

2013-14 COLORADO BUFFALO GOLF

Pac-12 Conference Championship Notes

ON THE RANGE...

The 55th Annual Pac-12 Conference Golf Championship will be held at the Gallery Golf Club in Marana, Ariz., April 25-27, with play beginning at 8:30 a.m. (MDT) on day one ... The University of Arizona is the official host of the meet at the GGC, which boasts a 7,349-yard, par-72 configuration ... The Pac-12 meet is different than most, as each team has six players with the top five counting toward the team score; it's the first time this season that CU will participate under this format (and just the third time in a league championship; CU's first two Pac-12 meets were the first, with Buffs finishing eighth and 10th, respectively) ... The championship will be four rounds (72 holes), with the 72 competitors to play 36 holes on Friday (April 27) and then 18 on Saturday and Sunday ... Colorado enters the meet ranked No. 53 by GolfStat and No. 57 by Golfweek in the most recent rankings ... Colorado is 11-15-2 versus Pac-12 schools in 2013-14, 1-13-1 against the seven schools ranked higher than it in tournaments, but 14-30-1 in rounds ... CU is 113-39-7 against Division I competition (102-24-5 outside of the Pac-12), clinching a better than .500 record and thus has met the first criteria for selection into the NCAA Regionals (May 15-17) ... This season marks the third time that Colorado has finished either first or second in a tournament five times in a season: in 1980-81, the Buffs won two and had three runner-up efforts as they have done this year, and in 2008-09, CU had one win and four seconds ... California is the two-time defending champion: the Pac-12 meet tends to be really competitive, with 43 strokes separating the top eight teams last year (and 49 from top to bottom in the last Pac-10 meet in 2011); 43 might sound like a lot, but in a format that has five scorers over 72 holes, that works less than a 2.2 per stroke difference per player ... Opening pairings are by a random draw (sans the defending champ, which opens in the first groups on No. 1); Colorado is paired with Cal and USC and will tee off on No. 1 from 8:30-9:20 a.m. MDT (Round 1) and from 12:30-1:20 p.m. (Round 2) ... The NCAA Championship selections will be announced live on the Golf Channel on Monday, May 5 from 8-9 a.m. MDT (also streamed live on its website) ... Washington State will host the 2015 Pac-12 Championship at the Palouse Ridge Golf Course in Pullman, Wash., next April 26-28.

LIVE SCORING: Live scoring is available at www.golfstat.com.

OFF THE TEE...

Colorado has seven top five major tournament finishes this season (which have all actually been in the top four), tying the school best; the Buffaloes also have nine top two finishes over the course of the last two seasons, a program best. The Buffaloes' last conference championship came in 1968, winning the Big 8 title (ironically the season after Hale Irwin graduated), and won two Big 7 titles (1954, 1955); those were CU's three titles in Big 7-8-12 play from 1948-2011, along with eight second place efforts. Colorado has finished last just once in a conference meet in its storied history, in its second year in the Big Seven (1949).

THIS-N-THAT...

- The team's overall stroke average is 73.41, which is more than flirting with the team's all-time best of 73.77 in 2003-04; while the spring stroke mark of 72.48 is more than a stroke better than the current spring best of 73.71 set that same season.
- Over the course of four tournaments, the Buffaloes set two school records for the most consecutive rounds at or under par with 12, and the most subpar in a row with six.
- According to GolfStat, the Buffs have the nation's top performing freshman class, three of whom are competing in these Pac-12 Championships: Jeremy and Yannik Paul and Ethan Freeman. McNeese State, Texas, Virginia and Wake Forest round out the top five; Stanford at No. 9 joins CU on the list.

ROSTER

Colorado will be represented by one junior, two sophomores and three freshmen in the 2014 Pac-12 title meet; collectively they have played in four league championship events. The six players representing CU in this year's championship (ranked by position):

No.	Player	LC	Ht.	Wt.	Class	Exp	Hometown (High School)
1	Jeremy Paul.....	0	6- 1	175	Fr.	1L	Viernheim, Germany (Albertus-Magnus)
2	David Oraee.....	2	5-11	165	Jr.	3L	Greeley, Colo. (Greeley West)
3	Yannik Paul	0	6- 1	175	Fr.	1L	Viernheim, Germany (Albertus-Magnus)
4	Phillip Juel-Berg.....	1	5- 8	150	So.	2L	Vedbaek, Denmark (HHX Knord Lyngby)
5	Ethan Freeman	0	6- 0	195	Fr.	1L	Denver, Colo. (Kent Denver)
6	Drew Trujillo.....	1	5-10	175	So.	2L	Montrose, Colo. (Montrose)

LC—number of league championship meets participated in.

