HIGHLANDS RANCH — The Colorado women's golf team sits in 16th place in the 2007 Ron Moore Intercollegiate after play was suspended Monday due to darkness with most groups having three to four holes left to finish in the second round.

Senior Lindsay Senger was tied for 29th with a 4-over 76 in the first round. Halfway through the second round, Senger is 3-over par. CU freshman Stephanie Simich also carded a 76 in the opening round. She is 6-over through 12 holes in the second round.

Denver's Stephanie Sherlock holds the first-round lead with a 3-under 69 at Highlands Ranch Golf Club. The Pioneers are hosting the tournament.

Nebraska leads the team standings with a 10-over 298. Baylor is right behind at 300.

Tournament play should wrap up today with the completion of the second round and the third round as well.
