Mark Wetmore Head Coach

MARK WETMORE Head Coach/Distance/Middle Distance 15th Season

As Colorado head coach Mark Wetmore enters his 15th season at Colorado, he does so as the only NCAA Division I coach to win all four NCAA cross country titles at the same school.

His women's team won the championship at lowa State in 2000, while his men won the following year at Furman. He has coached Adam Goucher (1998), Jorge Torres (2002) and Dathan Ritzenhein (2003) to men's individual titles, while Kara Grgas-Wheeler won the 2000 women's crown. Both men's and women's teams won the championship again in 2004 (CU became only the third school to win both championships in the same year). His 2006 men's team also won the title. His squads have won five team titles since 2000.

Wetmore's coaching career began immediately after high school with a USATF club team, while simultaneously he coached the distance runners at his alma mater Bernards High. Wetmore served a three year stint at Seton Hall (from 1988-1991) once again as the coach of the men's and women's distance events before moving to Boulder in 1991 and accepting an assistant position in 1992.

On November 6, 1995, Wetmore became CU's sixth head cross country and track and field coach. Just weeks later at the 1995 NCAA Cross Country Championship in Ames, Iowa, both teams finished on the podium; the women took second and the men placed fourth.

Wetmore has tutored 46 individual conference champions and nine individuals who have combined for 16 NCAA titles. He has coached 70 individuals to 212 All-American selections. Wetmore has produced 26 conference championship teams, most recently capturing the 2008 Big 12 Men's Outdoor Track and Field Championship at CU's Potts Field in May.

Wetmore's distance runners have represented the United States at dozens of international competitions. During their collegiate careers, eight athletes have qualified for the World Junior Cross Country Championships and six have earned berths in the Senior World Cross Country Championships. In 2007, Jenny Barringer captured the USA steeplechase title and represented the U.S. at the IAAF World Championships in Osaka, Japan. In 2008 she made the U.S. Olympic Team and broke her own American record with her ninth place finish in the Beijing final. Barringer topped that in 2009 when she won the U.S. title again and went on to a fifthplace finish at the IAAF World Championships in Berlin; breaking her own American record by almost 10 seconds. Barringer also won the inaugural USTFCCCA The Bowerman award on 2009, which goes to the top collegiate track and field athlete.

Heather BurroughsDistance/Middle Distance

His graduates have experienced post-collegiate success that is unrivaled by any NCAA distance program. Twenty-three of his athletes have earned professional running contracts and have combined for 10 USA Cross Country National Titles and 37 berths on USA teams that compete at the IAAF World Cross Country Championships. On the track, CU graduates have won 11 USA Championships and nine individuals have represented the U.S. at the IAAF World Track and Field Championships. Since 2000, eight graduates have combined for 11 spots on the U.S. Olympic Team roster.

A native of Bernardsville, N.J., Charles Mark Wetmore graduated with a bachelor's degree in English Education from Rutgers in 1978 and then completed a M.Ed. in movement sciences from Columbia in 1988.

HEATHER BURROUGHS

Assistant Coach/Distance/Middle Distance Sixth Season

Colorado's first female three-time cross country All-American, Heather Burroughs is in her sixth season assisting head coach Mark Wetmore with men's and women's middle and long distance runner.

Since joining the CU staff in 2004, Burroughs has coached 25 individual conference champions, nine conference team championships, four individual national champions, three NCAA team championships and USA National steeplechase champion and Olympian Jenny Barringer.

In her own collegiate career, she was a top five and all-conference cross country performer in 1994, 95, 97 and 98, including a runner-up finish in 1995. Burroughs claimed all-region honors in those same years and was an All-American in 94, 95 and 98. On the track she was a 15-time conference scorer, the 1995 indoor conference newcomer of the year and an All-American in the 5,000-meter run in 1998. In all, Burroughs competed in six NCAA indoor and outdoor track races.

Burroughs was born Feb. 25, 1976 in Kansas City, Kansas. She graduated from CU in 1999 with a degree in biology.

Casey Malone Throws

CASEY MALONE Assistant Coach/Throws 10th Season

Casey Malone, a 1998 NCAA Champion and twotime Olympian, enters his 10th season as the men's and women's throws coach at Colorado.