Oraee has played in two Pac-12 Championships, while Juel-Berg and Trujillo have appeared in one apiece; Juel-Berg owns the best finish in a league title tourney by any of this year's participants, tying for 24th in last year's Pac-12 (70-70-77-75—292) at Los Angeles; he was tied for sixth through 36 holes. This will tie the two previous youngest and most inexperienced squads ever to play in a league championship for the Buffaloes: 2003 (three freshmen, one junior and one senior) and 2010 (two freshmen, two sophomores, one senior); all three groups collectively earned just 10 letters, though this year's team has six players to the other's five.

FRESHMEN IN THE LEAGUE MEET The highest finish by a freshman, true or redshirt, in a league meet came in the 1979 Big Eight Championships, when Rick Cramer finished second; Steve Jones was third as a frosh the previous year (both were true freshmen). While this is just the third time three freshmen are competing, two frosh have participated several times, including last year (Juel-Berg and Trujillo). The best two-frosh effort came in 2000, when Kane Webber and Stephen Carroll tied for 11th. Including this year, CU will have had at least one freshman compete in nine of its last 12 conference meets. The low round by a CU freshman in a league meet is 70, accomplished five times: Jones (1978 Big 8), Kring (2009 Big 12), Burstyn (2010 Big 12) and Juel-Berg (twice last year).

HEAD COACH ROY EDWARDS

Roy Edwards is completing his eighth season as head coach of the University of Colorado men's golf team, as he was named to the position on July 14, 2006, following in the footsteps of the only two coaches the program had ever known over a span of six decades.

Edwards, 37, is just the third full-time men's golf coach in Buffalo history. He came to CU with an impressive pedigree, joining the Buffaloes from his alma mater, the University of Kansas, where he had served as the assistant for both the men's and women's programs for the previous four years (2002-06). He held the same position at Vanderbilt University for a year prior to returning to KU.

Edwards replaced the late Mark Simpson, who passed away from complications due to lung cancer in December 2005. Simpson had held the post since 1977, when he followed in the footsteps of his college head coach, Les Fowler. Fowler took over as player-coach in 1948 and remained on board until Simpson, his assistant, replaced him. Thus, Edwards is only the program's third full-time head coach since 1948.

Edwards has embraced the most daunting task in CU golf history: when the Buffaloes joined the Pac-12 Conference on July 1, 2011, they became a member of the most prestigious men's golf conference in the nation. As many as seven schools have regularly occupied the top 30 over the last several seasons, but he has been up to the challenge and the program is poised to join the nation's elite.

It took less than three years for Edwards to put his stamp on the CU golf program, perhaps in no bigger way than completing the dream of his two predecessors. One of the few major golf programs in the nation without its own true home golf course and facilities, Edwards played an integral part in working with alum Steve Kerr in the latter's acquisition of Vista Ridge Golf Club in Erie in early 2009. The club was renamed Colorado National Golf Club and now serves as the official home for the university's men's and women's golf teams. In 2012, construction was completed on a state-of-the-art practice facility at the course that matches any in the nation.

He also initiated the Colorado Partners program, a group that quickly grew to over 100 members who contribute financially to augment the school's golf budget, and established the Colorado Golf Day which is an annual celebration and fundraiser for CU golf.

On the course, the team has enjoyed continued success. His 2012-13 team became the first in school history to win a tournament in both the fall and spring, had six top five finishes and returned to the NCAA Championships after a four-year absence, finishing eighth in the Central Regional.

In 2011-12, his sixth season, the Buffs stormed out of the gate to win its first two fall tournaments, their own Mark Simpson Invitational and Air Force's Miranda Invitational; the victories propelled CU to an early No. 10 national ranking. The team successfully navigated its way through its first season in the ultra-competitive Pac-12 Conference, finishing eighth in a league championship that featured eight teams ranked in the top 30. The Buffs just missed qualifying for the NCAA championships but Derek Fribbs was selected to play as an individual.

