-loving celebration designed to recognize athletic achievements, as voted on by the student-athletes.

BUFF FACILITIES

The Buffs practice on a newly refurbished, soccer only, Prentup Field (bottom left). In its October 1993 issue, Athletic Administration magazine garnered Facility of Merit distinction upon the Dal Ward Athletic Center (right), which houses the Buffs' lockerroom and all student-athlete support services. The Folsom Field Expansion Project (bottom right) is a sign of things to come as CU's Athletics 2010 plan, CU intends on building several state-of-the-art facilities in the next several years to continue the expansion of its quickly growing programs. In 2002, Folsom Field (below right) was tabbed the Sports Management Turf Association's "Football Field of the Year".

The University of Colorado and NIKE, Inc., are in the fifth year of a second agreement between the two that has the world's largest shoe manufacturer to providing both equipment and financial support to the CU athletic department.

Being the well-renowned leader in the athletic shoe industry, NIKE has made a foray into the athletic apparel venue and strives to create the absolute best quality workout gear and uniforms available to any college student-athlete. The University of Colorado has benefitted from NIKE's foresight as the company lends its research for new products and designs to make things better for the student-athlete.

CU and NIKE agreed to their partnership in 1995, and the two have since developed a solid relationship. The initial agreement which had a value of $6 million, was one of the best arrangements between a corporate sponsor and a university in the nation. NIKE supplies all 17 of CU's intercollegiate sports programs and its 300-plus student-athletes with equipment as well as game uniforms, promotional support for coaches' camps and team performance bonus provisions. NIKE has also contributed close to $3 million in cash to the athletic department over the course of both contracts.

"It's difficult to value the entire transaction, given price fluctuations in equipment, but I think it's fair to say that the agreement has a minimum value of approximately $6 million," CU athletic director Dick Tharp said. "The equipment needs for our athletes is extensive, and this is probably the best product supply agreement in the country. I was pleased with the final agreement and NIKE's good faith efforts."

NIKE, a powerhouse in the world of sports, makes shoes for about every activity imaginable, including football, basketball, baseball, volleyball, golf, soccer, tennis, wrestling, cross-training and cheerleading. The company also makes casual shoes in addition to its growing line of athletic wear, which features shirts, shorts, uniforms, running clothes, caps and leotards. NIKE sells its products in over 80 countries worldwide, is listed on the New York Stock Exchange, employs over 17,000 people and did over $5 billion in business for its fiscal 2002 year.

COLORADO AND

SPEED-STRENGTH AND CONDITIONING

DID YOU KNOW?

That due to its high altitude and low humidity, many Olympic-caliber athletes call Boulder home.

That the entry to Colorado's speed-strength and conditioning center is CU's trophy room, housing the Buffs' more prominent awards. An extension of the trophy room are two glass-enclosed cases in the front entry of the Dal Ward Center, currently showcasing three of Colorado's 19 NCAA Championship trophies.

Along the walls of the speed-strength and conditioning center are photos of CU's Olympians, professional athletes and photos of our all-conference performers.

That in-season, players lift two to three days a week, depending on the team's schedule.

That during the postseason and summer months, players work out with soccer specific workouts.

THAT THE BUFFS STARTED PREPARING NOVEMBER 14th for AUGUST 27th!

Mission Statement: The goal of the Colorado Speed-Strength & Conditioning program is to help each student-athlete achieve her maximum athletic potential in a positively coached environment that promotes the values of hard work, dedication, teamwork and excellence.

The Colorado Speed-Strength & conditioning center is currently in the middle of a projected $400,000 transformation, as the Buffs' training center has already undergone a $150,000 facelift by adding new equipment and training options for its student-athletes.

Heading the department is Greg Finnegan, who spent five years as an assistant to the NFL's Jacksonville Jaguars before arriving at CU in 2003. Finnegan has assembled one of the most complete and experienced teams in the Big 12, as the crew includes Sarah Ramey who oversees the team's training sessions, both individually and as a team, and the recent hire of a dietician/assistant speed-strength and conditioning coach.

Finnegan and his staff have devised a program that caters to each student-athlete's specific and individualized needs. With every exercise's attempt and result being recorded, each athlete is put on a program that maximizes his or her potential and enhances the ability to excel.

