ERIE — Ryan Anderson on Tuesday became the second member of the 2006-07 University of Colorado golf team to qualify for the 2007 U.S. Amateur.

Anderson, a senior at CU last season, earned one of three spots in the Amateur in Tuesday's qualifying at Vista Ridge Golf Club.

He shot rounds of 67-72 and survived a four-man playoff for two berths in the Amateur, which will be played Aug. 20-26 in San Francisco.

Last week, current CU golfer Michael Baird earned a U.S. Amateur berth in qualifying at Colorado Golf Club.

Advancing Tuesday along with Anderson were Alexandre Kaleka of France (69-65—134) and University of Nevada golfer Chase Cooper, from Guymon, Okla., (67-72—139). Anderson and Cooper survived a playoff with Tristan Bierenbroodspot of the Netherlands and David Lysaught of Denver.

Kaleka stands 47th in the World Amateur Golf Rankings.