The 2009-10 and 2010-11 teams, his fourth and fifth, respectively, had their moments but did not advance to the postseason, though Justin Bardgett qualified individually in 2010. The Buffs finished ninth and 10th in their last two appearances in the Big 12 Conference meet. The disappointments only created more resolve in the program and thus the turnaround in year six.

His third Buffalo team (2008-09) sported one of the nation's dynamic duos in Patrick Grady and Derek Tolan, as each won two tournaments and combined for 14 top 10 finishes. But the team was also balanced as a whole, with 32 top 20 performances posted by seven different golfers, and recorded a 74.06 stroke average, second lowest in school history (topped only by 73.77 in 2003-04). The Buffs posted 11 top 10 finishes in major tournaments, the second-most in school history that included a record-tying seven in the top five, and highlighted by a 34-stroke win in the DU-Ron Moore and three runner-up finishes in the USF Olympic Club, Western Intercollegiate and its own CU-Stevinson Ranch Invitational.

In earning a fourth straight trip to the NCAA's, in the Big 12 Championships, the Buffs posted their best conference finish in 28 years when they took second place; it tied for the largest improvement from one season to another in Big 12 history after finishing 10th in 2008 (CU moved from 11th to 3rd from 1997 to 1998 as did Missouri on one occasion). The Buffs were in the hunt for the title until the back nine of the fourth and final round, when Oklahoma State finally was able to get some distance and eventually won by 14 shots.

His second team ('07-08), became just the third in school history to win two major tournaments in the same season, as CU won the Louisiana Classics and the Ohio State Kepler Intercollegiate. The Buffs finished 10th in the Big 12 meet, which moved to a 72-hole format for the first time, and was again invited to the NCAA's, placing 18th in the Central Regional. Junior Derek Tolan was one of two individuals to advance out of the regional into the finals, the first Buff to do so since 1993.

Edwards' first CU team (2006-07) had moderate success, and finished 11th in the Big 12 Championships; while that was disappointing, his team did something that neither Fowler's or Simpson's did, qualify for the NCAA Championships (though in fairness, more teams are invited today than when they coached, but it still was an impressive accomplishment). The team placed 20th in the NCAA Central Regional.

At Kansas, he was heavily involved in recruiting and the day-to-day functions for both the men's and women's teams, managed the Jayhawks' Birdie Club and was the main contact for both golf camps. A KU graduate, he returned to his alma mater in August 2002 as the assistant coach for both the men's and women's programs and further developed all the skills necessary to one day become a head coach. He started his coaching career as a volunteer/graduate assistant in 1998, working three years in that capacity before moving on to Vanderbilt for his first full-time assistant coaching position.

He was the assistant for both the men's and women's teams at Vanderbilt from May 2001 until returning to his alma mater the following year. At Vandy, he headed the Commodore Golf Day and the Mason Rudolph Intercollegiate Golf Championships, and was involved in Commodore recruiting as well as the day-to-day practice and traveling schedules. He was a part of history as both teams experienced two of the best seasons in the programs' existence the 2001-02 academic year, and had a hand in coaching a pair of first-team All-Southeastern Conference players, including Brandt Snedeker, a first-team All-American, the 2007 PGA Tour Rookie of the Year and third place finisher in the 2008 Masters.

A three-year member of the Jayhawk golf team, he lettered as a senior under legendary and long-time coach Ross Randall and earned his bachelor's of science degree in business administration from Kansas in 2000. Simultaneously while finishing his degree, he worked as a volunteer assistant coach for the men's team. His career playing highlights include being named the PGA Midwest Section Player of the Year in 1995 and the Heart of America Four-Ball champion in 1997. As a student, he was also heavily involved on KU's Student-Athlete Advisory Committee and held several leadership roles on campus.

Born October 14, 1976 in Kansas City, Mo., but truly a native of Hutchinson, Kan., he was a four-year letterman in golf at Hutchinson (Kan.) High School and was an Eagle Scout. His hobbies include playing golf, cooking and traveling. Edwards is married to the former Shelly Bonfantine of Albuquerque, N.M., as they wed on July 7, 2007 (07-07-07); she is a former golfer at the University of New Mexico. They are the parents of two sons, Ashton Ross (5) and Luke Leo (2).

