

Win a visit from a CU men's or women's basketball player for your class!!

How does it work?

Each game* that the students attend will count as one point for their class. After each game we will tally how many students attended per class. The winner will be determined on cumulative points. So the more students that attend in combination with the number of games* attended, will create the total points

* Valid for 5 men's games and 4 women's game listed below.

How do you know which player (men's or women's) will come to visit your classroom?

The class that brings the most students to a women's game will get to pick a CU Women's player to visit their classroom, and the class that brings the most students to a men's game will get to pick a CU Men's player.

What games can you attend and have your class receive credit?
