QUICKLY: Splitting games in a California road trip last weekend, the University of Colorado lacrosse team returns to Boulder for a four-game home stand. The Buffaloes open play with back-to-back Mountain Pacific Sports Federation games. CU (6-6 overall, 3-2 MPSF) hosts fellow newcomer USC on Friday, April 11. First draw is at 4 p.m. at Kittredge Field. The first 300 fans in attendance will receive a free T-shirt.

INTERVIEW OPPORTUNITIES: For those members of the media wishing to interview the women's lacrosse team during the season, please contact Assistant Sports Information Director/Lacrosse Contact Marlee Horn at (303) 492-7525 or marlee.horn@colorado.edu.

SCOUTING THE USC WOMEN OF TROY: In just its second season of lacrosse, USC is already proving to be a threat in the MPSF. The Women of Troy hold a 7-4, 5-0 MPSF record and are currently on a four-game winning streak, taking down San Diego State, Fresno State, St. Mary's and California. While USC breezed through victories over the Bulldogs and Gaels, their three other conference wins were by five or fewer goals. USC has fallen just once on the road this season, losing 13-10 to then-No. 7 Boston College at the beginning of the season. USC has a deep bench, with 19 players scoring goals this season, including six with 12 or more. Caroline de Lyra leads the group with 31 points, off 18 goals, including three game-winners, and 13 assists. The sophomore standout tallied nine total points in USC's 18-4 win over SMC and 20-15 victory against Cal. Freshman Alex Moore has netted 20 goals and caused six turnovers, while freshman Michaela Michael and sophomore Amanda Johansen have each recorded at least 13 goals, 30 draw controls and nine ground balls. The Women of Troy's strong attack has them leading the conference with 152 draw controls (a mark that also ranks 14th in the nation), ranking in the nation's top 27 in scoring offense, scoring margin and win percentage. They average 27.82 shots per game (over four more than the Buffs), taking an astounding 76 shots in their last two games combined. Lead goalie Liz Shaeffer has grabbed 49 saves and allowed 101 goals in over 608 minutes. Her 9.95 goals-against average ranks 49th in the nation. Shaeffer has also scooped up 31 ground balls, which rounds out the NCAA top 20.

PAC-12 NETWORKS: The Buffs get their second game under the bright lights of the Pac-12 Networks on Friday. Watch CU take on USC on the Pac-12 Mountain and Los Angeles Networks, with Jason Knapp doing play-by-play and Kara Lentz providing analysis. New to the Networks? *-MPSF Conference Game

LAST TIME OUT: CU battled back to within three goals late in the first half, but the then-No. 8 Stanford Cardinal proved too strong a foe, downing the Buffs 13-5 in Palo Alto. Stanford came out to a 5-0 start, but back-to-back goals by the Buffs helped trim their deficit to three. Stanford quickly got back to form, closing the first half on a 3-0 run to enter the break with an 8-2 lead. The Cardinal dominated the draw in 15 to five, including eight to one in the second half, and outshot CU 40 to 13. The 13 shots match a season-low for the Buffs, with then-No. 9 UMass serving as the only other opponent to slow the team to that level. The Buffs have had a strong inaugural schedule, with four of their six defeats coming at the hands of teams ranked or receiving votes in the IWLCa poll. Three ranked teams have been the only opponents to hold CU to five or fewer goals.

BUFFS AGGRAVATE THE UCD AGGIES: The Buffs picked up a big win during their California road trip, defeating UC Davis 14-5 to claim their third MPSF victory. CU had a season-low nine turnovers for a third time and held UCD to zero assists and five points, both lows for a CU opponent this season. Seven Buffs scored, with Johnna Fusco and Cali Castagnola combining for nine goals. For the second consecutive game, Katie Macleay was an important part of the attack, contributing three assists.

WHERE THE BUFFALO ROAM: The Buffs are 3-1 at home this season. CU defeated Regis 13-10 at Folsom Field in the Buffs' inaugural home game and took down Temple 15-6 in the first home game at Kittredge. Despite a late comeback, Brown handed CU its first home loss, 11-8 on a snowy Kitt Field. The Buffs resoundingly bounced back a week later with their first home conference victory, a 19-5 win over St. Mary's. That game had added importance, as it saw the Buffs breaking several records. The 14 goal win was CU's biggest margin of victory to date. CU was commanding on the attack, with its 19 goals, including 14 in the first half, 13 assists and 32 total points each marking team bests. Katie Macleay contributed a program-best seven assists in the win, tying for fourth most in MPSF history and the second most this season (behind Oregon's Shannon Propst's nine assist performance at Stetson on February 10), while Marie Moore won a CU single-game high eight draw controls. The Buffs also took a program-high 33 shots, a mark they would match in their next game, a 14-5 win over UC Davis. Fan support is key to CU's home success, as the Buffs rank second in the conference in home attendance with an average of 329 fans at each game.