Colorado's Speed-Strength and Conditioning Center is one of a select few collegiate weight rooms in the country that overlooks its football stadium's field, certainly boasting the best view in the nation!

Boulder and Denver are known for lots of things. But some things even surprise the lifelong resident, or first-time visitor.

- Denver is called the "Mile High City" because it is exactly 5,280 feet above sea level. In fact, there is a spot on the west steps of the State Capitol building that is exactly 5,280 feet above sea level and there is a row of seats at Coors Field with the same bragging rights.
- Denver is the most educated city in the United States. It has the greatest percentage of high school and college graduates of any major metropolitan area
- Golf courses remain open all year and have been played on as many as 30 days in January.
- The Denver/Boulder metropolitan area is the 20th largest in the United States. Boulder is not classified as a suburb of Denver; it's nestled in its own valley at the foothills of the Rocky Mountains. Contrary to popular belief, Denver is not in the mountains; it is near them. The "Foothills" start to rise 15 miles west of the city. Slightly beyond that is the Continental Divide and a series of peaks rising to 14,000 feet, known locally as the "Front Range".
- Denver is also the "thinnest" city in America while Boulder is the second "fittest" city in America according to Shape Magazine and Self proclaimed Boulder one of the 10 healthiest places for women to live, with a perfect 100 in water quality.
- Boulder has 200 miles of public hiking and biking trails, approximately 30,000 acres of open space and a 16-mile Boulder Creek Path which runs through the middle of town. The city of Denver offers over 450 miles of paved, designated bike paths, over 70 public golf courses and 143 free tennis courts. Denver also has the largest city park system in the nation with 205 within the city limits.
- Denver has the nation's second largest performing arts center and Denver's citizens contribute more public funding for the arts per capita than any other U.S. city.
- As the largest city in a 600-mile radius, Denver is the shopping capital of the Rocky Mountain West. Boulder is also known for having more used book stores per capita than any other city in the country. In that same issue, Boulder topped the list for best medium-sized city in the western half of the U.S.
- The Hotel Boulderado was named by combining Boulder and Colorado so no visitor would ever forget where they had stayed.
- Among 14 comparable cities, Boulder ranks no. 1 in people who walk to work, work at home and drive with more than one person in the car. It ranks second among those who bike.
- Bicycling is so highly regarded in Boulder that sometimes the city plows the Boulder Creek bike path before it plows the streets.
- The exterior of the house located at 1619 Pine Street was used as the characters' home in the well-known "Mork & Mindy" television show.
- Boulder's Third Flatiron towers 1,400 feet high, a few hundred feet higher than the Empire State Building, and has been climbed by people without using their hands, on roller skates, naked and in eight minutes (by separate climbers).
- The Flatiron Mountains got their name by pioneer women who said they looked like flat, metal irons used to iron their clothes.
- Flagstaff Mountain was named for the flagpole that sits on top of the summit, which was visible when Boulder was first settled.
- Robert Redford was a janitor at The Sink before moving on to become famous.

ACADEMICS AND ATHLETICS

Ellen Falender had the athletic department's sixth highest gpa

Colorado's student-athletes showed their true Black and Gold in 2004 when they graduated at a higher percentage rate than the general student population for the first time.

While 70 percent of the student-athletes graduated in the most recent six-year cycle, only 66 percent of their counterparts on campus did. The overall grade point average for student-athletes was 2.8 with 68 percent of them maintaining a 2.5 gpa or better.

u c a m p university of colorado athletic mentor program

To facilitate interactive opportunities between adult business professionals, community leaders, University of Colorado faculty and current student-athletes in the interest of fostering meaningful developmental and educational experiences, preparing student-athletes for life beyond college athletics, and cultivating pride and loyalty toward the University of Colorado.

GOALS

1. To provide guidance in peer and mentor relationship building.
2. To introduce the student-athlete to post graduate life skills and career development.
3. To place the student-athlete in viable community service projects.
4. To assist with opportunities in degree directed internships and employment prior to graduation.

UCAMP is a positive approach to offering community role models that provide a one-to-one relationship for student athletes. This relationship is meant to last for a two year period. Both parties agree to meet at times convenient and without interruption in the academic or athletic schedule of the student athlete. Staff, mentor and mentee will review and evaluate the relationship on an annual basis thereafter.