At the foot of the Flatirons, Malone has coached a pair of school record holders in both the women's indoor weight throw (Cortney Hutmacher, 62-08.50) and men's indoor weight (Zach Hazen, 63-09.50) along with the men's outdoor weight throw (Zach Hazen, 210-11). He has also tutored six NCAA qualifiers, 12 regional qualifiers, four junior national qualifiers and several Big 12 scorers and champions. At the 2007 Big 12 Outdoor Championships, Malone had four throwers score for the Buffs, which included his first Big 12 Champion in Hannah Warfield-Ruffatto (javelin). Zach Hazen scored in two events for the Buffs, taking second in the hammer throw and eighth in the discus. Warfield-Ruffatto earned the Olympic 'A' Qualifying standard and Hazen recorded the 'B' standard during the season. In 2008, he coached James Begley to the Big 12 Discus crown. Malone kept the streak alive in 2009 as Brandin Williams won the Big 12 javelin title with the sixth best throw in CU history (222-01)

A four-time All-American and 1998 NCAA discus champion at Colorado State, he owns a 224-08 pr in the event, thrown at the Colorado Elite meet in Fort Collins, Colo. It was the best throw by an American and he was the fifth best performer in the event in the world in 2009.

Malone was also the 1996 Junior National and Junior World Champion and finished sixth at the 1998 Goodwill Games. He competed in the 1996 Olympic Trials, finishing 18th, improving to ninth four years later for a shot at the 2000 Olympic Games. Four-years and another trial later, he was named to the United States roster when he finished third at the trials in Sacramento. The only American to advance to the finals, he would go on to finish sixth in Athens, the best effort for an American in the event. Malone once again took third at the U.S. Trials in 2008 to advance to his second Olympic Games. He placed 19th in the prelims of the discus at Beijing.

Malone won his first USATF title in 2009 with a final toss of 213-03. He went on to take fifth at the IAAF World Championships in Berlin that August.

Following the 2004 Olympic Games, Malone received invitations to compete on the European Grand Prix circuit. In Brussels he finished fourth, throwing 64 meters in the Golden League Meet and sixth in Berlin in the ISTAF Golden League Meet. He had earned enough Grand Prix points to compete in the World Athletic Final in Monaco, where he finished seventh before returning to the States.

Born April 6, 1977, Malone is a Wheat Ridge, Colo.

2010 Outlook

The Buffaloes will kick off the 2010 track and field season on January 15 at the Air Force Academy All-Comers meet before hosting the Potts Indoor Invitational January 22-23 at Balch Fieldhouse, their only home meet of the indoor campaign.

Colorado, a top-notch distance program, has taken huge strides in the sprints and field events to become competitive in the Big 12 Conference, as well as the nation over the last few years. Each discipline continues to score points in the conference championships and will look to add even more this season.

DISTANCE

Colorado is known for having a dominate distance program, winning 12 Big 12 men's titles and 11 women's cross country titles over the past 14 years under the direction of head coach Mark Wetmore and assistant coach Heather Burroughs. Both the men and women's team placed second at the Big 12 Championship this past fall and many of those athletes are ready to compete on the track.

Jordan Kyle and Kenyon Neuman are the two seniors on the roster and look to finish their careers as Buffs strong. Both recorded All-American honors in 2009, Neuman during the indoor season (5k) and Kyle during the outdoor season (10k). Neuman only has outdoor eligibility remaining, but Kyle has both seasons to compete.

Juniors Matt Tebo and Christian Thompson have scored for the Buffs at the conference championship and redshirt sophomore Richard Medina has also made a big impact in the past. Medina redshirted the 2009 season after scoring in the 5 and 10k at the 2008 outdoor championship. Other men from the cross country team that will look to be a factor this season include Joe Bosshard, Aric Van Halen and Andy Wacker.

With the graduation of Olympian Jenny Barringer, Emily Hanenburg is the eldest returning member of the distance squad. Hanenburg, a fourth-year junior scored for the Buffs in the 3,000-meter steeplechase at the Big 12 Championship last May after placing sixth overall, and was joined by sophomore Emma Coburn, who advanced to the NCAA finals in the event after a fourth-place finish at Big 12s.

Laura Thweatt, a junior, has been one of the top distance runners for CU in the past couple of seasons, and this year she is looking to have a breakout season. There are several freshmen who are looking to make an impact as well, most notably Allie McLaughlin, who finished fifth at the NCAA Cross Country Championship in November to lead Colorado.

MIDDLE DISTANCE

Coaches Wetmore and Burroughs also have a very talented young group of middle distance runners this season. Stephen Kasica and Matt Biegner are ready to have huge seasons and will look for some help scoring points from Jonny Stevens and Grant Duffy.

The women will be young, but also have a great deal of talent. Freshman Laura Tremblay, who was All-Big 12 and all-region on the cross country team this past fall, will look to help guide the Buffs along with twin sister Elizabeth. Both have excellent middle distance credentials and will receive help from several other newcomers on the roster.