KITTREDGE FIELD: Kitt Field, located on Kittredge Loop on the eastern edge of CU's Main Campus, is the official home of Colorado lacrosse. Kitt Field showcases Boulder's Flatiron Mountains and a pristine field courtesy of CU's turf management team. While there are bleachers for approximately 350, fans of CU lacrosse are welcome to bring lawn chairs and blankets to sit on in the open areas. Amenities for Colorado lacrosse fans include concessions, bathrooms and free game programs. Free parking is available in Lot 416 beginning an hour before first draw. For more information, including a parking map and directions, please visit <http://buffs.me/1fCNVuE>.

FAMILIAR FACES, DIFFERENT PLACES: For the third time this season, CU head coach Ann Elliott will stand on the same field as one of her teammates from Northwestern, but instead of both wearing NU purple, the coaches will be heading opposite benches. Though they're now competitors on the field, Elliott and Lindsey Munday have had a lot to share over the past few years. Munday, a 2006 NU graduate, is also helping build a new team. Her Trojans began play in 2013, posting an 8-10, 5-3 MPSF record in their inaugural season. In just her second year, she has put together Inside Lacrosse's 10th ranked freshman class, and has helped her team remain perfect in 2014 conference play. Elliott, who graduated from NU in 2007 with three NCAA titles and added three more as a member of the staff, said she is excited to play against Munday and is grateful to the help she's received from her old teammate during CU's inaugural season. Elliott, whose coaching staff is built from NU grads, has faced two other former teammates this season. The Buffs took them on in back-to-back games against Angela McMahon's UMass Minutewomen and Sarah Albrecht's New Hampshire Wildcats.

SUNNY ONE SO TRUE: Goalie Paige Soenksen has earned her first MPSF Rookie of the Week title. Soenksen has come out as one of the young team's defensive leaders and one of the nation's best shot blockers. Soenksen ranks third in the nation with 119 saves, fourth with a .502 save percentage and sixth with 9.92 saves per game. Soenksen combined for 28 saves against UC Davis and then-No. 8 Stanford. Soenksen began the weekend with nine saves in the Buffs' 14-5 victory over UCD, allowing just two players to sneak past goals and helping the Buffs go perfect in clears for the second consecutive game. Soenksen had a career performance at Stanford, breaking career and CU single-game records while also tying the 2014 MPSF single-game high of 19 saves. Though Stanford's first half stronghold helped them to the victory, the Cardinal also became the Buffs' sixth straight opponent to be held to five or fewer second half goals, with Soenksen spending time in the cage in five of those final periods. While she allowed 18 goals during the split weekend, she had an impressive .609 save percentage on the trip.

UNIVERSITY OF COLORADO LACROSSE INAUGURAL SEASON

SCORERS GOING STREAKING: Seeing their five-game scoring streaks come to an end against Brown last month, Cali Castagnola and Sarah Lautman have each bounced back during conference play. The two have combined for 13 goals in the past three games. Marie Moore had her six-game scoring streak iced out during CU's trip out east, but has jumped back on a scoring spree since. She recorded back-to-back hat tricks against Brown and Saint Mary's, and added one against both UC Davis and Stanford. Moore ranks 48th in the nation with 41 draw controls and 51st with 28 ground balls. Behind its resurgent attack, CU enters the week ranking in the nation's top 50 in points (39th), ground balls per game (42nd), scoring offense and win percentage.

THE FUSCO, THE PROUD: Two-time MPSF Rookie of the Week Johnna Fusco continues to build on her killer freshman campaign. Against UCD, Fusco set a CU single-game record with eight points. Her five goals were a career-high and matched Castagnola's single-game record. With three assists, Fusco and Katie Macleay are the only Buffs to notch at least three in two games. Fusco has also scored five of CU's 10 latest goals this season. She paces the Buffs with 38 points (off 26 goals and 12 assists) and 62 shots. She ranks second on the team with eight free-position goals, 25 ground balls and 31 draw controls. Fusco has scored in all but one of her 11 games played, scoring two or more goals in eight games.

GOING BACK TO CALI: Cali Castagnola has quite an impressive resume in her freshman season. Castagnola has had five games with at least four goals, posting back-to-back four goal games against St. Mary's and UC Davis. She tied a team-high two points against Stanford, netting a goal and contributing an assist. She leads the team with 30 goals, ranks second with 37 points and is third with seven assists.

AMELIA BEDELIA HELPS OUT: Amelia Brown had three goals in her first nine games. In the three games since, she has been a consistent scoring presence, netting six goals. Against St. Mary's, Brown was a perfect 4 for 4 in shooting, scoring a career-high four goals. Brown netted one in each of the Buffs' games last weekend, tying a team-high two points against Stanford. Brown has also scooped up three of her six ground balls in the last three games.

NEXT UP: CU continues its four-game home stand against the San Diego State Aztecs at 1 p.m. on Sunday, April 13. To celebrate Youth Lacrosse Day, players in the eighth grade and younger are invited to a post-game skills and drills clinic.