COLORADO SOCCER HAS HAD 56 FIRST TEAM ACADEMIC ALL-BIG 12 HONOREES

The 2003 soccer team won the athletic department's most improved honor for a team as its aggregate gpa rose .44 from the previous academic year

The University of Colorado at Boulder offers student-athletes a world-class education and an elite Division I athletic experience in arguably the most beautiful college setting in America and has been referred to as "the Harvard of the Rockies."

The Herbst Academic Center in the Dal Ward Athletic Center was created to help student-athletes meet and exceed the academic requirements of the University of Colorado. Since its inception, the goal of the Herbst Center has evolved to facilitating the academic and personal excellence of student-athletes. It works to empower student-athletes toward autonomy, personalized goal setting, critical decision making, and both academic and career development. To achieve this goal, the Herbst Academic Center provides numerous services for student-athletes:

- All student-athletes have an academic coordinator who provides academic and personal support from freshmen orientation through graduation.
- Every student-athlete receives free subject tutoring in any course, as well as a personal planner to assist in time management.
- Student-athletes receive priority registration to ensure that necessary courses are "open" for enrollment.
- Specialized academic programs are available to all student-athletes, whether struggling to pass a course or striving to earn a perfect 4.0.
- A computer laboratory with both personal computers and Macs are provided exclusively for student-athletes.
- Athletic eligibility status is monitored in accordance with University, Big 12, and NCAA academic requirements.
- Confidential counseling is available to help student-athletes with whatever challenges they may be facing.

The results of these services are an average grade point averages favorably to the general student population. Furthermore, 78% of student-athletes who exhaust their athletic eligibility at CU graduate.

RALPHIE IV THE BUFFALO

The University of Colorado has the most unique mascot in all of intercollegiate athletics, a real buffalo named Ralphie. The live buffalo mascot leads the football team out on the field both at the start of the game and second half. It is truly one of the special sights that exists anywhere in college or professional sports, especially for opposing teams, who often stop in the tracks watching the massive buffalo round the end zone and head directly at their sideline.

The Buffalo first appeared in 1934, three weeks after a contest to select an official school nickname by the Silver and Gold newspaper had come to an end and "Buffaloes" was the winning entry.

Prior to 1934, CU athletic teams usually were referred to as the "Silver and Gold," but other nicknames teams were sometimes called included Silver Helmets, Yellow Jackets, Hornets, Arapahoes, Big Horns, Grizzlies and Frontiersmen.

The first buffalo, "Mr. Chips," was eventually given to the University by Mahlon White. The buffalo was a regular at CU home games through the 1950s and was cared for by a men's honorary.

The CU football teams were without a mascot for several years before the original Ralphie made its first appearance at a CU function in 1966 (and as a six-month-old calf). For a while, she was billed as Ralph, the name given by the student body. An astute fan soon discovered that the buffalo was in fact a female, thus the name alteration to Ralphie.

Ralphie attended every CU home football game for 13 years (including bowl games), and retired at the end of the 1978 season.

Ralphie's replacement on the sidelines was Ralphie II, making her first-ever appearance at CU's final home game of the 1978 season. The buffalo's original name was Moon, short for Moonshine, but the name Ralphie had become so popular and traditional that it was restored.

Ralphie III was pressed into action earlier than anticipated, as she had been in training for the 1988 season. Originally named "Tequila," she made her debut on Nov. 7, 1987, when the Buffs beat Missouri, 27-10. After over 10 years of service, she passed away in January, 1998, at the age of 13.

Colorado's latest mascot is Ralphie IV, donated to the university as a yearling in April, 1998, by media and sports entrepreneur Ted Turner.

Ralphie IV was born in April, 1997 on the Flying D Ranch in Gallatin Gateway, Montana. Named "Rowdy" by ranch hands, she was separated from her mother when she was about a month old and was literally found in the jaws of a coyote with bite marks around her neck.

Ralphie IV, rapidly growing and maturing, weighs in at about 1,300 pounds this year, well over twice her weight when she made her debut against Colorado State at Mile High Stadium in Denver on Sept. 5, 1998.