JUMPS/COMBINED EVENTS

Assistant coach Lindsey Malone continues to make the combined events and jumps program at CU one that will compete against the top programs in the Big 12 and in the nation.

Juniors Alex Von Hagen and Adam Salzmann have come close to scoring at conference meets in the past and have taken the strides that should get them on the podium this year. Salzmann became just the second Buff to ever record 5,000 or more points in the heptathlon and Von Hagen is right on his tail. Sophomore Eddie Taylor had a great freshman outing and also looks to be a strong competitor in the Big 12.

Sophomore women Brianne Beemer, Katie Dreher and Alyssa Frank are all on the verge of scoring at the conference meets as well. All three qualified for the USA Junior Championships last June and have continued to improve. Beemer ran the fastest 800-meter time in the pentathlon last February and looks to make an even bigger dent in the record book this time around.

Katie Dreher

Kevin Fasing

Kaity Kark

Stephen Kasica

Allie McLaughlin

Malone also added several jumpers to her stable of talent. Freshmen Jason DeWitt and Holly Odneal are very promising in the high jump and Tyler Thompson looks to be a solid performer for CU in the long and triple jumps.

SPRINTS/HURDLES

Assistant coach Drew Morano is in his first season at the helm of the CU sprints and hurdles crew and has a strong core of returning talent. Leading the way is indoor and outdoor 200-meter school record holder Jeremy Dodson. Dodson only has outdoor eligibility remaining, but will be a huge asset in training the whole year. Dodson will be joined by his younger brothers, Quinton Dodson and A.J. Whitaker, who both made huge strides during their freshmen campaigns. Freshman Kyle MacIntosh was one of the top hurdle recruits in the nation and will look to challenge the elders on the team for a varsity position.

On the women's side, juniors Joi and Toi Windham will look to take on more of a leadership role for the Buffs. Toi scored for CU at the 2008 Big 12 Outdoor Championship and looks to do so again this year. Morano also looks to see how his top newcomers will be able to contribute. In the offseason, he added Sydney Davis, Jennifer Gruver and Precious Lyons who look to add points for CU as well.

THROWS

For the 10th season the Buff throwers are coached by 2004 and '08 Olympian Casey Malone. Like all of the other disciplines, Malone's throwers have continued to get better every season.

Senior Patrick Bachmann started scoring for the Buffs during the '09 season and looks to pick up more points for the Buffs in 2010. Malone hopes to see several of his throwers step up as well, including junior Trey Mullen and newcomers Michael Field and Dane Chobanian.

During the outdoor season, Malone will be able to add Brandin Williams and Kevin Fasing to the line-up for one of the best 1-2 punch in the conference in the javelin. They currently rank third and fourth, respectively, on CU's all-time performers list in the javelin and have both scored during Big 12 competition. Williams won the crown in '09. Fasing redshirted the season and was fifth in 2007.

Seniors Kaity Kark and Chynna McCall are ready for their final seasons as Buffs. Kark was close to scoring last season and with all of her improvements in the offseason, she's looking to pick up some points in the indoor and outdoor campaigns. Those two will lead a young group which includes a pair of freshmen and instate recruits in Emily Hunsucker and Molly Potter.

THE MEET SCHEDULE

Colorado officially kicks off the indoor season at the Air Force All-Comers Meet and will mainly stay on the Front Range for indoor season. A group of middle and long distance runners will compete at a pair of meets at the University of Washington. The lowa State Classic is also on the schedule so the Buffs can preview the track for the conference championship.

lowa State will host the Big 12 Indoor Championship in Ames, lowa, February 26-27. The following weekend CU will send athletes to a variety of last chance meets to qualify for the NCAA Championship, March 12-13, at the University of Arkansas in Fayetteville, Ark.

Just a week separates the indoor championship and the first meet of the outdoor season when the Buffs host the Potts Collegiate Invitational, March 20, at Potts Field. CU will host its second meet, the CU Invitational, on April 10. Once again the Buffs' schedule includes many competitions along the Front Range, but just like in the past, CU's schedule includes many meets around the country. Stanford, Oregon, Cal and the star-studded Mt. SAC Relays will be the west coast stops for CU. The Buffs will also have the option to compete twice in Texas at the Michael Johnson Invite and the Texas Relays.

Missouri will host the Big 12 Outdoor Championships on May 14-16 in Columbia, Mo. and Texas will host the NCAA West Regional, May 28-29. Hayward Field, home of the Oregon Ducks, will host the 2010 NCAA Outdoor Championship June 9-12 and the USATF Championships will take place in Des Moines, Iowa, from June 23-27.