MOUNTAIN PACIFIC SPORTS FEDERATION

COLORADO (6-6 Overall, 3-2 MPSF) Johnna Fusco had a program-record five goals and Cali Castagnola added four in a 14-5 conference win at UC Davis last Friday. Fusco added three assists and two draws. Paige Soenksen collected nine saves, allowing just five, and went on to tie a 2014 MPSF-high 19 saves at Stanford. Her save percentage for the week was .609 (28-46). Through April 6, Soenksen ranks fourth nationally in save percentage (.502).

USC (7-4 Overall, 5-0 MPSF) posted two more conference road wins to maintain its perfect MPSF record. The Trojans combined for 38 goals through wins at St. Mary's and California, 18-4 and 20-15 outcomes, respectively. Freshman Michaela Michael accumulated four goals, one assist, and 10 draw controls through the week, with seven of her draws coming in Berkeley.

GOTTA HAVE YOUR BUFFS: Want more information about Friday's game? Check out Keith Gelman's interview with the team below.

KNOWING THE OPPONENT: The Trojans are currently riding a four-game win streak, with wins over San Diego State, Fresno State, St. Mary's and California, bringing them to 7-4 overall and 5-0 in the Mountain Pacific Sports Federation, tying Denver (11-1, 5-0) for first place. Three out of their four losses have been to teams that currently rank in the top 20 or have received votes, No. 4 Boston College (lost 13-10), No. 11 Massachusetts (lost 14-6) and Princeton (lost 14-7). Averaging close to 17 goals per game, USC's offense will look to sophomore attack/midfielder, Caroline de Lyra, who leads the Trojans in points this season with 31 (18 goals, 13 assists). De Lyra is coming off her second four-goal performance this season in USC's 20-15 win against California on Sunday. Freshman midfielder/attack Alex Moore is another threat looking to score and is second to de Lyra in points with 24, but leads the team in goals with 20.

"USC is a good team and they're well-coached," said Colorado head coach Ann Elliott. "They're fast, athletic and they play aggressive all over the field. They definitely have a lot of weapons and can beat you in a lot of different ways. Overall, they go hard and we have to be prepared to play as a team."

On the defensive end, sophomore Liz Shaeffer will be in net with a 7-4 record, 49 saves, a .327 save percentage and a defensive unit allowing close to 10 goals per game.

PAST WEEKEND: The University of Colorado lacrosse team went 1-1 on their trip to California with a win over UC Davis, 14-5, and a loss to then-No. 8 Stanford, 13-5, in MPSF play. Against UC Davis, midfielder Johnna Fusco tallied eight points, scoring five goals and dishing out three assists, while attack/midfielder Cali Castagnola put four goals in for the second game in a row. Freshman goalie Paige Soenksen finished the day with nine saves. Following the win, the Buffs faced then-no. 8 (currently No. 12) Stanford. Between the pipes, Soenksen had a career-high 19 save performance, but the Cardinal ultimately proved to be too much for the Buffs, with a final score of 13-5.

MAKING A STATEMENT: The Buffaloes have an opportunity to make a statement in the MPSF this Friday as they look for a fourth conference win (seventh overall) against USC. The current MPSF Rookie of the Week, goalie Paige Soenksen, will anchor the defense and look to contain the Trojans' high-powered offense. Soenksen is boasting 119 saves on the season, 28 of them coming from this past weekend, as well as a .502 save percentage. On Soenksen's recent performance, coach Elliott stated, "Paige is a great goalie; she's confident and calm back there. She's continuing to develop every day as a leader for us."

Soenksen's play all season has led her to become the rock of the defense. "[Paige] definitely makes the saves that we need and on top of that, she makes a few more, which helps keep us in a lot of games," Elliott said. "We know she is a strong part of the defensive unit and we want to do our best to pressure the attack and make sure she is seeing shots that she can save."

No game or practice is different for the freshman net-minder. She is always finding a way to get better. "Right now, I'm focusing on stepping to the ball with an explosiveness ... as well as my communication with the defense," said Soenksen. "We're coming out here every day at practice and working hard on the little things. USC has some good shooters and we want to force them into bad shots by making them take that extra step or make an extra pass."

On the offensive end, Colorado is averaging just over 11 goals a game. The team-leading duo of Johnna Fusco and Cali Castagnola, who have combined for a total of 75 points this season, will face a USC that is holding teams, on average, to about 10 goals a game. Fusco has a team-high 38 points, with 26 goals and 12 assists, and Castagnola has 37, 30 goals and seven assists.

Consistency will be Colorado's biggest offensive focus this week. "We have to continue to develop and just be consistent from one game to the next," said Elliott. "Our offense is about seven people working together; we're going back to the basics that we started early on in the season: getting all seven people on the same page, everybody working, everybody being a threat [to score]."

With that in mind, no one on the team can do it alone. Leading the team in assists with 14, freshman midfielder Katie Macleay, is seeing the field and finding the open looks, as well as providing nine goals this season so far. Midfielders Sarah Lautman (13 goals, one assist) and Marie Moore (21 goals, two assists) can also bring the firepower and are ground ball machines on the field. Lautman has 23 ground balls on the season, while Moore leads the team with 26.