PLAYER SUMMARY

Jeremy Paul is in position to become just the fourth freshman to lead CU in stroke average, looking to join Steve Jones ('77-78; 74.63), Knut Ekjord ('94-95, 74.53) and Kane Webber ('99-00, 73.03, the latter the best frosh average in school history). CU has had two players average under 73 for a season just one time (2008-09), but could have four players do it this year. The season stats for the CU six playing in Arizona (extensive stats later in this information):

No. 1 No. 10, No. 11, No. 12

QUOTING COACH ROY EDWARDSGeneral

"We're excited to head to Tucson. The team has really grown and developed throughout the year and it's been enjoyable to watch. We're really excited to get to this part of the schedule. We don't know a whole lot about the course, there are some gradual elevation changes, it's about 2800 feet, it's not overly long but I know you have to hit it straight. Luke Symons (former golfer) is a member there, and he'll be at the tournament, so we'll gain a little knowledge from him because he's played a couple of hundred rounds on it and he'll pass some info on to me."

On CU's Season To Date

"We've been pleased with it so far, and in particular knowing that we were going to have a young team and it was going to take some time to come together and gel. We're really looking forward to what lies ahead the rest of the season and we're optimistic for what we can achieve. I do look at this as the start of our postseason. We're playing for championships from here on out and everyone looks at it that way; these are our playoffs. It's an exciting time of year, another level up from the regular season."

On Taking Three True Freshmen To A Conference Championship

"I'm really confident about it, there are no nerves or butterflies. These guys are very good players, they haven't been freshmen since September because they have so many rounds under their belt. If they can play with confidence and make good decisions strategically, they're going to play well because when they've done that over the course of the season, that's what they have done. In general, I'm not nervous that we're taking three freshmen; I believe they're ready to go out there and perform. Really, they're freshman in name only. We've been through a lot this year, they've played in a lot of tournaments, they've already proven they can compete with and beat anybody."

On CU's Third Pac-12 Championship Appearance And If The Buffs Are Now Used To The Drill

"Us and the SEC are the two best golf conferences in the country. These are the peers we want to have, the Pac-12 is the 'Conference of Champions' and men's golf is arguably the strongest sport in the league year-in and year-out. Almost any of these teams can contend to win the conference, and any given year, four or five teams in our league can go on and win a national title – and if you beat a lot of teams in our league, you know you've done something. So our job as coaches is to prepare these six guys on Thursday in the practice round and then through the weekend to make sure we give them every chance to be successful as we can."

On What Would Be A Good Tournament For CU

"Our focus is always playing as good as we can, and if we do that, we can be competitive with anybody in our league. We just need to take care of business by playing smart and with confidence, managing our games with calculated risks, and when we do that, we have played at a high level. And if we do that in Arizona, things can fall right and we can be competitive for the title. If for some reason we fall short of that, the Pac-12 is still so good that we can still beat a lot of really good teams in our league."

On CU's First 6-For-5 Tournament And Team Depth

"We have good depth, and we've proven that we can take advantage of an opportunity and I see this as another one. We've had pretty good fourth- and fifth-man scoring averages most of the season, so all (this format) does is just moves the bar down a notch. Drew (Trujillo, CU's No. 6 here) played in a lot of tournaments last year and he's really excited to get out there and compete, and I'm excited to watch him go out there and do just that. Depth is something we focus on throughout the year which is why we play a lot of individuals in tournaments."

THE SCHEDULE & SEASON AT-A-GLANCE

Colorado has played in 10 tournaments this year, with Golfweek ranking CU's schedule the 101st toughest to date (out of 302 schools); the Buffs are the highest ranked team with a schedule ranked in triple digits (some fields didn't pan out as planned), but the Buffs still did play in in three of the top 44 ranked tournaments to date and the Pac-12 title will be in the top 10-15 range.

CU'S INDIVIDUAL BESTS / CONFERENCE CHAMPIONSHIPS (SINGLE ROUND)

CONFERENCE TEAM COMPARISONS

There are three men's collegiate golf rankings: one poll, conducted by the GCAA by head coaches, and two that are computer generated (Golfweek, GolfStat). With a consensus five top 20 and 10 top 83 teams competing, the Pac-12 Championships should again be the fiercest league meet in the collegiate circuit for 2013-14. This is the fifth year that a school's win-loss record plays a role in the selection criteria for the NCAA Regionals; Colorado's mark against fellow Division I teams entering the Pac-12 meet is 113-39-7, a 73.3 winning percentage; to qualify, teams must own a winning record or win their conference championship. The team won-loss records entering the Pac-12's (schedule strength in parenthesis) as well as a look at who ranks where in what:
